SIGNS OF THE TIMES.

No one can fail to read aright the true cause of the negro riots which occur in every part of the south. These riots are less bloody in North Carolina than any other state, owing entirely to the love of peace and order which has ever characterized our people. To the white office seeking republican, bent on living by office and his wits, instead of his labor, should be attributed these riots, routs and unlawful assemblies. The riot and murder at Goldsboro' can be traced to the leaders of the republican party who furnished free rides, free rations and free whiskey to negroes, who would not, nor could not have left their labor and work, if not enticed in a manner they could not resist.

If the barn and house burning which occurred in Wake a year ago had occurred in some other states, and among other people, there would have been an indiscriminate murder of negroes and the worthless office seeking whites, who put them forward in their midnight burnings.

In Kentucky recently a negro violated a white woman, whereupon 200 men, not disguised, took him from the jail and hung him in the presence of many people, who went out to witness the sight. In this county, a year ago, an aged and respectable lady was dragged on the ground with a rope tied about her neck to the woods and violated by a brute of a negro. This republican brute was allowed to remain in the common jail undisturbed, except by the sheriff and the law, through whose agency he was finally hanged.

If republican office holders and office seekers would allow the negro to remain at his work there would be less of rape, arson and other crimes committed. So long as Phillips and Gov. Caldwell keep the negroes' heads hot with whisky, let us hold them up as responsible for the crimes committed by the deluded Africans.

"SPEND YOUR MONEY WITH YOUR FRIENDS."

John Williamson, in his harangue to the colored people on Saturday last, "told his people, among many other necessary things, to deal only with those who were their party friends.

Very well, so good. But it is a very poor rule that won't work both ways. We have been opposed to mixing up business and religious matters with politics; but as the master "of his party" has issued the edict, so his republican dummies must follow it. As the guantlet has been thrown down by them, it becomes us to meet it. Let every democrat and conservative in the county, who may want a shave, or his hair trimmed, recollect [illegible]

John tells the colored people to spend their money only with their friends. The white people must now "carry the war into Africa" by spending their money with their friends.

It is time for the colored people to learn that their relationship to the white people can only be profitable to the extent that they work and co-operate with the white people.

They are at liberty to exercise their own choice, and take the consequences.

Franklin Courier.

The cry of "buy your beef from republicans," has been heard in our market. The cry of "trade with republican merchants," has been heard on our streets. When such cries are raised, and white men prefer to vote for a bribed negro in preference to such statesmen as were lately before the people of Wake, as candidates, they will not prosper in business; they will find themselves driving a poor party trade in business, as well as in politics. The most distinguished radical in in the city, since the flight of Holden, dared, because the gentleman with whom he boarded voted for convention, to ask him if that was the return he made to the republican party who patronized him. The landlord had the spirit and independence to give his imperious boarder what the Irish call a "genteel cursing." Even our Shoe Heel, Scuffletown governor, who called out two regiments to catch a half dozen negro members of his infamous league, who are robbing in Robeson county, inculcates the doctrine that when republicans board with a man he must vote with them. We ask the governor where will the trade of the hundred white men be who voted for Jim Harris, when he gets his party lines arranged?

NEGRO EXCURSION PARTIES.

Hawk Rogers, Gov. Caldwell, Phillips and the white foreign voters who voted for James Harris, negro, after they knew he had been bribed as their representative, are now preparing to have a grand negro jubilee.

We must again admonish the white people to keep cool. The negroes will be here in great numbers. They will be made drunk with whisky paid for by the taxes of the people, and when drunk they will be offensive to the men whom they are taught to believe are trying to re-enslave them. Be forbearing towards the ignorant, deluded negro, but let the white coward, who stands in the rear, know you have your eyes on him.

OFFICIAL RETURNS.

We have received the following additional election returns:

DAVIDSON.—Convention 1262, against 1465. Delegates—C F. Lowe and Alfred Hargrave, cons., beat J. T. Brown and Henry Walser, rads., by 168 majority.

HENDERSON.—Convention 338, against 737. Delegate, J. L. Hood, rad. 438.

