THE SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, PROPRIETOR. THE RESULT OF THE ELECTION

Contrary to our expectations, the telegrams which came to hand after midnight, on the night of the election, remiered the result in the entire country certain. Grant and Col tax are certainly elected President and Vice President of the United States, for the next four years. Our hopes, based upon the calculations and speculations of the Northern Democratic press, since the October elec-tions, have been driven to the winds. The Radical majorities, as claimed for Gen. Grant, are overwhelming, and settle, d-finitely, the fact, that the American people, by a very large majority, approve and endorse the Congressional reconstruction policy in the Southern States. Nor can we doubt, after this result, that this must become the policy of the Union. Universal manhood suffrage, the equality of all races, and the concentration of power in the central government or in the Congress, seem to bave been sanctioned by this vote of the people. However ungrateful this may be to the feelings of the Southern people, it is palpable that the sooner they adjust themselves to the necessities of the case and the inexcrable logic of events, the better. It is impossible for the connictions of the Southern people, as to what is right and lesst, to be changed, but by such facts as prove the new order of things to be best and safest for the country. Their opinions have been based upon long settled convictions, and an up tual experiment of the practical operation of the new regime, which has only served to confirm their previous judgment.

Our Radical opponents have indulged in high-flown promises and anticipations of the future under Radical rule. They have urged that a better day for labor and enter prise will soon bless the South-that capital and population and energy will flow in upon us, and that in a few years our people will forget the past, because of their hap pier condition. We caunot bring our minds to hope for any such results. The grounds of these professions are imaginary and such hopes will not be realized from these sources.

Nevertheless, it behooves every man, wom .n and child, in the State, to make the very best of a bad case, possible. Many, under the gloomy apprehensions they indulge, will leave the State and go elsewhere, while the great bulk of our population, unable to leave, must remain and battle with their difficulties as best they may. We believe that nothing will be gained by leaving, unless one has ample resources.

Peace and quiet, industry and economy, are the only assurances that the Southern people have of good in the future. It is simple folly and fool-hardiness, either to

A bad government, badly adminintered, is better than no government at all hence, we should demean ourselves as good citizens, so as not to infringe the laws in existence or give mom to those in authority to complain of our fidelity to the State and the country. Our lot may be an undesirable one-indeed, a hard one-but let us determine to make the best of it, and not set down like children to "grieve over spilled milk."

At least two years will elapse before the people of North Carolina, except in the towns and citics, will be disturbed or interested in another election. They are, therefore, in a position to give a truce to politics and partizan feeling, and now to turn their attention, with greater zeal and energy, to their material wants. Work, work, is what we need to bring us out of our pecuniary difficulties, and, at the same time, a purpose to use all legitimate means to correct abuses in the Government, as they may be affected by our franchises. Our principles are unchangeable, but circumstances must control our future action. Let us continue to chorish our love had veneration for constitutional liberty and the rights of men, and to promote their permanency, until the sun of liberty goes do wn never to rise again. Let us not become craven-hearted or lose our sulf-respect and our virtue, or our hatred and contempt for the mean and the reprobate, even for much gain.
