The Great Southern Relief Fair.

The Baltimore Sun gives a glowing account of the second day's proceedings of the Fair.—We make the following extracts from the account in the Sun:

The Great Southern Relief Fair, which was opened to the public on Monday evening, has succeeded in an eminent degree. The Institute Hall yesterday presented a much better appearance than on the preceding evening, when the hurry and confusion incident to the opening caused many little drawbacks that would not have been had more time been allowed. The attendance yesterday commenced well even in the forenoon, and soon the various avenues leading to the hall were filled with persons passing to and fro, which continued during the whole day. In the evening the crowd was again dense, equally as great as on the preceding evening, those gaining admittance being scarcely able to find standing room, whilst hundreds were unable to get even inside the door. The Blues' Band were again in attendance, and, under Prof. Holland, performed some of their choicest pieces. The fair is now in full blast.

THE TOUT ENSEMBLE.

The spectator, on entering the hall at night, is struck by the brilliancy of the tout ensemble, and pleasantly impressed by the general appearance and plan of arrangement. The lengthened hall, with its deep perspective, as it were; the elevated galleries on either hand and at each end, filled with the beauty and fashion of the city; the shimmer of gas jets running the whole length of the immense building, and suspended from the tables, with the drapery of festooned flags, wreaths and evergreens; three grand rows of tables, the main one running down the centre of the room, with the others on the eastern and western sides, laden with their profuse variety of wares, fabrics &c., their numerous lady attendants, and the continuous moving mass of well-dressed people, male and female, as spectators and purchasers—all these constitute as attractive and inspiring a scene as one need desire to look upon, and which it would seem every soul capable of happiness must derive pleasure in beholding. The tables are all neatly trimmed with evergreens and ornamented with flowers by the ladies having them in charge. Those in the centre are numbered from 23 to 50; those on the right from 1 to 18, and those on the left from 19 to 34, at each and every one of which innumerable articles, either of elegance or comfort, suited to please the fancy or gratify the taste of both young and old, are exhibited. There are two other tables, 51 and 52, on either hand near the entrance door.

TABLES NOS. 1 AND 2.

These tables, the first on the right hand side of the hall, are presided over by Mrs. John F. Hunter, Mrs. William Benthall, Mrs. John Brown, and Mrs. Capt. Lawry, assisted by Misses Hortensia Massicott, Jennie Smith, of Washington city, Kate Barnham, Allie Thompson, Wellie Smith, Fanny Lowry, Carrie Unott, Rebecca Freeman, Martha White, and others.—They deal principally in confectionery, cakes, &c., but have several interesting mementos which they design disposing of by raffle, the chances in which they are rapidly getting clear of. Among these is a magnificent lot of braid d hair which a lady in Richmond, once in affluent circumstances, cut from her own head and sent to Philadelphia for sale in order to procure bread for her children. It was sold for $41, and the money remitted, and the purchaser, Miss Harrison, of Philadelphia, has had it beautifully braided, and sent to the fair, with instructions that the proceeds be forwarded to the original owner in Richmond. It is valued at $100, and the chances are being rapidly taken at $1 each. Another is a large cameo breastpin, the last relic of a former wealthy lady of Charleston, who was compelled to sell it to sustain life. It also came into the possession of Miss Harrison, who has sent it to be disposed of for the benefit of the original owner.

TABLES NOS. 5 AND 6.

Are known as the President's tables, and are presided over by Mrs. B. C. Howard, the President of the board of lady managers, assisted by Mrs. D. H. Miller, Miss Garrett, Mrs. G. B. Hoffman, Mrs. Richard Tyson, Mrs. J. S. Nicholas, Mrs. Ellen Gilmore and Mrs Jas. Howard.—Here are displayed the portrait and surveyor's compass of Gen. Geo. Washington, and other relics of that great man. There is also an oil painting presenting the scene between Herbert and Arthur, in Southeare's King John, presented by Messrs. Tatnall & Jackson, of Philadelphia, who gave $400 for it a few years since. Another fine painting represents a Newfoundland dog carrying a basket, presented to Mrs. Howard, by Mr. J. Savage, of Philadelphia.—The display of fancy and useful goods made by the ladies at this table is very fine.

* * * * * * * *

THE TELEGRAPH OFFICE.

The National Telegraphic Union, composed of telegraphic operators throughout the country, through a committee of Baltimore operators, consisting of Messrs. C. E. Ways, J. G. Riley and H. C. Showacre, has arranged a telegraph line running around the hall, with an office at each end of the building. Attentive operators are constantly in attendance, pretty young misses act as messengers, and many are the messages dispatched and received. This will prove quite a source of revenue to the lady managers. The messages all bear the imprint, "Southern Relief Fair Telegraph Line, under the management of the National Telegraph Union."

A DONATION FROM PHILADELPHIA.

A magnificent India camel's hair shawl was yesterday presented the lady managers by Mr. J. M. Hafleigh, of Philadelphia, through Mr. W. H. Perkins, of this city. It was imported direct by Mr. H. for his finest sales and is valued at $600. This shawl is one of the finest of the kind ever imported into this country, and is well worthy the special attention of visitors. It has been placed on the table presided over by Mrs. D. Preston Parr, and is to be disposed of by raffle.

A DONATION FROM NEW YORK.

Messrs. Montague Brothers, general insurance agents of this city, yesterday, presented Mrs. B. C. Howard, the president of the board of lady managers, with a check for $100, as a contribution from the Metropolitan Insurance Company of New York.

Why should we never sleep in a railway car? Because the train always runs over sleepers.