HARNETT.—Convention 816, against 590. Delegate, Pegram, con., 818, Harrington, rad., 224.

PASQUOTANK.—Convention 638, against 1051. Delegate, C. W. Grandy, rad., 642.

SURRY.—Convention 826, against 929. Delegate, G. H. Booker, rad., 851.

LOST HIS LIBERTY

If the white men felt half the outrage the negro in matters of election there would be no such thing as fail with them. The negro never fails to vote. His zeal is exemplified in the case of Alexander Ruffin, who, for six months, has eluded the sheriff of Mecklenburg, who had a capias for him. Aleck would vote and the sheriff caught and lodged him in jail.

Aleck, Holden, Kirk, Burgen and Capt Hancock were indicted in Orange for assaulting and arresting the editor of the SENTINEL. Capias issued for them after Aleck was arrested and put in the very jail where he and Holden had lodged us.

Kirk walked the streets of Raleigh while Tim Lee had a capias in his pocket for him.

The negro was the most innocent of these lawless scamps. He only did their bidding. When the whole radical party, including Phillips and Holden, allowed the poor negro to go to jail for want of bail, we thought it infamous on their part, and we went Aleck's bail and had him released. The ungrateful dog did not appear at court; nor did Holden, who forfeited his bail, putting his retaining friend, Badger, in for $500 as his bail.

Carrow and Tim Lee no doubt conspired to keep the process of law from being served on Kirk and Bergen.

Aleck Ruffin is now in jail in Orange county. Governor Caldwell Phillips and their allies owe it to the negroes whom they deceive, and lead to go his bail. Willie Jones, who was of the court martial to try and shoot the men that Aleck and Kirk arrested, owes it to his friend to see his bail and discharge him from prison. Phillips, Caldwell, Willie Jones and their allies who were willing for Aleck and Kirk to win office and place for them, should go to his rescue. Aleck is not more guilty than the Holdenite who steal, encouraging the arrest and hanging of men in Alamance without trial even by court martial. Aleck Ruffin, though he did behave badly, entering the houses of unoffending citizens at Alamance, pistol in hand, abusing men and terrifying women is a better man than [illegible] who encouraged him to do it. Phillips, Caldwell & Co., owe it to themselves to go bail for Aleck, for unlike Nichols and Gorman, Aleck is not with them.

SALE OF LIQUOR

This old keeper of a bawdy house for negroes is again in the office transacting business against Jesse Bryan, D. Enoch S. Bryan, D. M. McIver, William Walker, John Gaster and Calvin Bryan.

The above named persons were arrested by Capt. Hester, late of the lotters, under the assumed name of Goodwin. These persons were brought from Moore county. Goodwin, alias Hester, refused to show any warrant or authority for their arrest. Hester marched the prisoners up our streets with a pistol and cowhide at his side. He had negroes dressed in kuklux clothes following behind.

The prisoners will have a hedring to-day. His old keeper of a bawdy house for negroes had disturbed the whole neighborhood and arrested a number of men who had nothing to do with whipping her daughters or their negro paramours.

HORRID SIGHT.

To see six white men brought forty miles for whipping Sally Gilmore and her negro paramours. More horried to see a United States marshal with pistol and cowhide at his side marching front of the prisoners, with negroes in kuklux dress following in the rear, yelling and roaring like savages.

We tell Caldwell, Phillips, Carrow and the carpet baggers that they are preparing a day of blood for the people of North Carolina. You must not suppose that the white blood of the state will submit to such indignities from unprincipled office holders and ignorant negroes.

The New York Journal of Commerce declares that "the recognition of suicide as a felony should be universally adopted in the United States. People should be taught in the plain language of the law that they do not belong wholly to themselves, and that the state has something to say about their taking their lives, being entitled, in return for the partial protection which it affords to persons, to the exercise of due care by each individual to preserve his own life. And then the recovery of the bodies and burial of many suicides is done at the state's expense, and the state should not encourage such taxes upon its resources. The public welfare is in many ways endangered by allowing people to kill themselves at pleasure—suicide often assuming an epidemic type unless checked as it is well known, and, hence, there should be a punishment inflicted upon those who attempt to commit the supremely selfish act of suicide, in contempt of all obligations to God and man."

