A SUPPOSED MURDER.

A Post Mortem Examination—The Husband the Victim.

A little over five weeks ago, a stout athletic negro man, living in Warren county, was in vigorous health up to a few hours before his death, when he went the way of all flesh and was buried. There were some circumstances connected with his domestic life and with the nature of his sickness that aroused the suspicion of certain persons. His name was Samuel Stainback and his wife's name is Lucy. This couple were unfortunate in their married life. There were much hard feeling, many quarrels and reproaches. Lately Sam had become quite jealous of his wife, and it was thought that there was good cause. A negro preacher was in the habit of visiting Sam's home too frequently, and as a result Sam had expressed himself as decidedly dissatisfied with his attentions to Mrs. Jane. A few days before the husband was taken sick, his wife was known to have purchased a certain poison (we forbear mentioning it), to be used by her husband in poisoning some stock that annoyed him, as she said. She gave her husband some coffee the morning of the day he died. He had strong convulsions, a leg on the place had convulsions, and the watch-dog was missing. Mrs. Jane accordingly had to be brought to the post-mortem examination. It was found that Sam had come to his sudden end by foul play, that they determined to have a post-mortem examination made. Accordingly five weeks after the death of Sam, the body was disinterred, and Dr. Cheatham, a prominent physician of Henderson, N. C., was sent for. He performed the difficult and offensive task of dissecting the decomposed body, and the stomach and liver has been sent North for chemical analysis. In the meantime Jane, the wife, has been committed to Warren county jail, to await a judicial investigation.

DAVIDSON COLLEGE.

Thursday's Proceedings—Graduating Class—A Reporter Muchly Pleased, &c.

The following extracts from the Charlotte Observer's report of the exercises at Davidson College, will be found interesting to our readers.

Thursday was the most delightful time for the commencement that could have been, and it seemed that everybody took advantage of the favorable state of the weather to witness this grand exhibition of education.

The trains from Statesville and Charlotte brought a goodly crowd from each place, increasing the number of Wednesday by at least one thousand, which swells the figures to 2,500.

Twenty-six students graduated Thursday evening, all of whom acquitted themselves in a manner that reflects credit on the institution which has fostered and which has been instrumental to them in acquiring the proficiency which they have now upon themselves.

The exercises were commenced by a very solemn prayer, delivered by the Rev. Dr. Chapman, of Charlotte.

Music from the Band, "Guards Quick Step," as interlude.

Mr. O. D. Davis, of Salisbury, delivered a Latin Salutatory, and the easy manner in which he repeated it, so far from extending the blessings of education, they have curtailed them. In South Carolina, Grantites either squandered or stole the common school fund, so there are but few schools in operation. In poor Louisiana they have done worse—they have abolished the "free school fund." But this is enough. We see how unfaithful they have been to the people—how untrue to their own promises. The day of reckoning will yet come.

THE ENGLISH CENSUS.

As a matter of some interest we copy a few statistics from the English census. We give first the figures as to population:

Table with 2 columns: Inhabitants, Increase since April, 1871. 1861 per cent.

England, 21,495,131 13.40

Wales, 1,217,135 9.48

Scotland, 3,360,018 9.72

Ireland, 5,411,416 23.97

Isle of Man, 54,042 3.00

Channel Islands, 90,596

United Kingdom, 31,628,338 8.8

It will be remembered that our census shows the population of the United States to be nearly or quite 40,000,000 in 1870.

England and Wales have increased greatly in spite of a large emigration since 1801, when the first census was taken. Then both numbered 8,892,536—now they number 22,712,266, an increase of 13,819,730, or 155.41 per cent. Or you may state it differently. The increase in 70 years has been 5,000,000 in excess of what it had been for the preceding 1200 years.

From 1851 to 1861 the total emigration from the United Kingdom was 2,054,578. From 1861 to 1871 it was 1,074,594. These were all of British birth. Of foreign emigrants, in the first decade there were 194,977, in the last 301,933.

We give the houses that are inhabited, seventy years ago there were but 1,576,729 in England and Wales, now over four millions and a quarter. The population has increased in that time 155 per cent, and the dwellings 179. Here are the houses for each county.

Table with 2 columns: Houses inhabited Persons in April, 1871, each house.

England and Wales, 4,259,117 5.33

Scotland, 412,183 8.13

Ireland, 961,229 5.63

Other Islands, 23,982 6.90

United Kingdom, 5,656,513 6.20

CHOLERA IN CONCORD.

[Special Dispatch to the Daily Sentinel.] Hillsboro, June 30. Aaron Strowd was hanged today at 11 o'clock, for the crime of rape upon the person of a little girl four years old. The Herald's reporter, Cutbert, is on hand to add another morsel to the feast of crime and blood which is daily required to satisfy the appetites of our local christian brethren of the North.

SUICIDE!

A Mother Hangs Herself—She Leaves Two Children.

[Special Dispatch to the Daily Sentinel.] Hillsboro, June 30. Mrs. Martha Murray hanged herself on Sunday morning. She leaves two children.

THE RADICAL BOAST.

Our readers will not have forgotten the boast of the Radical press and the oratorical bush-whackers of the past, that if they could control the Southern States they would transform the country and improve the condition of the people. Ignorance should forever disappear and intelligence and culture should become the distinguishing characteristics of the age. There never was a more idle boast—never one that was more completely disregarded. Their promise was utterly illusory and were so intended. Of course no intelligent Southern man put any faith in such wild and empty promises, but many ignorant persons were deceived and some designing men gracefully "sequised" we believe that is the word.

The truth is some of the Radical leaders are men of sense and wise after the manner of their generation. They know that in the South their chiefest job is intelligence. In North Carolina their main white support comes from the most stupidly ignorant and depraved portion of the community. If our white people were all respectively educated the decline of Radicalism would begin at once; or more properly, Radicalism would have never had any foothold in the State.

It has had a fair showing in many Southern States—in this State, in South Carolina, in Louisiana and other States. It has brought the million of death upon the educational systems. They had solemnly sworn the country that when they had got possession of these States by fraud and force, they would make the desert blossom as the rose, and the eye of dullness bright with the light of intelligence. In a word transformation was to follow and the whole land glorified. The school system was to be changed. It was to be widened and extended so as to embrace all classes, both white and colored.

Now look at this State. What is the condition? Our University dead, our common schools almost dead. Shame upon the men who did it. So far from resuscitating, they have blasted so far from extending the blessings of education, they have curtailed them. In South Carolina, Grantites either squandered or stole the common school fund, so there are but few schools in operation. In poor Louisiana they have done worse—they have abolished the "free school fund." But this is enough. We see how unfaithful they have been to the people—how untrue to their own promises. The day of reckoning will yet come.

PERSONAL.

Miss Abbott is said to be engaged on "The Cost of an Hour," a grave work than her late books, which have been so popular.

The Hon. A. R. Boteler has been invited to deliver the annual address before the Literary Societies of the University of West Virginia on the 18th inst.

It has been discovered that many of Mirabeau's famous speeches are really written for him by Etienne Dumont, as the latter claimed 40 years ago, when the assertion was scouted.

King Oscar of Sweden took advantage of the crowd attending his coronation to sell of the rare paintings, furniture, wood carvings, medieval ornaments and costumes belonging to his predecessor, Charles XV.

Old Sir John Stepany, a Welsh M. P., who fought at Waterloo, and is so deaf you have to scream at him, sits wretched every night in the House of Commons, and seldom leaves until the doorkeeper shouts, "Who goes home?" and puts out the lights.
