THE SENTINEL.

W. E. PELL, PROPRIETOR.

From the Richmond Enquirer.

PRIZES DRAWN.—A "Rural Friend" thus describes two beautiful miniature houses which (being raffled off at the Bazaar) were won, the first by Miss Salina Hoddy, and the other by Mr. J. Oscar Goode:

"We next observed a miniature cottage and farm-yard, beautifully made, by a Mrs. Shackelford, of North Carolina. Mrs. S. deserved much credit for the skill she displayed in carrying out the design of a North Carolina cottage and farm yard."

This little building is beautifully ornamented with the bunting of the North Carolina pine, and is as exquisitely tasty in design as it is elegant in workmanship. We learn that the winner contemplates raffling it off again, and presenting half of the proceeds to the Bazaar.

We then turned again to the left, and beheld the prettiest thing in the fair-room, and which seemed to be the centre of attraction—excepting, of course, the pretty young ladies with white aprons. Edging our way through the crowd we obtained a good view of a most beautiful miniature city residence; certainly the prettiest thing of the kind ever one beheld. It is about three feet long and nearly as wide, two stories high, and contains seven rooms and two halls, with doors in each room communicating with the halls. On the front view is a porch the length of the house, with four columns, and a beautiful railing around the top of the porch. The doors are panelled. On the front door is a silver plate, on which is beautifully engraved the name of the little boy who gave it to the Bazaar—Newell Hill. It has a door-bell; is in perfect order, and seems to be the object of curiosity to both young and old. Looking in at the front door, we saw a pair of stairs carpeted, and with stair-rods. The house is completely furnished with dining-room, parlor, chamber and nursery furniture. On the front porch is an old couple, looking very happy in the possession of such a beautiful home, and surrounded by children and grandchildren. The yard is very beautifully laid off with walks, fountains, circles, arbors, and a swing with a little girl in it. Entering the gate is a couple in a double buggy, just returning from a drive; and in the porch is another couple enjoying a bliss only known to courtly persons. Taking it altogether, it is the most complete thing we have ever seen, and the greatest centre of attraction for all. We were much surprised to hear that partly the whole of it was made with a pen-knife, and tack-hammer, and without the use of a square or measure of any kind; and, more wonderful still, by a gentleman who has had no experience as an architect or a mechanic. We can only say he ought to follow his talents."

"We saw a large placard on the roof of the house.—"For safety and success applying to the young lady in charge, (Miss Hill) we were surprised to hear that the chances were only six cents, a large number of which have been taken. We have several chances in it, and are confident of winning it. If so, what an excitement it will create in the country! All the little folks, far and near, will flock to see it."

The Dayton (O.) Empire is advised of a case in one of the public schools of that city, most revolting to humanity, wherein a female teacher flogged a little fellow until he fainted—striking him about fifty one blows on the hand. And that is said not to be the first instance of brutality by the same teacher. Such instances of female ferocity in the school room are becoming very frequent. The schools of Massachusetts and Ohio are gaining unequalled distinction by reason of them.

The New York correspondent of an English paper states that "the ladies of Boston outstrip the ladies of New York." So says the Home Journal. But if the "ladies of Boston" really do what is said of them, trade must be dull in the dry goods establishments of that city.

A negro woman left her two little children locked up in her room in Philadelphia, and the following chapter of incidents ensued:—The children set fire to the room while playing with matches, and they were both suffocated to death, a fireman, while endeavoring to extinguish the flames, was struck on the head with an iron hook and killed, and the house of Dr. Clinton, in the vicinity, caught fire from a spark of a steam fire engine at work on the first fire and was almost entirely destroyed.

FAIR PLAY.—The position of Senator Wilson that the outside States in meeting time should be allowed by Congress will be restored to Congress. On that platform the senator may defy "Old Ned" and all his followers—N. Y. Herald.

The New York Homes not only gives accounts of the "handsome" weddings in the "commercial metropolis"—but actually publishes the "engagements" existing between ladies and gentlemen, with the names in full.

The Georgia Lunatic Asylum, at Milledgeville, is full, and the public are notified that no additional admissions can be received.

A new and important branch of South Carolina industry is developing in the swamps of North Carolina and Virginia, from which large quantities of peat are now extracted. In the Dismal Swamp peat can be marketed at $1.50 per ton, which now costs $6 in New York.

A gentelman of St. Louis recently dressed himself as a female, and called upon a fortune-telling proprie. He was made unhappy by being assured that he would make money and become the mother of ten children.

The young Princess of Prussia, who is the daughter of Queen Victoria, has a telegraphic office in her palace at Berlin, and converses daily with her mother through the wires.

A patriotic Federal lawyer, name Hessey, refused to argue a case in Savannah last week, because there was a picture of the late Confederate flag hanging in the wall.

The counsel on the other side hoped the legal adviser's feeling would be consulted, as the notorious picture doubtless called up many disagreeable reminiscences to the gentleman's mind.

A Michigan paper says there is not an attorney to be found in some of the towns of that State to roll a wheelbarrow down hill, on a plank road.