KUKLUX.

Republicans in league disguises walked up Fayetteville street yesterday. We have only radical magistrates in the city, and one of them was applied to for a warrant to arrest parties in disguise. The magistrate declined to give the warrant but acknowledge it a violation of the law, and said the parties did not intend to violate the law.

A VETERAN VOTER.—We saw on the streets on day of election Mr. Council Tyre, an old man bent with the weight of 96 winters, who had come to town to vote for convention. Since he became of age he never missed casting his vote but twice, and then from unavoidable necessity.

Such men should never die but live as a perpetual example to rising generations.

Yes, and it is an excellent rebuke to those of fewer years who remained from the polls in the late election.

For the Sentinel.

MR. EDITOR: The poor, mean miserable dog who got up the card about Salt river is informed he is known, and if the information is correct, he will be presented to the next grand jury of Wake for stealing from the breeches pocket of a friend, the sum of one dollar and forty cents.

If the dog don't get in the penitentiary before that time we guarantee him a free ticket after next court.

ONE WHO KNOWS.

AGAINST CARPET BAGGERS.

We commend to the loyal the following article, from the Baltimore Sun, against carpet baggers. We tell Tourgee, Abbott, Littlefield, Martin and Praise-God Ashley that the day has come when North Carolina shall be governed by North Carolinians, and they had as well take up their carpet bags and walk.

We called attention not long ago to the contrast presented in the policy announced to Bismarck for the government of Alsace and Lorraine and that which has been pursued by congress in the process of southern reconstruction. It will be remembered that the sagacious German minister recommended, as a means of consolidating the conquered provinces, and gradually attaching Alsace to Germany, that local government should not be interfered with nor foreign office holders intruded upon the people. The results of this statesmanship counsel have already manifested themselves. For many weeks the people of France and Germany have been looking forward with considerable interest to elections which were held a few days ago in Alsace and Lorraine. The belief prevailed throughout France that the elections would result in the triumph of the anti German candidates, the anti German party made energetic efforts. [illegible] the agitation, except as it was necessary to preserve public order."

A short time before the election, however, the leaders of the anti German party made the discovery that their chances of success were somewhat doubtful, and that if there should be a full vote polled, they might, after all, be beaten. So they suddenly recommended to their adherents the policy of not voting at all, hoping that thus enough voters would be kept from the polls to render most of the elections invalid.

The result has disappointed them. Although we have as yet no detailed returns of the elections, it is known that a majority of the candidates elected are adherents of the moderate liberal party that is opposed to the German party. The policy of keeping away from the polls seems to have been followed in but few districts, and their leaders prominently Metz, to which the friends of the party opposed to the absorption of Alsace and Lorraine were sent.

The result was not much enthusiasm throughout Germany, where these elections were awaited with anxiety. It had been expected that the German candidates would be chosen "in mass" at the first trial. The fact that such has not been the case proves the wisdom of the policy adopted by Bismarck. At once he pushed a new vote, and the authorities are said to exhibit all [illegible] to the restoration of Alsace and Lorraine can be effected in a peaceful manner. Seventy or eighty months after the country passed the war, while our government, after a period of profound and open peace, complains that the southern people have participated, and that such forces as the kuklux are necessary.

RALEIGH, Aug 11, 1871

Editors of the Sentinel:—I deem it proper to let the public know that very great outrages have been perpetrated in the county of Moore by persons acting under authority of law.

I live in the county of Moore, near Jonesboro'. For some days, one J. G. Hester, deputy U. S. marshal, has been near Jonesboro' passing himself off as a tobacco peddler. He brought with him kuklux disguises and passed himself off as one. He told it that he, Hester, murdered Stephens in Caswell.

[illegible] house and informed [illegible] eighteen, that the wagoner would swap pistols and give him five dollars to boot. Jesse went to the camp of the wagoner, where he was arrested and placed under a negro guard for the night.

