THE SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, PROPRIETOR.

[From the Montgomery Advertiser of the 2nd.]

GEN. POPE ASSUMES COMMAND.

We publish below the order of General Pope assuming command of the third military district composed of the States of Georgia, Alabama and Florida. Civil officers are retained and the existing State government are not interfered with. We feel that we can safely say that our people, both private citizens and officers, will strive, by a conscientious performance of all duties devolving upon them, to promote the public peace and to avoid collisions with the military powers. The chief aim of the Government seems to be to restore the States to the Union under the terms of the Sherman law, and we presume steps will soon be taken to that end.

HEAD'QRS THIRD MILITARY DISTRICT, MONTGOMERY, ALA., April 1st, 1867.

Orders No. 1.

In compliance with General Orders No. 13, dated Headquarters of the Army, March 15th, 1867, the undersigned assumes command of the Third Military District, which comprises the States of Alabama, Georgia and Florida.

The Districts of Georgia and Alabama will remain as at present constituted and with their present commanders, except that the headquarters of the District of Georgia will be forthwith removed to Milledgeville.

The District of Key West is hereby merged into the District of Florida, which will be commanded by Col. John T. Sprague, 7th U. S. Infantry.

The headquarters of the District of Florida are removed to Tallahassee, to which place the District Commander will transfer his quarters without delay.

II. The civil officers at present in office in Georgia, Florida and Alabama will retain their offices until the expiration of their terms of service, unless otherwise directed in special cases, so long as justice is impartially and faithfully administered. It is hoped that no necessity may arise for the interposition of the military authorities in the civil administration; and such necessity can only arise from the failure of the civil tribunals to protect the people, without distinction, in their rights of person and property.

III. It is to be clearly understood, however, that the civil officers thus retained in office shall confine themselves strictly to the performance of their official duties; and whilst holding their offices, they shall not use any influence whatever to deter or dissuade the people from taking an active part in reconstructing their State governments under the act of Congress to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, and the act supplementary thereto.

IV. No elections will be held in this Military District, except such as are provided for in the act of Congress, and in the manner therein established; but all vacancies in civil offices which now exist, or which may occur by expiration of the terms of office of the present incumbent, before the prescribed registration of voters is completed, will be filled by appointment of the General commanding the district. JOHN POPE,

Maj. Gen. Comd'g.

A correspondent of a Northern Republican paper, writing from Charleston, says:

"It is very clear to any one who has watched the political current in this quarter of late, that the colored men will not vote as a unit. There is quite a large number of them who were free before the war, and who hold themselves partially aloof from the rest.—These, to a man, announce their determination to stand by the old white residents in whatever action they may take. On the other hand, there is a more numerous party, composed chiefly of idlers from the plantations, who have found their way into the city, where they live from hand to mouth, who are convinced that their release from daily toil was accomplished by the Radical Party of the North, and who may therefore be relied upon to vote and act with the men who represent and are indorsed by that party. But the most numerous class of all is made up of sensible freedmen, who are now earning a living by honest labor, who are intelligent enough to think for themselves, and to act as they believe their own interests dictate. Perhaps if they followed their own impulse merely, they might imitate the example of their shiftless and improvident brethren from the country, and give their support to the Radical candidates. But it must be borne in mind that these men derive their subsistence almost entirely from white employers, and they will take heed how they put their livelihood in jeopardy, for the sake of what, to them, is now a mere political abstraction. In view of these facts I find that the shrewdest observers here are of opinion that either a majority of the blacks will be found supporting the whites at the polls, or that if this should not be the case, the freedmen's vote will be divided so as to become a matter of little comparative importance. It is true in Charleston and along the sea coast, it is even more so in the interior, where the freedmen are less exposed to the influence of political agitators. The gatherings of negroes that have lately taken place to listen to harangues from orators, white and black, were rather tame affairs, having been gotten up in the interest of a few would be aspirants for colored population."

THE ARKANSAS RADICAL STATE CONVENTION.—LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 3.—The State Union Convention has been in session all day and evening. A platform, with resolutions, was adopted of an ultra radical character, approving the Congressional plan of reconstruction and readmission to the Union. Resolutions condemning the President, opposing confederation, and recommending a constitutional convent towards rebels, were tabled. A State Central Committee was appointed and instructed to establish State Union organizations. The committee to wait on General Ord reported that he heartily approved the object of the Convention, and was desirous of co-operating with them. The Convention will doubtless adjourn to-morrow.

Pending the Convention a large meeting of freedmen was held in the State House square. Several delegates and speakers addressed them. Great enthusiasm prevailed, and no disturbance was exists.

A gentleman putting a lazy servant woman was asked whether she was "afraid of work?" Oh, not at all," said he, "she'll frequently lie down and fall asleep by it."
