THE SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, PROPRIETOR.

FROM THE NEW YORK HERALD.

THE COUNTER REVOLUTION COMING AT LAST.

It is an old axiom that "revolutions never go backward," but it is none the less true that when a revolutionary movement is pushed beyond its legitimate limits, the party concerned in it declines by a popular counter-revolution. It was when the great French Revolution of 1792 fell into the hands of the Jacobins, and when they attempted to shape it according to their monstrous notions of "liberty, equality and fraternity."

An equally excessive reaction followed the brief reign of the Jacobins, and the restoration of the monarchy and the St. Louis Convention, which marked the beginning of the great American revolution, marked by the most gigantic and the bloodiest civil war in the history of mankind, and resulting in the extinction of the late Southern slaveholding oligarchy, with the abolition of slavery, is to be finally shaped, it is a question for us to determine. We think, however, from recent events, and all the signs of the times, that it may be safely assumed that this great revolution has reached its culminating point, and that a counter-revolution of public opinion against the destructive schemes of the ruling radical faction has fairly set in.

The remarkable results of the late California election are but a larger and a ripening development of "the same underlying cause," which has led to a reaction in the American section of late spring. The concurrent voice from the recent Territorial election of Montana indicates the widening influence of the same general cause, and yesterday's election in Maine substantially tells the same story. The overwhelming success of the Republicans of Maine last year, on the largest popular vote ever polled in the State, and a reaction in the pending constitutional amendment, the policy of Congress against the reconstruction theory of President Johnson, were accepted as an infallible indication of the voice of all the Northern States in favor of New York and the West, by results analogous to the result in Maine.

But what is the constitutional amendment upon which the popular judgment of the great North has so emphatically given last year in favor of Congress and the Republican party? It is an amendment which provides, among other things, for the disfranchisement of certain leading rebels, subject to a two-thirds vote of Congress, and which provides that such of the States itself may elect whether it will have, and how far it will, negro representation will be so sufficient in law, to constitute a people for representation in Congress, it will sacrifice blacks in including them from the right of suffrage. Upon this platform, leaving the question of negro suffrage to the several States, the Republicans last year gained their greatest victories—greater than the victories of Lincoln, that with the rejection of the amendment by the rebel States Congress took the bold ground of prescribing for them new conditions of reconstruction, embracing, under a supervising military dictatorship, universal negro suffrage and white rebel disfranchisement which inevitably led to negro supremacy in the reconstruction of the rebel States.

This unexpected and unexpected revolutionary experiment has given the definite voice of the Republican electors, whatever may be the superficial explanations of the defeated party. Public opinion is crystallizing against ultra-revolutionary joint committees of safety which has undertaken not only to reconstruct the South, but the general government itself, on a system which proposes to abolish the Executive Department, and the essential reserved legislative powers of the several States. There is also beginning to be a strong active public sentiment against that federal political machine organized and put in operation by Mr. Chase in his national bank system, and fully maintained by Mr. Colwell, under which those banks receive bonuses or penurious amounts to twenty five or thirty millions a year, extracted from the pockets of the people, and under which we are threatened with a renegade oligarchy more powerful and corrupt, and more grasping and insolent, than ever was the slaveholding oligarchy of the South in the height of its demagogic reign. However patriotic Mr. McCulloch and his kind members of the Treasury may be, however pure may be those beautiful nymphs of the industrial band of feminine operatives in the Department, the system under which the Treasury and our financial affairs is managed needs reformation and reform, and the people begin to feel it.

From the causes we have recited a counter-revolution has set in against the radical excesses and excesses and destructive schemes of the republican party, and the movement will now go on. We should not be surprised if it were soon to assume the rushing fire of the Niagara rapids, and swiftly bear the party in power into the abyss of the horse-shoe fall. It revolutions never go backward, but a counter-revolution against our ultra-revolutionary radicals must now set on foot, for the organization of a new national party, maintaining together the great issues settled by the late war and the form of government established in the Federal Constitution.

THE DEAD PUG.

The New York Army and Navy Journal, organ of Radical tendencies, administers the following rebuke to the "Southern States":

"The temporary transfer of Gen. Grant's headquarters to the War Bureau will, we hope, be marked by an introduction into the latter office of the integrity and courtesy which have been so long wanting. The distinction between the headquarters of the Army and the War Office in the matter of presidential courtesy extended to gentlemen in the service has always been painfully apparent in the former, an officer summoned on business, or making inquiries in the line of his duty, has always been treated as a gentleman, and not as a subordinate. We trust, therefore, that we should be treated, whatever his rank, his service, his age, his length of service, he could only be doubtful in seeking interviews with some of the officials employed in department duty, whether he would not be rudely rebuffed. The insolence of officers is a phrase as old as Shakespeare, and in our country it is not less so. In our government, it has been thoroughly illustrated in Washington in the chief, name, and name of many thorough soldiers and worthy gentlemen in both services for many years. Prominent and courteous in dealing with officers have been the Falls, however, at General Grant's headquarters, and we hope this innovation will now be extended to the War Office, and thence to all the others."
