TICKETS! TICKETS!

Remember that tickets for candidates for the Convention, and for a Convention, or "Against a Convention," must contain but one ticket. This is according to the law. The names of the candidates for the Convention must be on one side of the ticket, and for a Convention or "Against a Convention" must be on the other side. Candidates and voters must attend to this.

POLITICAL MATTERS IN NORTH CAROLINA

From United States Marshal Goodhue's North Carolina, who arrived here to-day on official business, it is learned that political matters in that State are very unsettled. There seem to be three parties, one of which, opposed to reconstruction, is led by ex-Senator W. A. Graham, who advises the people to a course of inaction; the other, extreme radical, has Governor Holden at its head, and he and his friends are seeking to control the colored vote by promising farms from the Government. Between these two is the Union Republican party, mostly composed of old Whigs and the more conservative men of all classes. It seems probable that the object for which the Convention was called will be defeated by the conservative of the different factions. — Wash. Cor., N. Y. Herald.

We publish the above to say that we do not believe that Marshal Goodhue authorized his publication. It must be a misrepresentation of his conversations. It is not true that Ex-Senator Graham leads a party, who are opposed to reconstruction, or who favor inaction. Gov. Graham, and those who think with him, are as devotedly attached to the Constitution, and as earnestly desire reconstruction and a restoration of the peace and harmony of the Union, as any class of men in the United States. None are more loyal to the Constitution and the Union than they are. But they believe that reconstruction on the Radical platform will prove utterly destructive to the peace and prosperity of the South, and, consequently, to the harmony of the Union. Gov. Graham believes, as does Mr. Thaddeus Stevens, that the entire Congressional scheme is wholly unconstituted and utterly subversive of that instrument; and, therefore, he does not advise reinforcement of troops towards it, but honest, calm, deliberate opposition to it.

It is strictly correct to say that the party of Ex-Senator Holden is very Radical, but it is not true that he has policy plans, that he has the government to the colored people, in order to give their votes. This may be the doctrine taught them in the houses and in private conversations. We have reasons to believe that terms of 30 years and a million have been promised there by some persons, in some way, because when at one time, was very common among the colored people, but we have no means have been informed. Holden has not made any such pledge publicly, and hence, without positive evidence from private sources, we think it best to abstain from charges.

There are in the State, a number of persons who are moderate, or whom others call moderate, in their views on the Republican side. But they have organized parties and are in active opposition candidates to the Radical platform. There is no moderate in the public. Mr. Goodhue's supposition of reconstruction, especially in regard to the colored vote, is, it is known, so far as the public is concerned, to deny that they are moderate. Whether this was reconciled to the moderate Republicans or not, the Radical nominees cannot say. We have, however, heard from reliable sources that some, at least, who have been named, have not hesitated to say that a coalition between the Conservatives and the Radical Radicals, they would go with the latter.

The moderate Republicans design the formation of a party and intend to run candidates. It appears to us that it is time that we should name our Conservative nominees. We do not hesitate to say that we have no objection to the moderate Republicans, but we do not intend to support them. We have no objection to the moderate Republicans, but we do not intend to support them. We have no objection to the moderate Republicans, but we do not intend to support them.

to the interests of the moderate Republicans.

THE VIRGINIA ELECTIONS

The results of the Virginia elections may be said to have been a triumph for the Conservative cause. It is plain, that the Conservatives have been largely, by a decided majority, in favor of Reconstruction. Quite a number of the Radical delegates elected are colored men. The white vote of the State is 12 or 13,000 greater than that of the colored vote. The returns will show, that there were not 2,000 white Radical votes cast in the State, and yet the colored Radical ticket has secured a majority of 15 in the Convention.

This may be accounted for in two ways. First, in the appointment by Gen. Seward, it was concluded before the election, that it would likely show the State in favor of the colored minority in the vote. The colored vote was well distributed and brought to the polls and instructed to vote for Reconstruction and the Radical ticket. The white Radicals were few in number, but active.

Secondly, the Conservatives, being at the head, were urged to vote against Reconstruction, but for the Conservative ticket. They were urged by not only their own friends, but by their friends in the Union. Now these facts serve to confirm our opinion, that it is just as likely as not that the Conservative party will be successful in its demand of the government, which will be the hope of preserving our liberty, our lives and our property, our honor and our peace. To go to a Convention, would be used against us as proof of contumacy and opposition to Union and reconciliation, neither of which would be true, but which the Radicals would be well to believe. Secondly, to encourage our people not to vote for a Convention, or to vote "Against a Convention" would in any way operate to make thousands of them do what they have done since the war, vote at all, and stay away from the polls.

It is well known that, since the war closed, not more than half or two-thirds of the white voters in this State have taken any part in the elections, one way or the other. At any rate, one-third of the whites, who were allowed to vote, have never voted at all, since the war.

Florida. An election is held in Florida for the 14th, 15th and 16th of November next, upon the question of Convention or no Convention, under the Reconstruction acts. Party delegates are to be chosen, and bitter complaints are made that General Pope has secured more than thirty-six out of that number. Under the arrangement, the bill is passed, that the Convention should be held on the 1st of December, 1867, at Tallahassee, Florida, and that the Convention should be held on the 1st of December, 1867, at Tallahassee, Florida, and that the Convention should be held on the 1st of December, 1867, at Tallahassee, Florida.
