THE SENTINEL

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE SPARTA, ALLEGHANY COUNTY, 1. July 99, 18785

I wrote when leaving Taylorsville, on the 13th inst., but have not seen a SENTI-NEL since that date, to learn if my letter mached its destination. I went from Taylor-ville to Lenoir in Caldwell county where 1 spoke to a large and attentive audience A half drunken radical took his stand near me and began talking and cursing, about the time I said fellow citigens. A magistrate spoke to one of his wher friends to quiet him. But he would no more be quieted than Rachel would dered to give way and let the man talk. He was notified to quit or leave the house. He left and soon engaged in a quarrel on the street. The next we saw of him was through the window, the hoys of the town were running him up the street towards was the only disturbance I have witnessed Flward Jones, Jr., former member, is the candidate in the Commons for Caldwell county. There was an independent canindate against Mr. Jones, but his friends intermed me that he would withdraw. Mr. Jones is deservedly popular in his county and among the young men who stight in the troubles that he before her. to the Schate we found three candinees of a convention. Gu Iger and Flemming were sure of their dections. Mr. This county will reader a good as Flemming is the former Senator of the district, and is well and favorably known His talent and popularity it was thought would secure his election. Mr. Gudger is a new man in politics, a man of talents, and a most effective stump speaker. I heard the onlyion expressed by competent udges that he made better and more popdur speeches than any man of his dis trict. From Caldwell, I crossed the Blue Rodge with Captain Brice, of Charlotte, and my old friend, Joseph Norwood, and two of his sons, and Mr. Boon's, in Watauga, was my next appointment for a speech. Here I found assembled a large num er of good looking mountaineers, ty were two conservative candidates, Todd held to make nominations. I have never people more intent upon carrying the

From Alleghany I re-crossed the Blue Ridge into Wilkes, where I spoke at Eagle, Hick's, Major Foote and the county candidates being present.

Dr. York, former member, and Dr. Halket are the conservative candidates for the Commons, with the certainty of being elected.

The last named candidates are physi cians of long standing and extensive practice and are justly popular men.

I called Foote to task for the calumnia and falsehoods he had been uttering upon me, but he denied and confessed not. I called on him to mention wherein I had misrepresented him, and offered to make amends by proper apology if he would show I was mistaken.
