GEORGE FRANCIS TRAIN IN THE GOLD ROOM—A TALK ON MONEY.

(From the New York World, March 29.]

On Wednesday, George Francis Train, Esq., in a casual visit to the gold room, was called on for a speech upon the finances and upon expansion of the currency, and responded as follows:

ADDRESS OF MR. TRAIN.

In 1860, we had recovered from the financial panic of 1857, and had not commenced the panic of rebellion, and of war. Prosperity all over the land; five million bales of cotton on a thousand plantations; five million tons of shipping on every ocean; agriculture well to do; manufacturers prosperous; banks and insurance companies paying good dividends; railroads succeeding; the petroleum wells just being developed; sixty millions of gold sent us annually from the Pacific mines; the stock market giving a harvest to the brokers—(applause)—the dry goods merchants making money; in short prosperity all over the land, and yet all done on a currency of two hundred and fifty millions. (Applause; "That's so.") Now, then, for another picture: 1867—five million tons of shipping wiped off the sea by England's neutrality; no five millions of cotton in the South; three hundred millions sunk in petroleum; the gold mining companies played out. (Laughter.) I mean but the inventor who confidently put his $10,000 in Colorado, Idaho, Montana and Nevada, has never seen his money. ("That's so.") Where there is plenty of quartz there are no stamps, no mills—and where there are plenty of mills there is no quartz. (Applause and laughter.) Agricultural products are not doing well. The crops have not been flourishing—woolen and other manufactories are suspending payment.—Insurance Companies are failing. Steamship property is dying out. The rottenest security in the street is your so-called gilt-edged paper. The rich men are all poor.—They are first to call their loans. Those patriotic Radicals who put their money into Southern cotton plantations, have planted it there forever. (Laughter.) The West is not paying up promptly. The South have nothing to pay. The bonded warehouses are full of foreign goods not yet paid for. The country is stocked with merchandise. The gold market, as you see it to-day—(loud laughter)—fifty millions sunk in the stock exchange, that financial Morgue of the land—(laughter)—since January, in short, paralysis everywhere—the dry rot in Wall street is the new disease—brokers' market—nobody paying expenses—checks exchanged to show life—all loans on call—no business doing—no industrial enterprises going on—no confidence anywhere, and all this on an expansion of One Thousand Millions—make your own inferences—gentlemen; (sensation)—shall I go on—(cries of yes)—another point. When the old banking companies of England organized under the Limited Liability act they were all or most of them insolvents—as instanced by Overend, Gurney & Co.—Our old banks were in the same position when Mr. Chase, the largest head, the longest head of his party, created the national banking system; to make himself President. (Applause.) You remember he put his handsome photograph on the one dollar notes to circulate among the people.—(Laughter.)

Our national banks, like the English Limited Liability act, were the salvation of most of the rotten banks of the country. [Sensation.] Take their loans this time last year, 1866—five hundred millions. Take them now, 1867—six hundred and twenty millions. Of course, I said, as they have increased their loans, they have added to their capital only twenty-five millions. I found, leaving one hundred millions more now than when expanded last year. What is this loaned on? On Erie at 90, Northwestern at 80, Cumberland coal at 70, Pacific Mail at 180 and Pork at 50.—(Laughter.) The last panic was peculiar—usually we outsiders caught it. This time you insiders got cleaned out. (Applause and "that's so.") Men who had accumulated their two hundred to five hundred thousand dollars in small sums these last few years, buried it all in the Greenwood Cemetery of the Stock Exchange. The Comptroller is abroad; he is after the delinquents; 1,700 of these institutions are in a flurry; already the big loans are called in, and the street will feel the shock within a week.—The recent national bank failures in Washington, Baltimore, Oil Wells, Newton, Hudson, Boston and Nashville, are only the pimples, the slight eruption on the skin, that tells the experienced eye the painful disease that is struggling within. (Applause.) These banks were established on a ten per cent. margin, $100,000 bonds gave $90,000 notes. This margin is lost, and 23 per cent. more, as showed by the loan account, one hundred million more than last year. (Sensation.)

