The above is fair specimen of the kind of ballot to be cast at the approaching election by the Conservatives.

OUR READERS WILL BEAR WITH THE LEANNESS OF OUR EDITORIAL COLUMN, TO-DAY. We feel like taking a short breathing spell. We have labored faithfully and diligently throughout the campaign which has just closed, and we feel that we have done our duty. Whatever the result, - and we have every confidence that it will be a glorious one for the true white men of North Carolina, - our conscience is easy on the score of our own part in the canvass. We have lost no opportunity to arouse our people to a sense of the dangers which impend, and of the direful consequences that will result from the adoption of the most atrocious and infamous so-called Constitution, which has been cobbled up by a set of white knaves, unprincipled adventurers and ignorant negroes. We have not exaggerated those consequences. Our solemn conviction is that the adoption of that iniquitous and mongrel thing would eventuate in all the horrors which have been predicted, - in the prostration of all our material fortunes, in the destruction of our social interests, in the prostration of our political system, in a reign of terror for decent men, and in the unbridled license of the depraved and miserable mendicants and profligates, who are willing to sacrifice their race, and all that good and honest men should hold dear, to advance their mean, vindictive, mercenary and villainously selfish purposes.

WE BELIEVE THAT THESE MEN WILL FALL OF THEIR NEIGHBORLY DESIGNS, - and that they will be rebuked by a decided and overwhelming majority. May Heaven grant it! Even should they be successful, power and place will give them no additional character or respect. The higher their elevation by the means which they have employed, the more conspicuous will be the pilory of scorn and contempt in which they would be placed!

THE PARTY OF ORDER. - There was an enthusiastic Conservative Mass Meeting in Goldsboro, on Saturday. Col. Humphrey, the Conservative candidate for the Senate, courteously allowed Brogden, the scoundrel candidate, to make a speech, and not the least disturbances occurred during his remarks. When Col. Humphrey was speaking, however, interruptions were frequently attempted by the going out, stamping and coming in of colored soldiers, which continued throughout the whole time he and Messrs. Wooten and Wright were speaking. There are also some negro soldiers, doubtless, who it was thought to have registered in Goldsboro, but whom Gen. Hinks prevented from doing so.

SHALL WHITE CHILDREN BE OBLIVIOUS TO GO TO THE same schools with NEGROES? - This is one of the questions

THE COST OF ELECTIONS.

Money is money - Time employed in unprofitable pursuits is lost and is difficult to be regained. Election in a Republic should necessarily be frequent, and while sufficient time should be taken from private pursuits to be devoted to elections, yet there is danger that the habit, which is not forming in the South among the cultured population, to devote so much of their time to politics and elections, must result in a serious deprivation of labor and the consequent reduction of the actual wealth of the country.

The blacks, as a class, are strongly disinclined to steady labor. They are easily tempted to neglect useful employments for the mere idea of feeling that they are free to do as they please. Hence, the condition of the colored people, generally, is worse far worse, in the necessary elements of comfort and support, than during their condition of slavery. Many of them have less surplus money than formerly, and their freedom, owing to the unfortunate tutelage they have had from their professed friends, has made them far less capable in their personal responsibility, than formerly. We have, and need special inquiry into this matter, yet we are inclined to believe that the cost of the blacks, as a general rule, is not so great as formerly. This state of things is a consequence of their own conduct, but, inasmuch as the impostment prevents to a large extent steady labor among them, and so long as they have such a propensity to waste time among old work, for matters of secondary importance, which can never remunerate them.

TO THE POLLS!

The probability is that the great bulk of the colored vote was polled, on yesterday. The negroes, obedient to the command of their masters, crowded about the polls, and many a white party concluded to defer voting until another day.

Friends, white men, do not delay this vital matter. Set about it, this morning, and do not give up the effort until you have deposited your ballots. It is the most sacred duty you have ever been called upon to perform.

Surely, surely, no white man needs an appeal to exert himself to save off from himself and his wife and children the horrors of NEGRO SUPREMACY, and of the rule of a set of impostors, who are infinitely worse than any negro.

VOTE! VOTE! VOTE!

NEGRO IMPEDIMENT.

