DAILY SENTINEL

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1865.

Harper's Journal -- the Santage Mathodists --Letters of Dr. Doems and Mr. Morati.

The profession which we made to the South and to the world, through the late terrible con flict, was that we were fighting to restore the Union. The outlay of treasure and talent and blood, was justified on that ground, and on that ground alone.

Well, at length our arms succeeded an I the leaders of the armies of the Confederate States surrendered, and their Executive officers were scattered. The war of blood ended, and there all war should have closed. So far as the South. ern people are concerned, it did. Never in the history of the world have any people given up their cause so promptly, so thoroughly, so nobly as the people of the Sau h. Holding out against our immense power as they did with a heroism that was sublime and at secrifices that were stupendous, when Providence gave victory to their enemies, they accepted their condition with a humility that is without humilitation, and with an unflinching, uncomplaining simplicity which marks them as a great people, even in their calamities.

On our side, our thorough and complete suc-cess ought to inspire the with abounding mag-naulmity. With the President and very many of the Northern people this spirit prevails. There are, however, cross who disgrace our section and our general humanity by the exhibition of a mean and malignant spirit which can-not be too muck reprobated. It is painful to see that they are generally church people, sanctimonious philanthropists who love the men who have least claim to regard, and hate those whose nobility shames their meanness. For simple, godly Christian men, we hope we have proper respect, while we cordially hate the blood-hounds of Zion" and the savage pretenders to "civiligation.D

A forced union of the sovereign States of this country can never be productive of lasting good. The only union that can be permanent is that produced by the interchange of civilities and made strong by the bonds of Christian love.

We earnestly desire to see the people in all seetions of the United States laboring for the promotion of each other's welfare. We desire to see all parties as united as possible, and shall rejoice in the reunion of the denominations of Christians which have been split asunder by the war. But we know that Southern church people cannot be dragooned into loving their Northern brethren. and never can love them until they become really lovely. They certainly are not so now. The Northern ecclesiastical conventions and church papers seem to delight in doing all that can be ione to exasperate their Nonthern brethren, and then because those Southern Christians do not rush to the ursine embrace of these rough polem ice, they coolly and impudently need to the world The Southern Method: Communication as special object of attack. Its position a prosely, and wilfully, and constantly no represented A specimen of this kind of thing I in he had lead is see of Harper's Journal of Civil Potion (or ver the mark!) a paper devoting its pictorul and a to the promotion of civilization in the " o as the low er class of "Life in Boston." the Merers Harpers are Methodists, and ou, noto have known better than to make statements like the following in their editorial of fiaturday;

Where de we find proof of acceptance? The Southern Methodist Church separated from the Northern Methodist Church on the ground of elavery; slavery is abolished by the war. Does the Southern Church accept the result? On the contrary, it refuses reunion."

And "The Methodist" and "The Christian

Advocate" are weekly harning on the same string. Every well informed person knows that the tract from Harper's Journal contains at least three distinct statements or implications contrary to historic truth; 1. The Southern Church did not separate from the Northern, 2 The ground of decision was not merely slavery. 3. The Southern Church has not refused reunic The Methodist Episcopal Church in America divided by an act of its higgest legislature, the General Conference in 1844, which act was passed by a body of which a mejority were Abolitonists.—Can any man dray that 1 Then, what an outrafie it is to stigmatize the South Church as shhismatic! The North separated from the South as much as the South did from the North. Nor was slavery the only difficulty! The Northern Methodist preachers had become political and social agitators; they substituted the commands of men for the law hf God. They were for making terms of membership not known to Christ, or the Apostles, or the Holy Scriptures.

It is not true that the Southern Church has refused to reunite. No offer has been made them. No Northern General Conference has met to make the proposition, and no Southern Conference to accept or reject. Let the world remember torever, what the Northern Methodists seem exceedingly auxious to have forgotten, that at the first meeting of the Southern Church after its organization it appoint done of its most venerable clergymen to be a fraternal messenger to the Northern General Conference, and that Conference absolutely refused to have anything to do with him or his credentials! Now who are disunionista f And since peace has come, the Southern Methodist Church has behaved with dignity, while the Northern Methodist press has teemed with villification. Just before opening The Har-per, from which we have quoted, there was laid on our table a phamplet centaining letters of fir. Deems and Mr. Moran of the Methodist Church, South. The first of these productions has been prenounced "scholarly" by even the Northern Methodists, and the second is certainly vigorous. Do these representative gentlemen refuse to unite? Not at sil. Dr. Decurs calmiy guards his Northern beathren against the very things which may prevent Union, and Mr. Moran tells them how, as gentlemen and Christians, that desirable end may be gained. We wish all our readers would order this pumphlet we see advertised by Wm. A. Townsend of this city, and calmly read these articles. Instead of using languages of fierceness toward the South, the Northern Methodist Church should send them a message

Dear brethren, we insulted and embarrassed you for years until we brought things to just such a pass we could not live together. We decided upon a plan of separation which we adopted, in which we acknowledged your title to certain propwhich we asknowledged your title to cestain property which we subsequently drove you to the law to obtain, in which some of our Doctors of Divinity did what outsiders regarded as pretty hard swearing. We then adopted for terms of mem bership such tests as would exclude Abraham, bership such tests as would exclude Abraham, Job and the Apostles. Now brethren, we reposite the property of the Patterns are turnished at their shops and bag your patterns. Now brethren, we reposite the patterns are turnished at their shops and the Apostles. Now brethren, we reposite outhing slavery in your Discipline, we will ex-Let us be united, from ours, That is our advice to the Northern Church Try it "brethren." Send one of your old minis-ters to the Southern Church and see if they do not return good for your evil, and in a most Christian way heap coals of fire on your heads. As many as have not grace to do this, let them at least pray for strength to obey the Apostle's in-junction, "Lie not one to another."—N. F. News.
