General Annesty.

The introduction of the bill, by Mr. Waugh, of Surry, granting a general atnnesty to certain classes of offenders against the law, during the prevalence of the war, strikes us as opportune and proper. There are times, when men's minds become intoxicated with excitement and entirely demoralized under the pressure of calamity, when the moral sense becomes becumed, and when they not without reason or restraint. Such was the case with many persons, during the late disastrous war. Now, since peace has returned and reason has resumed its place, many look back upon the past with deep sorrow and regret, and would be glad to blot from memory those acts of which they were guilty, in violation of law and right. Some of those acts were heinous and revolting, and would deserve the severest punishment under other sircumstances. Yet in those cases of the enforcement of civil law, which are likely to revive and embitter the present and the future, yet accomplish no real good in, correcting and improving society, it may be best for the sake of the future, that a may be best for the sake of the future, that a which are likely to revive and embitter the well be thrown over the entire past of that pe-riod, which only can be remembered by the innocent or guilty, with sorrow and bitterness.

Washington Speculations.

Just on the eve of the assembling of Congress, the letter-writers and papers are not sparing of their speculations as to the course of the President and the Radicals. We presume no one, except his advisers, can tell what Presm's course will be, before he ennacistos it officially. Still more difficult is it to guess what the Radicals will determine to Any amount of bitter and ungainly propositions will be made at once upon the opening of the session, but they will be committed to the investigation of Segmittees, and there they will alamber for months. The North is evidently in a fog as to what it may do. The premonitions of commercial distress at the North and the complications in Radical politics, may work out some more tangible, and we hope, safe method for the adjustment of national to the Senate proposing another ballot for Enwork out some more tangible, and we hope, difficulties, not yet developed.

For the Sentinel. The Tableaux at Holland's.

MERNA. Entrons :- I had the pleasure of witnessing, on Wednesday / wwening last, the 14th hat, an admirable and highly entertaining exhibition of Tablonux Vienata, at Holland's Church, ten miles South of this place. The young ladies and gentlemen of that vicinity were desirous of aiding the Memorial Association in giving to Southern soldiers known and honored graves. For this preiseworthy pur-pose, they projected this exhibition, and prose-cuted it, under many difficulties, to a successful issue. The old church at Holland's, now used as a Masonic Lodge, was nextly and comforta-bly fitted up for the occasion. A commodious stage was erected, and tastefully decorated, and at early candle-light the room was throng with spectators from the adjacent country. goodly number of young men from Raieigh were also in attendance, among whom were several amateur musicians, who enlivened the intervals between the scenes with fine music,rocal and instrumental.

The opening scene, entitled "Taking the First Degree," excited much merriment, especially among those of the audience who belonged to the Masonic fraternity. "The Muses," (repre-sented by nine beautiful young indice elegantly costumed, and crowned with flowers.) "The Evening Star," "The Statue Bride," "Autumn Leaves," and the "Exile of Siberia," were admirably conceived and executed. I must not forget to mention, as worthy of special com-mendation, the "Scene from Midsummer-Night's Dream," in which Oberon and Titiania prominently figure, the former seeking of the lafter.

-"a little changeling boy

To be his henchman."

This fairy scene was a perfect gam of a pic ture. Dress, attitude, grouping and all, were exquisite. This and several other scenes were warmly applauded and monoid.

"Woman's Rights" and "The Old Maid," were also admirable in their way, and elicited much laughter. In the former, a young hus band, pretty thoroughly hen-pecked, was murely seated darning a stocking, while his better-half was enjoying otium cum dignitate, with segar and newspaper. "The Old Maid," with a bonnet of the Jersey wagon style, and other apparel of antediluvian manufacture, acted her part to perfection, and the minor parts of this little pantomime were well sustained. I have witnessed, here in Raleigh, and else where, like exhibitions, gotten up with every facility at hand, for the arrangement of scenery and attire ; but I can frankly say, that none of them exceled these almost impromptu perform-ances of our rural friends. In the Tableaux line the town may well look to its laurels.-A pretty general wish has been expressed for repetition of these Tableaux at Holland's, but I have not learned whether they will be repeated or not. Quite a handsome sum was realized for the Memorial Association, and with fuller no-tice and better weather, still more could be ETE WITNESS. raised.

Great Meteoric Shower in England.

GREENWICH OBSERVATORT, England, Nov. 14, 6 A. M .- The expected meteoric showers were observed last night. At nine o'clock a few meteors fell ; at 11 o'clock they had increased in number and size, and between one and two o'clock this morning the maximum was reached. The night was clear, and the stars seve out in great numbers. The whole heavens were briliantly illuminated. The showers of meteors were of great beauty and brilliancy, and radiated from the constellation Leo, near the star Gamma Leonis. Their direction was mostly from the East to the West. The paths of the meteors were from three to four degrees in the North. Near Cras Major twinty or thirty were observed at one time, and crossing the zenith fifty or sixty more of unuscal size and duration, the majority being larger than stars of first magnitude. Several exoded from the visinity of Jupiter; one, of immense dimensions, wa colored red, blue, green, orange and amber,-Nearly all had trails of fire. Of two flaming from Leo at the same time, one crossed Beta Geminorum and the other Mars. Two more, one rod and the other of an oriental sapphire color, erossed Alpha Orionis,

Some of the meteors burst forth in splendor one, breaking behind the rising clouds, flashed like sheet lightning, and another of emerald hue burst near Etna Loonis at fifteen minutes after two o'clock, A. M., its trail of flame being visible for a minute and a halt, and then faded sway in brilliant nebulæ. At three A. M., they commenced to diminish gradually, until at the present moment, they are all, meteors and stars, fading away in the morning light. We counted five thousand in one hour, nearly twelve thou-sand in all, with the naked eye.

DIED: In this city, aloud if o'clock to-day, Eans, younger sughter of Rev. Dr. Skinner, in the 155s, year of he
