The Conservatives and De sfairs, to put a stop to the public plunder which has ruined the State and to curtail all needless expenses. It is impossible to conceive to what an extent the wests and stealage in all depar ments, have been carried. There are at present three times as many persons feeding upon public office as we have ever had before; the consequence is that there are three times as many are exerting themselves to keep up this state of things. There are those latter day saints, who are extremely anxious for office and who will oppose thorough retreachment. These must be watched.

We tell our friends, those who voted with us of every shade of opinion, that the Ship of State has been run upon the breakers by the Holden administration—it is a life and death struggle with the people whether they can get her off or whether she can survive or not. LEENSTON, N. C., Sept. 5, 1870. Hog Josiah Parner, Jr : Duan Cin The strange and unexampled proceedings that have transpired in our midst in the last few days, must suffice as an apology for my trespassing on your time and claiming notice in your valuable paper. We had hoped that Davidson county been redeemed; as it has been cursed enough in the last two years to the person of Adams and Henderson, Bowers, Loffin Suider and other imbeciles, who have ruled her. But it seems that the devil is turned loose among them, and that the scoundrels still persist in ruling her, not-withstanding their recent deteat. We thought when the election was over and the Radica's defeated, that all was saved and that we might look forward with some well grounded hope for future prespectly but, alsa! Monday's proceedings soon banished this ides. Monday, as your read ers are aware, was the day set apart by the Constitution for all healy selected officers to quality, and the old incumbents to turn out and turn over all books, papers and what money they have not stolen. This they perempterily refused to do, and by they peremptorily refused to do, and by acting Sheriffs and two sets of County Commissioners, all in session; save two of the old Commissioners who retused to take any part in this is famous proceeding and are ready and willing to accade to the winher of the people and comply with the law. Economic with the set that the local con-cert and see union wid College monday, two-ham Laftin, John Snider and Calvin Tay. ler, colored, all of whom were beaten some described to the same of the same of the same law and the wishes of the people they sain hold their offices and refuse to turn over soything, and the old Sheriff renewed his bond before the three old Commissioners; or 'tie said he did, but I learn that he would not let any one see it. The general impression is that it is worthless. He says he will be Sheriff for two years longer, notwithstanding they all canvassed the county in the recent contest, and they all pledged their words and honor that if they were defeated they would make no attempt to hold over. To use their own language, if the people did not want them as officers they did not want to serve them.— What the result of all this is to be I cannot tell; I learn that the three old Commissioners have declared the offices of the Register and the two old Commissioners, (who refused to act with them) as vacant, and have asked that others be appointed in their stead. The old Register was re-cleen ed, but because he gave his bond and acted with the new Commissioners on Menday, they have closed his office and he cannot get in himself, neither can any one cise, no matter how important the business or what sort of papers they want to see; all is closed except, I suppose, to the favorite few who endorse their course.

Auditor Adams, who is, I have no doubt, one of the prime movers in this holding over business, went to all the stores in the village, purchased locks with a view that, in case they could not get possess on of the keys of such offices in the Court House as they wanted, they would remove the locks and place others on the doors; there were some rich scenes at the Corut House on Monday. From what I can learn the old commissioners treated the new ones with perfect costsumpt when they refusal, the new commissioners' tried counsel, and sent in our much respected and promising young lawyer, F. C. Bobins, to remonstrate with them and explain the law as he understood it; but he was insultant. ingly told that they would not hear him, and they threatened to put him in jail. He persisted and did read the law, producing persisted and did read the law, producing the certificates of the newly elected mem-bers, properly certified to by the Supector Court Clerk. But all to no purpose. On Tuesday morning both Boards of Commissioners met again, but find to ad-ours without adjusting the matter. The whole people are persecty inagular, and take every occasion to denounce these thioring imbedles; and they are certainly the meanest looking set of men in the coun-ty, especially the Sheriff, who cannot hold up his head. Even the little boys and negroes are hollering, "holding over are you!" when even they see them passing a the streets.

It is certainly a high headed measure and I suppose will be a question for the Court to decide; but unfortunately for us, as recent events have proven, we have little to hope from a perman and coreupt judiciary. Please ask Balley, the new Code-man, what he thinks of holding over. The people of the control of the cont what he thinks of holding over. The peo-ple think this is his only chance for office, as the Code Commissioners must be abolished. The impression up here is that Balley sold out very cheap, but I have heard it rumor, ed that he made more than Phillips did. The people want to know what is your opinion of this bolding over as it is all new to us; let us hear from you through your paper. Wooder it Holden won't want to paper. Wooder if House, hold over if he is imprached. LEXINGTON.

THE VALUE OF SWAMP MUCE. differs in value, but when one has no choice, great value. The chief value lies in organic matter, which contains more or less amore. It would be impossible for a farmer without accurate chemical knowledge to do this, but an approximate estimate might be arrived at in regard to the sab and the amount of ammonts, thus: Dry some tumps as large as one's fix; burn then, see how much ask they leave, and its character, whether sandy and abundant, which is bad, or fire and little of it, which is good, Whan the lumps are lurning, and as soon. bad, or fire and little of it, which is good, When the limps are hurning, and as soon as they have done anothing, and blasing; take out a coal of the size of a beak egg or bigger, and hold tear it a feather dipped in strong vineger. The amount of white, cloudy smoke which carries about the teather, indicate the pres need amounts, and thin when two or more lamples are encapased, the amount of minimum may be gue-sed at. After all, the best test is the prescription one; and meanily that practical one; and generally that past, or muck is best, which decomposes and dismust to best, which decomposes and observed and with probably show the most effect upon the crop.—Agriculturist.