Hester, the officer, refuses to show any authority for their arrest. I am of opinion that he had none. Two of my sons were arrested. I offered to go bail for them and to return them to his campt the next morning. I was told to hush my mouth. My wife, learning of the arrest, went, in my absence, to inquire into it, but was grossly insulted by Hester.

My sons are arrested charged with whipping Sally Gilmore and her daughters. This old woman has kept a disreputable house in the neighborhood, and some persons took it upon themselves to punish her. I have no idea that my sons had anything to do with whipping the old woman. If they did they are amendable to the law, and should be arrested according to law.

When my sons were brought to the depot here, the marshal dressed some negroes in kuklux disguise and marched them through the streets of the city, telling persons that they had been arrested in their disguises. The marshal walked in front, with a pistol and cowhide at his side, followed by negroes he had dressed in kuklux style.

I have been greatly perplexed to have my child decoyed from my house, arrested and guarded by negroes, and no process of law shown for their arrest. I am and have been a law abiding man, and have succeeded in instilling like principles into my children. I can have but little respect for the government when it sends unprincipled men to arrest my son without a warrant and walk in front of him with a cowhide, followed by negroes to jeer him. Such sights, Messrs Editors, must lead to serious consequences.

I am respectfully,

N. R. BRYAN

THE RESULT.—The desperate effort made by state and federal office holders to defeat the calling of a convention, have, we suppose, succeeded. Thousands of our people were driven into voting against the convention by threats of war that their homesteads would be lost, &c., &c. We regret that any one should have been deceived. We feel that the golden opportunity to relieve the state from its great burdens has been lost, and that our people will have to groan on for years under the terrible weight that oppresses them.

The office holders and bond holders, however, do not share our regret, nor do they care how much the people suffer. Already their shouts have made the "welkin ring." They know the convention would have lessened the burdens of the people even at the sacrifice of all the bonds and offices if necessary.

What is to become of the country, God only knows. Let our friends, however, remain quiet and calm, but firm. No true man will waver now because adverse winds happen to whistle around us. A better day will come. Our party will continue to control the state, no doubt of that. One hundred thousand white freemen can never be put down by the office holders and bond holders who lead the radical party—never! Then be true, white men freemen. Asheville Citizen.

The Raleigh Telegram after having "filled its mission" as it says, helped to defeat the convention, given aid and comfort to radicalism, and endeavored to split the conservative party, has terminated its existence, having sold out to the Era. It is a little remarkable that it should expire so soon after the election.

It's dead now and we don't believe there is any one to shed a tear over it. It worked for those who fed it during its brief existence and died despised.—Greensboro' Patriot.

THE EXTENT OF CARPET BAGISM AT THE SOUTH.

Not long since Horace Greeley, says the Albany (N. Y.) Argus, went to Texas for the purpose of delivering the annual address before the Texas State Agricultural society. His advent in that region was looked for with much interest, and great importance was attached to whatever he might say concerning [illegible] received from actual contact with the southern people. His address was well received, and he was everywhere treated with every mark of consideration.

Upon Mr. Greeley's return home, he made a speech before the Republican Association of New York city. Any reference to the matter talked about by him, he said:

There is another influence equally ominous with theirs and a great deal more detrimental to the fame and character of the Republican party, I allude to what is known as the "thieving carpet-bag gers." (Applause.)

* * * * * * *

Well, gentlemen, the thieving carpet baggers are a mournful fact; they do exist there and I have seen them. (Laughter.) They are fellows who crawled down with safe distance in one rear; some to own or suttler's wagons; some bearing cotton permits; some of them looking sharply to see what may turn up, and they remain there. They at once ingratiated themselves with the blacks, simple, credulous, ignorant men very glad to welcome and to follow any whites who professed to be the champions of their rights. Some of these got elected senators, others to represent negroes, some sheriffs, some judges, and so on. And there they stood, right in the public eye stealing and plundering many of them with both arms and legs, and the moment they put their pockets, ready to the utmost pitch, [illegible] out of them and the police took it from them [illegible] but calls every carpet bagger to [illegible] which is not the truth by a good deal. But these fellows made off the negroes they fared and with every dollar they got, [illegible] concerned for the education of the blacks and for the education of their souls (great laughter). Let us pray, therefore. But they spell pray with an e, and then spell[illegible], they obey the apostolic injunction to pray without ceasing.

