VOL. II. RALEIGH, N. C., MONDAY, JUNE 17, 1867. NO. 264.

"THE SENTINEL."

WM. E. PELL, PROPRIETOR.

[The following remarks from the Richmond Enquirer are as applicable to certain men and to the condition of things, in North Carolina, as they are to the latitude of Virginia:]

THE CONSPIRATORS ELATED.

We understand that Botts is jubilant over the harmonizing process to which the discordant elements of Virginia radicalism were subjected the other night in a gubernatorial backroom. Black spirits and white, blue spirits and gray have mingled. Peirpoint and Hunnicutt have hugged, Botts and the negroes have kissed, and the terms of the common conspiracy against the State of Virginia have been agreed upon, and the hunt is now to be actively prosecuted.

The issue presented by these people is,—Botts, Cæsar, Peirpoint, Hunnicutt, et als vs. the State and people of Virginia. It is a conspiracy of hungry office-hunters and land-grabbers against the people of the Commonwealth, the tenure of property, and the sanctity of constitutions and laws.—They call themselves a party. In a sinister sense they are. But it needs no party to oppose them. The people of Virginia will unite to put them down without any formal programme;—the sentiment of virtuous abhorrence, and the instinct of self-defence will suffice. The contest will be waged as it has begun,—the conspirators versus the State.

In his speech on Wednesday night Senator Wilson broadly claimed that the State would be dragged down in the coming struggle, and that Botts and his scarcely less hungry followers will capture the Treasury, and riot on the spoils of the people. What the sword of the military and the interference of Freedmen's bureaus may be made to do we know not; but with the slightest pretence of fair play, the unholy condition can never rule in Virginia. It is said that the geysers, even when quiescent, may be stimulated to eruption by rolling a stone into the cavity. The furious waters at once shoot out, driving the stone before them. Botts has a similar effect on the Virginia people. Attempt to force him on them, and instantly there is an eruption which throws him high in air.

We, therefore, call on our people, and admonish them in the name of Botts to register. Let no man neglect this. Let Committees be appointed in every neighborhood of every county, to see that every Virginian is registered. Think of Botts and register! It is not necessary, as we have said, to adopt platforms and pass resolutions. We will all know how to vote for good and trustworthy men without that. Invite all colored persons to unite with us who desire to live on friendly and peaceable terms, and will be content with equal justice and kind treatment. Those who have designs on our farms, are Botts' lawful followers,—and ought to begin by taking his.

We entreat our citizens, now that the time of registering is at hand, to set on foot the necessary agencies for clean work in this matter. The conspiracy on foot against the peace, dignity and dearest interests of the State, will suffice to arouse the veriest sleeper in the land, whence once he is told of it.

GERRIT SMITH is out in a long letter, vindicating his signing of Mr. Davis's bail-bond. He discusses various themes, saying many very excellent things, and some very foolish things. The South he considers in a very low and semi-heathen state, and under everlasting obligations to the refined North for the good work wrought by the late war! We can, of course, never be sufficiently grateful for the gentle attentions and the Christian charities dispensed by Sherman's bummers, and the beauty and fertility which yet mark their track.

But leaving the stuff of this sort with which Gerrit comforts his self-complacency, he discourses more like a sensible man when he treats of the mode of wiping out the recollection of the late hostilities. He, indeed, talks about exacting and requiring this and that of the South, in the true spirit of fanatical self-conceit and lawlessness; but in other expressions we hear sentiments worthy of a wise man and a Christian. He says:

"The North must relieve the disfranchised class of the Southern whites of their political disabilities. No possible good can come from this disfranchisement, and its effect on both blacks and whites are bad, very bad. Instead of diminishing the political influence of its subjects, it does, by means of the sympathy which it begets for them, increase it. It is true that the intent of the disfranchisement was not to set the blacks above the whites, but the loyal above the disloyal. Nevertheless, it does set the blacks above the whites; and, by thus irritating the one and inflating the other, it works evil to both.—In the next place, the North must hasten to put an end to these threats of confiscation. Congress ought to say without one dissenting voice, and at the earliest day, that there should be no confiscation. The disfranchisement to which I have just referred is galling, and, as the masses believe, insulting to its subjects. But these threats, paralyzing the industry of the South, and making even her bread uncertain, are infinitely less bearable. They are fatally in the way of her material prosperity. With the cloud they bring upon her titles she can neither sell her lands nor borrow upon them.—What could be a more trying disability to an agricultural people who are destitute of money? That strong and patriotic man, Thaddeus Stevens, would have certain losses of loyal men repaired. I would myself be glad to see a liberal per centage paid upon them. He would provide the means out of confiscation and at the expense of the nation. There are three things which, in urging confiscation, Mr. Stevens seems to forget. First, that the North, as well as the South, was guilty of the war; second, that while the North is still very rich, the South, exhausted by that war, for which the North in common with herself was responsible, is exceedingly poor; third, that confiscation once inflicted upon, it will be difficult, if not impossible, to set limits to the spread of its demoralizing power. The spirit of lawless greed engendered by confiscation will no more stop at State or other lines than will the flame of a prairie-fire at the word of command.

Let there be confiscation in the South for the benefit of these, Mr. Stevens' loyal slaves, and also for the benefit of the poor blacks, as he also proposes, and very soon, under its debauching influence, immense numbers at the North will be clamoring, in the name of "Agrarianism," "Equalization" and other taking names, for their neighbor's possessions. All these the conservative must be remembered, will kindle the spirit of robbery, as can none of the poor possessions of the desolated South. Our government is getting in the way of buying territory.—There is a purchase it can make which would be immeasurably more important and profitable than the purchase of any territory. Let it buy the Southern heart, worth more to us than a thousand Alaskas, nay, than all Russia."

MADE BY THE GREAT ASTROLOGIST,

Madame H. A. PERRIGO.

She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doleful events, catastrophes, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person. She reveals your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the maleficstars that overcome or predominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity. Consultation fee, with likeness and all desired information, $1. Parties living at a distance can consult the Madame by mail with equal safety and satisfaction to themselves, as if in person. A full and explicit chart, written out, with all inquiries answered and likeness enclosed, sent by mail on receipt of price above mentioned. The strictest secrecy will be maintained, and all correspondence returned or destroyed. References of the highest order furnished those desiring them. Write plainly the day of the month and year in which you were born, enclosing a small lock of hair.

THE

AMERICAN BITTERS.

The Great Southern Tonic,

AND THE MOST PALATABLE STOMACHIC EVER USED.

FOR THE CURE OF DYSPEPSIA, DISORDERed Digestion, Flatulency, Sluggish Circulation of the Blood, Bilious Complaints arising from a morbid condition of the stomach and bowels. An Elegant Tonic in debilitated states of the Digestive Organs, or of the system generally. For the loss of appetite it is the most wholesome and effectual Tonic in use. It strengthens nature and reinforces the system to triumph over disease. In watchfulness attended with tremors and general nervous derangement, it is peculiarly salutary, giving strength and tone to the nerves. As a female tonic and laxative it is invaluable—and as a Blood Purifier and Alterative Tonic is without a rival. This should be used by Planters in Bilious districts. It is the oldest scientific and well known Preparation in the Southern states, testified to by great names, besides many others who have been greatly benefited by the use of these Bitters.
