VOL. II. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY EVENING, APRIL 10, 1867. NO. 207.

THE SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, PROPRIETOR.

[From the Pensacola Observer, 30th.]

PUBLIC MEETING AT PENSACOLA, FLORIDA—VIEWS OF HON. S. R. MALLORY—THE COLORED PEOPLE AROUSED.

Pursuant to a call, in our issue of the 28th, a large concourse of white and colored citizens assembled in the public square at an early hour in the evening. The meeting was organized and presided over by Hon. Charles H. Gingles.

We will not attempt to give a detailed account of the speeches, all of which tended to the same point, to impress the colored people with the injury which they were doing themselves in separating themselves from the old citizens by their secret political organizations. By a couple of evil-disposed, designing persons, in our community, they were led to believe that their rights would not be conceded to them by Southern men, and that it was necessary for them to form leagues, take oaths of secrecy, and elect one of them. This meeting had the effect of disabusing their minds on that subject, and so thoroughly exposing the contemptible objects of their white leaders, who live in the community by the money they can borrow or otherwise obtain from them, that they left with their eyes opened, discussing among themselves the truthful remarks which fell upon their ears.

Mr. Mallory, being loudly and repeatedly called upon, mounted the stand and earnestly addressed the meeting. He briefly adverted to our State, and her prostrate condition, under the recent legislation of Congress, and counselled submission in good faith. There is no degradation in the submission of a gallant people when further resistance would be madness. At the South, where negroes constitute, and specially in Florida, where they will, for yet a long period, constitute nearly a moiety of our population, the ballot, qualified or otherwise, was a natural consequence of their enfranchisement—a result which would not follow their freedom in the Northern States, where, in point of numbers, they were unimportant. As the negro was now entitled to vote, it was the interest of the State that he should be educated and enlightened, and made to comprehend the priceless value of the ballot, and the importance to himself and the State of its judicious use. The prosperity of the State must depend upon the virtue and intelligence of her people, and no wise man will hesitate to do all in his power to elevate and improve the character and condition of the colored race, between whom and the Southern people an indestructible bond of sympathy, based upon a thousand happy memories, exists.—Let us fully and frankly acknowledge, as well by deeds as by words, their equality with us, before the law, and regard it as no less just to ourselves and them than to our State and her best interest to aid in their education, elevation, and enjoyment of all the rights which follow their new condition.

He then earnestly addressed the colored people present, pointing out to them that henceforth they and the white man must tread the same onward path, and their political and industrial interests inseparably blended.

He counselled them against secret political societies, and their organization for party purposes upon the basis of race or color, as destructive of the interests alike of black and white; while they were met and treated in a spirit of manly frankness by their old masters, and by the Southern people generally, such societies were only organized by designing men to abuse their confidence for selfish ends.

He advised them to seek the best advice they could as to the question at issue, and the merits of candidates, and to cast their ballots accordingly. Returning to their late condition, he pointed out to them that with their liberty they assumed the responsibility of supporting themselves and families, educating their children, and accumulating for old age by honest industry; and that now, when the "old plantation," its smoke house and crib, were no longer a happy refuge, industry and an honest effort to show themselves worthy to be called freemen were expected of them by every friend they had, North or South.

The next speaker was J. D. Wolfe, Esq., who had served through the war in the Federal army and was an officer in a negro regiment. He depicted to them, in forcible terms, the danger of arraying themselves as a class for any man, or upon any issue, and reasoned with them upon the good which must result to them by their adopting a course which would identify them with the community with which they resided. This, he said, could only be effected by free and open intercourse, by consultation upon the leading questions of the day, and as to the fitness of the candidates who were soliciting their suffrage.

Mr. Wolfe was followed by Haya Sutterwaite, a respectable colored man, who, as he said, came here from old Virginia in 1827. He said he was proud of Florida, and proud of the many white folks and gentlemen of standing, whom he knew at Tallahassee and other parts; that whether as a slave or freeman he had always been treated well, and that he did not want his colored brethren to do anything which would destroy the friendly relations which always existed. He told them he did not want to see them form separate societies; that they should consult the white folks, and look upon them as friends; that they must not run into dark holes and corners, and take the advice of those they knew nothing about, and that if they wanted to get along well "they must come out of the shade; come out in the pure air, before the light of Heaven, and be free men before God, exercise the judgment He gave them, and be no slaves as before. That day is past, and gone. The light of freedom shines the same on the black man as the white man. It is the white man's interest to protect the black man, and the black man's to make friends of the white man, and vote for the best man." He concluded his speech amid shouts of applause.

Upon motion of Mr. Anderson, the meeting was adjourned to convene on Saturday night.

AT THE WONDERFUL REVELATIONS

MADE BY THE GREAT ASTROLOGIST,

Madame H. A. PERRIGO,

She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doubtful events, catastrophes, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person, portrays your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unravels the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the multitudes that overcome or predominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity. Consultation fee, with likeness and all desired information $1. Parties living at a distance can consult the Madame by mail with equal safety and satisfaction to themselves, as if in person. MEDICINES.

SAUNDERS'

CATHARTIC AND ALTERATIVE PILLS.

RECOMMENDED BY THE BEST PHYSICIANS. Purely Vegetable. No Calomel in them. Never Gripe, being Coated with Gum Tolu are perfectly tasteless.

For regulating the Bowels, and for the cure of Bilious Fever, Bilious Headache, Constipation or Costiveness, Jaundice, Indigestion, Piles, Dysentery, Liver Diseases, Rheumatism, Loss of Appetite, Sick Headache, and all diseases where a mild Cathartic medicine is required.

Dr. W. P. Mallett, who has so extensive a practice as a Physician in North Carolina, has prescribed it in Fevers, and Gen. W. J. Hardee, the distinguished Tactician and Professor of Geography in the University of North Carolina, has assisted the Proprietor in perfecting the formula, and recommends it as a safe and valuable Cathartic.

An Abstract Patent is registered under the Department Organ, or of the agent, gratuitously.

For the vexed question as to the most wholesome and effectual Tonic for the world, in connection with Cathartic Pills, we refer to the following letter and testimonials, showing the system is rendered free from Malaria, Chills and Fever, and other diseases, attendant upon Miasmatic influences, by the combined action of these Pills and Saunders' Concentrated Tonic Bitters.