Fellow citizens, the time has been, and still is, when it was perilous to be known as a republican or an abolitionist in the South, but it never called for the blush of shame to any man to look to be so called until these thieving carpet baggers went there. (Applause.) They got to the legislature, they would [illegible] the state bonds, they pretended to pay them in gold and silver and other improvements. But the improvements were not made and the bonds were in the [illegible] pockets. [illegible] That is the pith of it.

Well, some say, you have [illegible] thieves at the North. Yes, we have too many of them! (Applause.) But the south was already impoverished—was bankrupt—without money, without thrift, almost without food—and these fellows went there robbing and swindling when there was very little to steal, and taking the last ten cent shinplasters off of the dead man's eyes. They were recognized by the aristocracy, not merely as thieves, but as enemies. Says Byron's Greek minstrel

"A tyrant—but our masters then
Were still at least our countrymen."

The above confirms all that has hereto [illegible] and politics in the South.

[From the Wilmington Journal.]

What must be thought of a set of men who are engaged, day by day, in arraying the vice, ignorance and thriftlessness of a state against its virtue, intelligence and prosperity, and whose only hope and chance of success in their schemes of per sonal aggrandizement, is to make the antagonism thorough and bitter? And yet this is what most of the radical office holders and office seekers in North Carolina are doing—some of them, men of gentlemanly training and education, and of unquestionable social prestige; a fact which but renders their criminality doubly enormous. When we saw, for instance, Mr. S. F. Phillips, a life long member of the Bar, who was supposed to have an usual pride of profession, in a printed address denouncing the convention movement as a "plot of the lawyers," and seeking to prejudice his confreres with the illiterate and the agrarian, we could but recall the homely, but pungent adage, that it is, indeed, "an ill bird that befouls its own nest." And so, when we see men raised to better things and taught in a more virtuous school, appealing to the passions of the vicious and the ignorant, and seeking to ride into office on the shoulders of a rabble, over the wreck of refinement, virtue and intelligence, we feel as if they should be classed with Dubois caste of Parias, who were prohibited from all approach to anything pure, as if they were infected with leprosy. They should be outthrust [illegible]. What right have such men to whip and bluster about suffrage, when, by their own acts, they place themselves beyond the pale of all consideration.

The office holders and office seekers in the late convention canvass, knew that it was cowardly to threaten a humiliated people their own people with the ordeal bayonet again; yet they did it. They knew that it was false, that any of the civil rights of the negro could in no wise be disturbed; yet they inflamed the ignorant and prejudiced creatures with the apprehension. They knew that it was libelous to charge that the friends of reconciliation sought to do away with the homestead, yet they shouted it in the ears of every credulous man in the state. They knew that taxation, impoverishment and ruin must fall upon thousands of our people with the continuance of the present state of things, and yet, for the sake of pay and place, (or to glut personal malice in some cases,) they compacted 80,000 negroes against the intelligence, the public and private virtue, and the wealth of the community. They knew that their only hope of success was in doing this, and they did it.

That is the true record. Again we ask—and we leave the answer to the consciences of some of them themselves in the "silent watches" of sober reflection—what must be thought of such men!

From the Ashville Citizen.

The following note explains itself:

The convention only carried in this place by sixty-seven majority. No other precinct has been heard from. In the county there is a great falling off from last summers' election. Our people were afraid of war and lost their homesteads.

Yours truly,

TINCK WELCH.

Waynesville, N. C., Aug. 6, 1871.

A young man recently called upon the editor of a paper in Oregon town and asked to see the file for 1869, which request was granted. Whe the editor stepped out a moment, hequarched out with the file and used it against the owner in a libel suit for five thousand dollars damages. The plaintiff recovered six and one quarter cents, when the prosecuted victim turned upon him and had his sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary for stealing his sticks.
