NEWS BY THE PAPERS.

Additional from Central and South America.

From Peru we learn that the prospects of the rebels there are not so bright as by previous accounts, and it is now thought the Government will succeed in quelling the insurgents. Meanwhile business remains in a most ruinous condition.

CHILI.

There is little of importance from Chili. The passage of the law tolerating religious worship of all kinds, has, at length, been satisfactorily settled.

Government has given notice that it will receive tenders for the long talked of scheme of steam communication to England, via the Straits of Valparaiso.

Business at Valparaiso has greatly improved, as well as charters for ships. Exchange on England at Valparaiso was 43 1/2 a 46 1/2.

CENTRAL AMERICA—EXECUTION OF BARROS.

From Central America we have the intelligence of another piece of barbarity. Salvador, following in the steps of Ecuador, where the President recently shot twenty-seven persons in Guayaquil, has held a summary court martial over the ex-President of the State, General Barrios, as a revolutionist, and had him shot.

He was notified of his sentence at 11 o'clock at night, and was shot at 6 o'clock next morning.

Barrios was one of the most liberal and intelligent men in Central America, and his cruel and unnatural death has created general dissatisfaction throughout Central America.

Texas.

A building formerly used as a powder mill near Marshall, Texas, was recently blown up, and with it four men belonging to the 8th Illinois regiment, who were terribly burned and wounded. Two of them, named Davis and Little, lingered in excruciating pain until the following morning, when they died. The other two, named Grate and Algood, will recover.

Major J. M. Baker, of Starville, Smith County, Texas, was recently murdered near Marshall, Texas, by, as was supposed, a man named J. S. Butler, of the same town. There was an old grudge existing between the parties.

Considerable cotton was coming into Houston. Prices ranged from 15 to 32 cents in specie, according to quality.

The Austin Intelligencer says great interest is manifested in the discovery of petroleum in Texas. Lands in the vicinity of Sand Lake have been leased to an oil company for a term of years.

High prices were procured for the property offered at Government auction sale, which the Intelligencer considers as among the cheering indications of the return of the golden era.

The Houston Gazette says seventy-five counties have been organized in the south of Texas.

The Intelligencer, of the 25th ult., notices the murder of M. M. Parkerson. Ben Thompson, a citizen, was arrested, charged with the murder and robbery.

The destruction of cotton by the worm would prove serious in some counties. This, together with the general indifference of freedmen to work, would likely cut the crop very short.

Three thousand negro troops were at Corpus Christi. The rate of mortality among them averaged three per day. The state of discipline was good, and these able soldiers exhibited great proficiency in drill. There is a scarcity of good water at that point. The Neches Valley abounds with bunches of the finest description. A Government wharf-boat is to be built at Corpus Christi, and other arrangements indicating a permanent post.

The Galveston Bulletin, of the 8th instant, says it is the intention of General Gregory, Assistant Commissioner of Freedmen for Texas, to establish public schools at once throughout the State.

The Henderson Times admits that the statements made in that paper of the depredations by the United States troops, under General Morris, in passing through Texas, were exaggerated.

Two Tragedies in Richmond.

On Friday night Mrs. Elizabeth Ould, an English woman, shot with a pistol and severely wounded a man named R. H. Meade. Meade had been paying some attention to Mrs. Ould, and she alledged that he had engaged to marry her; but falling in love with a Manchester damsel, he had deserted Mrs. O., and was to have been married yesterday to the Manchester lady. Hence the shooting. Mrs. Ould repented of the deed the instant it was accomplished, and implored Mead's forgiveness. She was arrested and taken to the police station. Mead's wound is not considered dangerous, and after a brief examination, on Saturday, the case was postponed till such time as Meade will be able to appear before the Pravest Judge. In the meantime the Judge offered to bail Mrs. Ould in the sum of $1000, but up to Saturday night she had not been able to give the security required.

At a late hour on Saturday night Mr. Perkins, residing in Sidney, at the corner of Belvidere and Cary streets, was aroused from his bed by his wife, who said there were burglars in the house. Mr. Perkins arose and examined the house, but found no burglars. He returned to his bed, but during the night heard, or thought he heard, somebody moving through the house. He got up, took his revolver, and seeing somebody moving at his chamber door, fired. He failed to hit the shot took effect in the breast of his wife, from the effects of which she died soon after. The husband, who, of course, was beside himself with grief at the occurrence, immediately surrendered himself, but as the tragedy was shown to be of a purely accidental nature, he was discharged.—Petersburg Index.

PETITION.—The ladies of Portsmouth are now busily circulating for signatures a petition addressed to His Excellency, Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, praying for the pardon and release from confinement of Jefferson Davis, President of the late Confederacy. The petition is said to be a model of beauty in its design.
