THE DAVIS TRIAL. Preparations are already being made to secure reporters of known ability for the trial of Jef-ferson Davis in October next; and from the parties making those preparations, there is little room for doubt that both the Government and Davis's counsel really expect the trial to come off at the time. Mr. Sutton, of the Senate corps, will probably be the reporter for the Government, and the case will be published serial, in his unobtrusive but very valuable serial,

In consequence of the new developments regarding the testimony given in the Assassination trial, efforts are being made to obtain the release of Spangier, of Ford's Theatre, who was sent to the Dry Tortugas, being tound guilty of being accessory after the fact in the murder of Mr. Lincoln. Spangier, however, is known to being accessory after the fact in the murder of Mr. Lincoln. Spangler, however, is known to ask for a civil trial rather than a pardon, being more desirous, he says, of establishing his innocence than of merely obtaining his release. It would be a rich treat for those who love to follow the intricacles of conflicting testimonies to see the witnesses who swore at the old Penitertiary under protection, subjected to an unfetter ed cross-examination in a free court of law.

The War in Europe.

The record of the chief events of the first week of the European war shows thus far a success of the Prussian armies which meets, if it does not surpass, the boldest expectations of the friends of Prussia.

On the 14th of June the middle States of Germany, by voting for the Austrian motion in Frankfort, had declared their readiness to join in a war against Prussia. On the 15th, Prussian troops had entered two of these States, Saxony and Hanover. One week later, on the 23d, the larger portion of both Kingdoms, including the capitals of of each, were in the hands of the victor. Kings, ministers, and armies were on the flight; and as to the army of Hanover, it even was still doubtful whether it could make good ts escape, as the Prussians had captured Cassel. which lies south of Hanover. The Grand Duchy of Hesse-Darmstadt, the Electorate of lesse-Cassel, and the Duchy of Nassau, had already shared the fate of Saxony and Hanover. A regiment of Hesse-Darmstadt is reported to have been cut to pieces, and the Elector of Hes-see-Cassel himself has been captured. The rapid and brilliant movements of the Prussians have thus far met with no opposition. The Austrians, who, on the first outbreak of hostilities, were expected to dispute the possession of sden, have not only not advanced into Saxny, but have even allowed the Prussians to advance from Saxony and Silesia, unopposed, in-to Bohemia. The allies of Austria among the German States were unable to comprehend the suses of this inactivity, and began to complain hat Austria had involved them in war without being able to protect them. The most powerrted to hesitate again whether sho should take in active part in the war or not. The main arnics of the contending parties are now confron-ing each other on the frontier of Silesia and mia. Some Austrian troops had advanced nto Silesia, but the latest dispatches are not only silent about their further progress, but speak, on the contrary, of the invasion of Bohemia by the Prussians. Benedek's plan was still kept strictly secret, but upon the further advance of the Prussians will soon become ap-

A part of Western Saxony has not yet been occupied by the Prussians, and there a concentration of Saxon and Austrian forces has taken place, which may at any time be joined by from fifty thousand to eighty thousand Bayarians, unless Bayaria should, after all, deem it safest keep out of the contest.

ender the command of Prince Alexander, of Hesse, has been concentrated at Frankfort. It asists of the contingents of Wurtenberg, Hesor Darmstadt, and several other small States, and of the Amstrian brigade Kalik, which, by a precipitate retreat from Holstein, has escaped the Prusslans. It expects to receive reinforce-ments from Bavaria, Hanover, and other States. ments from Bavaria, Hanover, and other Stater. In Italy, hostilities have barely commenced. A formal declaration of war had been issued by Italy on the 18th of June, and it was reported that the Italiam had crossed the Mincio without meeting with any resistance. But the plan of the Italian campaign has not yet been developed. Kossuth was at Florence, and had been received by the King. He will act in concert with Garibaldi: and these two names are a guarantee that we shall soon hear stirring news from the Southern frontier of Austria.—New York Tribune.

DEPARTURE OF THE EPHESUS,-The Norfolk Firginian gives the following account of the departure of the steamship Ephenes from that port for Europe direct:

"The levinthan has left us on her return to the "The levinthian has left us on her return to the white cliffs of Albion, and we wish her a safe, quick, and pleasant voyage to those tranquil shores. She took her departure from the wharf at Town Point about 13 o clock yesterday, (Monday,) decked in her gayest attire, all her colors flying, and accompanied by the cheers of a large throng of our first citizens, who had assembled at the wharf to hid her "God speed." She was pretty well loaded down with cotton, tobacco and other Southern commodities, and was drawat the what to hid har good seed.

The wall loaded down with cotton, tolseco and other Southern commodities, and was drawing nineteen feet alt and eleven forward. It took the big ship some time to furn in our narrow channel, but when she once got around and leaded seaward, she walked the waters at a proud and rapid stride, looking very grand and queenlike, indeed. She is at the present moment, no doubt, far out at sea, islantely pursuing her course across the trackless ocean, and being rocked in the cradle of the deep.

Col. Wm. Lambo the agent of the line, and the projector of the direct trade enterprise, went out as a passenger on the Ephanic, partly on business connected with the line, but principally on account of his health, which is rapidly failing, as he still suffers from the wound he received at Fort Fisher. We trust failing, as he still suffers from the be received at Fort Fisher. We trust the genial climate of Europe may restore him to us with the return of the Epdens, or some better vessel, re-invigorated in health.

And so ends the first chapter in direct trade with Norfolk,—and we can safely say that thus far it has been as successful as we could reasonably anticipate lender the present state of af-