Under the evil and secondary counsel and influence of Hinks, and others of his stripe, the negroes are daily becoming bolder in their insolence and effrontery. We heard of several instances of white men being insulted by them yesterday. A venerable gentleman, one of the best and most esteemed citizens of the community, who has filled many positions of usefulness and adorned them all, as he passed the Court House, was approached by a gross, dirty negro, who took him forcibly by the arm, with the remark "Come, old man, let's go and vote together!" This is one of the results of the negroes crowding the front of the Court House, such numbers as to block the street. They will be sure to make a further reference to the orders of the Scalloway-Holden party at the election, E. R. S. Cady.

LET THEM BE KNOWN.

It is important that the white people of the State should know the names of the smaller white men who vote for the new Constitution, for Holden and the negroes are primarily "let their names be registered." It is also important for the white people to know what colored men in the State voted for the Conservative ticket. We should know who are our friends and who are our enemies.

OUR READING MATTER.

The papers in our country, incident to the campaign, being now removed, we shall be able to present our readers a greater variety. We resume, to-day, our former custom of leaving reading matter on every page. There will be found, this morning, on our first and fourth pages, some interesting selections.

THE HILLSBORO MEETING.

In our brief notice, on yesterday, of the Mass Meeting at Hillsboro, we omitted to mention, among the other speakers, Henry K. Nash, Esq., and Col. Wm. Bingham, both of whom made admirable and effective speeches. - Mr. Nash has done splendid service, in a reign of terror for decent men, and in the unbridled license of the depraved and miserable mendicants and profligates, who are willing to sacrifice their race, and all that good and honest men should hold dear, to advance their mean, vindictive, mercenary and villainously selfish purposes.

WHEN A COLORED MAN VOTED THE CONSERVATIVE TICKET ON YESTERDAY, HE WAS COMPELLED afterwards to run a perfect gauntlet of vilification from hundreds of excited negroes. This is more of the fruits of the teaching of Holden and others.

VANDERBILT SAYS THAT THE SCALLOWAY PARTY ARE LIKE BEE-HIVES. They work in the dark, and directly the light is intro-luced, they scamper off to their hiding places.

KOLLY (M. C.) HAS GONE NORTH from Washington to raise funds for carrying on the campaign in the South at the coming elections. These elections are to take place throughout the Southern States, and the Committee are out of funds with which to prosecute the campaign.

SPEAKING OF THE IMPEDIMENT MANAGERS, the Grand Table says: "Of the seven men to whom has been entrusted the conduct of one of the most momentous events in the life of the nation, there are but two whose appearance conveys assurance that they are gentlemen."

THE NASHVILLE, TENN. PRESS calls on either Senator Rogers or Gen. Cooper to withdraw as Republican candidates for Congress from the State at large. It says it "boldly" in running, an inglorious defeat awaits the Republican ticket.

THURLOW WOOD makes an important announcement, to the effect that no consideration whatever would induce Mr. Wood to remain in office a single day after President Johnson is removed. It is rumored to be by the High Court.

Our Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON CITY, D. C., April 19, 1868. Messrs Editors The legal term, which the course of impeachment is now taking, is developing salubrious and convincing facts and circumstances which place the entire transaction, from the beginning to the present time, upon the most dignified and openly corrupt and dishonest principles of partisanship - so low and disgusting that even the most shameless of those engaged in this base transaction are anxious to take shelter from the odium which it is so justly exciting in the popular mind. The case stands forth now, stripped of every legal pretence which it ever possessed, and a spectacle of partisan exhibition so disgusting and ridiculous, so flagrantly illegal and unjust, as to inflict more injury on the agencies than the accused. Up to this period, nothing could have been framed for the more thorough and complete vindication of Andrew Johnson, his motives and acts, than the disclosure of the impeachment trial. Impenetrable is a link in the chain of the legal history of the Union, apparently necessary to do justice to the noble and patriotic principles, the noble and patriotic motives, and the noble and patriotic acts, which are associated with the responsibility of the deplorable state of the country of the Radical party. The entire proceeding is an array of potent and logical analysis of the case, as developed by the legal history of the Union, and is a fitting and necessary preparation for the people, which Andrew Johnson stands on trial as the representative of the Radical party in the original, a false character, and history are set forth in the nation.

Public opinion, hence, on the last two days, has undergone a marked change, not only in regard to the probabilities of a final conviction, but in regard to the character and scope of the procedure. The evidence, and legal analysis of the case, as developed by the legal history of the Union, and is a fitting and necessary preparation for the people, which Andrew Johnson stands on trial as the representative of the Radical party in the original, a false character, and history are set forth in the nation.
