In view of Gen. Grant's refusal to come con act with President Johnson, the committee may not communicate with the latter relative to the ceremoules; but, however this may be, President Johnson will probably relieve all parties of embarra-ament in ng the Senate and, according to custom on the last day of the session, there remain with his Cabinet until noon (the hour when his official term expires) to consider bills that may be presented for his signature.— If this usual course be pursued, he will not erefore, be a par y to the procession and other ceremonics which will be in progress at the same line in the streets of the city, and the committee and all other parties

It is understood that the members of President Johnson's Cabinet, except, probably, General Schoffeld and Mr. Evarts, will tender their resignations on or before the 4th of March, to take effect on that day.

----THE PENTENTIARY .- Perhaps no part of he new Constitution met with such general favor as the section praviding for the rection of a Penisculiary or State Prison. How can you key that when it is well known that the poople of this State, by a arge majority, on two occasions, voted against erecting a Penitentiary ? When the roice of the citizens of the State was respected, in former times, we opposed the eniten lary scheme on the ground that i would be a source of co ruption, and afford opportunity to speculators and office seekrs to make money.

The recent developments in regard to the wirch he of a site for the Ponitentiary ought to satisfy all that it is nothing but a pluntering scheme. The indignation of the people has been so great that even the use of Representatives, the other day, voted to repeal the Actestablishing a Peni tentiary. - Winston Seatinet.

THE PETERSONO ROAD. - We learn with pleasure that President Coilier, of this road, ins recently effected a money loan in New York, which will pisou the Company in an easy condition and enable repairs to be made which which will add much to the road. It is the intention, we understand, to place new rails, as an early day, on this and of the line, from Garysburg to Belfield. Under good management this road is rap idly finding its way to prosperity again, and, as one of the links on the great line of Railway which connect the North with the South is destined to become a prosperous institution.—Roanche Nesse.

[From the Wilmington Journal] A MYSTERY UNRAVELED-MONEY FOUND.

BLADENB RC', N. C., Feb. 10, 1869, Mesens. Entrons: -A very surious dis-overy has lately been made in a small falet situated in Big Swamp, about six or seven miles from this place, the particulars of which are as tollows ?

About sixty years ago, there fived, about a half a mile of this talet, on the castern edge of the awamp, an Englishman, who was know among the services by the name of Elias Hugo. His first appearance into this region was in the Spring of 1805, the n apparently in his thirty-eighth or ninth year, and although his language and bearing denoted that he had been educated, yet his hard brown features home amountstakable evidence of a h rd spent life. He was, it appears, somewhat above the ordinary siz-, and finely proportioned, presenting as fine a specimen or manhood as eye could wast to look upon. His manners was somewhat reserved and taciture; his countenance, though a little laggard, would at once con-vince the beholder that he was no ordinary individual. Why he should as ek a lite so cheerless and escluded, was a mystery often spoken of by his neighbors. Yet, seemingty determined to cut himself off from the society of his sellow men, he proceeded to erect a cabin for himself in this dismally sectuded spot, where he said, when once deliberating on the vicinitudes of life, and the scenes through which he had passed, he carnes ly hoped to pass his remaining years in periect solitudu. The cabin fronted the swamp and from the cash fronted the swamp and from its front door, with its frail stoops, led a narrow walk to the swamp; thence, in a westerly direction, led a narrow track to the islet. His furniture consisted of a chair, a bench, a rough pine table matrass, a beach, a rough pine table matrass, a buck t, and one or two cooking utensils.

Here, in this secluded abude, alone and urcared for, lived the mysterious atranger until the 18th of May, 1809. On that sad day, ere the morning sun exhaled the dew-drops that gemmed the forest leaves Elias Hugo breathed his soul into the hands of the immercal power; hat gave it.

After the death of Hoge, strange stories were told of a spectra that was seen, and of strange sounds that were heard about the house and premises, and so deeply superactions dend of the place taken hold upon the minds of the settlers that the cabin was permitted to decay and fall, as did its mysterious occupant.

Not long since, however, the place fell into the pour whom of other parties, Mr. Joel H. Ex er and son. A clearing away of the remains of the old cubin was at once deemed necessary by the owners, and to this purpose, they applied themselves vig-orously. They had not proceeded for, how ver, before they discovered, on raising the floor, a small tin box, snugly encased in the base of the chimnex waity liches square, and made of very thick tin. tained a copy of Hapksel's Madones, to which was attached a small cross, a raner, with the infiles "H. H." picely engraved with the initials "H. H." picely engraved on the handle, and the following lester, which reveals the secret of the discovery of the lox with nine bundred heres, wuite was made about three weeks ago, on the salet referred to in the commencement of of my letter, BAMURE W. HUGO, 39 Cheapaide, London, England, "My Dear Brother: This is perhaps the last address I shall ever scrid you. Brown to-morrow's vun has set, I shall be in a spirit world, marching in the body nod wonderful company of the Holy Souls, windor the honor of Christ and the Holy Mary, despised the things of the world. Even now I feel as if the fountains of life were drying up. (Then in a tremulous hand,) "Come to America, as I orgod you in a previous letter. I have buried all the money I brought with me, amounting to about one of Hon and three bundred thous sand dollars, on a small jaint near by, the directions to which I have already some you, The amount is contained in sevent places on the islet "Your affectionate heather, (Signed) Entas Hyoo," SNIBBOR.

THE NEW CARINEY. - The matter is rather too good to seep, so it has teaked out that a delegation of guntlemen from Penn-sylvania called upon Gen. Grant previous to his departure. North, and represented that the vital interests of the Republican party in their state demanded a place to the Cabicet for a Pannsylvation, and that the cannet for a ramay varian, and that the cance should be under judiciously, as unless the right man about the released, the Republicans might, even in case of sech appointment, securin defect at the next election. It is reported the gentlemen did not press the mose of any particular person. Gen. Grant said in r pry tout Penesylvania politic were most. politics were more current that these of may other State, and that before making any selection from Pennsylvania, he would delibrate and consult with a man he sees in the glitis every me man, as he did not desir any memoer of life Cabinet tained with pulitical corruption. This statement comes to straight that it cannot be doubted.