When the country understands this they will sell governments. Then look abroad. Five hundred millions of our securities in Europe on call—nominally held at 74—or 6 per cent., in gold, while the rottenest security is the old world, 3 per cent. British Consols are selling at 91. That shows how little they think of our bonds. They are simply deposited there and drawn against—a simple kytering operation, which you understand. (Laughter.) When you want to see what is going to happen abroad, look at the never-falling barometer down there in the southeastern part of Europe, the Eastern question. All say peace, yet five millions of breech-loaders, of needle-guns, are being made. When war breaks out, as likely in London or Paris, as in Greece or Turkey, back come the bonds. Send home, not $500,000,000, but $20,000,000, and the dozen international bankers will rush to the governments slaughter-house to sell, and the amount will soon be exaggerated to $200,000,000. Suppose they meet there some of the liquidating national bank heads, and other frightened holders of the bonds, all rushing to sell—who is going to buy? Shall I go on? (Cries of "Yes.") Remember that the ball was taken up on margins. We subscribed $10,000 and borrowed $9,500 and kept the mill going all day, making the man with $10,000 capital talk and act like the millionaire.

The public is a bull on governments only when above par—when below par, they are bears. Let governments drop to par, and down they go to 80. Then national bank notes are 1 per cent. discount. Then comes the rush on national banks for greenbacks. [Sensation.] What is the result? Does Congress help us? No—the lawyers are in power; what do they care? They add $400,000,000 to the debt, and advance their own salaries to $5,000. Is the South to be admitted under the military bill? Stevens holds the reins; confiscation is the order.—The estates are to be cut up among the Germans, and the negroes wiped out. Where are we floating? Congress sees McCulloch has made a mistake, and as it is an administration blunder, the Radicals intend to pass no bill of relief. They will pinch the country this year and bring on a financial crash in the fall—(remember this is the panic year of the never-failing screws)—lay it on the administration policy, and when everything is broken, Congress will meet in the winter and pass Randall's bill, putting greenbacks in the place of the $340,000,000 national bank bonds; pass another bill paying duties on imports in greenbacks, and then another bill paying interest on the 1,400,000,000 five twenties in legal tenders—in other words, give the country one currency. That is twenty-five hundred millions of legal tenders, instead of sixteen currencies as at present. [Applause.] This makes all happy for the Presidential election of 1868. Delirium tremens requires national whisky to recuperate the system. The whisky will make all vote for Radicalism. They elect the President, and after that the deluge. [Laughter and applause.] Johnson, in his talk with Halpine—the Democratic party and the South, thinks that a crash will burst the Radicals. By no means. They will turn it to their advantage.

The next war is to be financial. Land and labor against banks and bondholders—and the former own the notes. The South had no debt; the West little. The greenback age wiped off their mortgages, and placed the load on the back of the bondholders. The debt rests uneasily on the seashore and in Europe, and the shadow is on the wall. Paying gold interest in greenbacks is repudiation, you say. Why so?—Nearly all the States have done it, New York taking the lead. The finality of all the recent Congressional legislation may be stated in two words: Confiscation in the South and repudiation in the North. (Sensation.) The Chicago papers have already sounded the tocsin. We are growing poorer every day. The $2,500,000,000 debt only cost $1,250,000,000. Hence bondholders ask specie payments. The people who did the fighting hold no bonds, and ask for legal tenders. The rich arranged to have their bonds free from taxation. Hence, the rich man, with his millions untaxed by government, sends his children to the same school where the poor man with no bonds sends his. Hence the poor man is obliged to pay for the education of the rich man's children as well as for his own. (Sensation.) But enough of this. You have asked me for a speech and you have got it. You have been dancing five years and the fiddler demands his pay. (Laughter.) When the candle is lighted at both ends, you had better sell it short.

WE OFFER TO THE PUBLIC THIS CELEbrated Oil, and in doing so we unhesitatingly pronounce it superior to ANY BURNING OIL IN USE. It is Non-Explosive. Free from Grease. It will not grease the lamps. It will not soil or grease the clothing. It is more brilliant than Gas. It produces a soft and beautiful light. It is not so trying to the eyes. It can be used in any Kerosene Lamp by adopting our LIGHT HOUSE OR RATCHET BURNERS.

It has been most favorably received, and pronounced by judges to be the

THE BEST AND MOST RELIABLE OIL now in the market; and in consequence of the many serious accidents arising from the EXPLOSION OF KEROSENE, this Oil is extensively known and used in preference.

We are now prepared to furnish the trade with this valuable Oil, and we solicit from the public an examination and trial.

We have on hand a large stock of

and can supply the trade on liberal terms.

First Premium Awarded at the Louisiana State Fair held in New Orleans, from Nov. 20 to 27th, 1866, against all Competitors.
