THE SENTINEL.

RADICAL RECONSTRUCTION.

The briefest and most emphatic speech upon the supplemental military reconstruction bill, at the late session of the Senate, was that of Senator Nye, to wit; that there could be no reconstruction until after the last rebel was dead. General Pope has adopted this theory, and would apply it practically in the administration of his government over Georgia and Alabama. His letter to General Grant shows, positively and clearly, that reconstruction under the acts of Congress will necessarily be a total failure. The reason is, as he shows, that the white people of those States do not recognize the new sovereignty created over them by a Radical and Congress. Many of them—perhaps a majority, if not disfranchised—refuse to take any part in reorganization under military negro dictation. But even of those who do take a part, many hope for reaction, and will aid in it as soon as possible. General Pope is quite certain, therefore, that forcible and partial reconstruction will be of no permanent avail. He intimates that the true plan of reconstruction must be by sending out of the country all the white people who participated in, or approved of, secession. Then the freedmen, and military, and the Radical office-holders will have the undisturbed and undisputed control of the State governments. It will be seen, therefore, that there must be another supplement to the reconstruction acts, declarative of the true meaning and intent of those acts. Senator Nye's scheme, as improved and urged by General Pope, may, after all, prove to have been the true intent and meaning of the reconstruction acts.—Nat. Intelligencer.

[The following is published for the sake of its clever humor, and for that only. It will doubtless amuse some of our Episcopal friends.]

[From the Southern Churchman.]

THE PAN-ANGLICAN COUNCIL.

Many of our charming ladies are still much puzzled as to the meaning of the Pan Anglican that is to come off in Lambeth Palace in September.

Some of the blue-stocking order think that it must have something to do with the heathen god Pan, perhaps to celebrate the festival of his conversion to Christianity many years ago. No such thing, ladies; Pan never was converted, and never will be; no cloven footed saint, we trust, will ever have a place in the Anglo-Catholic Calendar. Pan was indeed a cherished deity among the shepherds of the good old Pagan times, and was worshipped with much music, choral and instrumental; but we hope that our Shepherds know better than to worship false gods.

Again, some of the ladies, who have to do their own cooking now-a days, want to know if the name is suggestive of a frying-pan, thinking that as the Apostles were fishermen, their successors might perhaps like to fry the fish caught out of so many sees.

No such thing, ladies; the idea is irreverent; and we fervently hope that none of the fish may "jump out of the frying pan into the fire."

To give a dog-latin definition to a Greek word, it means omnium gatherum of all Bishops of the Anglican Creed; and as we, in the old Colonial days, were in the diocese of the Bishop of London, (though not often favored with episcopal visitations,) the Bishops of the American Church have been invited to cross the seas to represent their sees in the great See of Canterbury.—Let us hope that so many sees and seas will have placid waters, and that no Jonah may be found in the ships to get up a storm and disturb the tranquility of the passage; in which case, if he should be thrown overboard, we hope a benevolent whale may be found to swallow him alive and throw him up on Anglican shores; and when safely disgorged, may be preach a faithful message to the Ministers.

Some folks think that perhaps Southern Bishops had better stay at home to care for their afflicted and dying flocks in these days of sore distress and pestilence, and not tax their exhausted resources to pay for pleasure-trips across the Episcopal seas. But may it not be that the hat (not the Cardinal's hat) will be passed around at Lambeth, to pay all expenses, and bring back overflowing supplies of material aid and comfort. In which latter case, why October gales be propitious to waft back our beloved fathers to their bereaved and hungry flocks.

The only suggestion we dare to make in so grave a matter is, that our oldest and most venerable Bishops should be sent abroad and leave the young brethren to bear the heat and burden of the day. But it is often the case that young Bishops, as young Deacons, like to sport Virgin Lawn and Silk on all occasions, great and small.—The infirmity is more natural than commendable; but we doubt not that old heads are often found on young shoulders, even among Bishops.

We wish the Pan-Anglican great success, and insist upon a return of the compliment next year; and would suggest that the "See of Buffalo," being near Niagara, would be the most suitable point at which to convoke a monster Pan-American, that the mighty Cataract may lend its deep bass to the thundering choral-service inaugurating the grand meeting of the sees.

A COUNTRY CURATE.

A GOOD DESCRIPTION OF STANTON.—I heard a gentleman high in office here express himself thus to-day: "I have always looked upon Stanton as I would regard the big mean boy at school. The big boy glories in whipping all the little boys that come in his way, but avoids boys of his own size. So with Stanton. With inferior subordinates he was tyrannical and exacting—he would bully them until they became almost mad—but with his peers and superiors he was cringing and obsequious. Morally and physically he was a coward, and only dared play the role of a courageous man when he had, or felt he had, a party at his back and power to succeed. In less than a month this lofty Stanton will be dead as a mackerel." It is surprising how many people here express themselves in similar terms.—Herald telegram.
