DAILY SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, PROPRIETOR.

[Special to the Daily (Columbia) Chronicle.]

A UNION LEAGUE IN TROUBLE.

FOUL MURDER—SIX NEGROES TO BE HANGED—EIGHTEEN SENT TO THE PENITENTIARY.

PICKENS C. H., S. C., Oct. 28, 1867.

Two of the most extraordinary criminal cases ever known in South Carolina were tried in the recent Court of Common Pleas and General Sessions for Pickens District.

Nine colored persons and a white man, named Alexander Bryce, all members of a Union League, at Walhalla, were indicted for the murder of Miles M. N. Hunnicutt, a white youth, fourteen years of age, on the evening of the 12th instant, while the latter was present at a debating society, near Hunnicutt's Crossing, in Pickens District.

The prisoners were ably defended by Gen. McGowan, of Abbeville, Gen. Easley, of Greenville, and Messrs. Norton and Adams, of Pickens. The jury consisted of white men, three of whom are said to be members of the Union League, and were selected by the prisoners with the consent of the Solicitor, before the trial began.

It is a significant and noteworthy fact, that many of the former owners of the negroes arraigned in the two cases were also present, to offer bail, if such should be demanded, and to participate in the defence of the deluded freedmen. We are informed that quite a number contributed to the employment of counsel. The negro prisoners were of the lowest type, and as they stood alligned in the prison box, stolidly watching the proceedings, one could scarcely tell where the brute ended and man began. Bryce is a white man, of some intelligence, respectably connected and thirty five years of age. It is not long since he was a clerk in Columbia. The most searching examination of witnesses, both white and black, however, failed to prove any further complicity in the murder than he was the only white man present in the League, and gave the order to the armed negro guard to go and arrest the man (Bob Smith) who had disturbed their meeting. This was not deemed by the jury sufficient ground for conviction.

Altogether, about twenty witnesses were examined, among them Clark Cleveland, the President of the Union League; but the testimony is too long for our columns.

"The jury retired, and after an absence of half an hour, returned the following verdict:

"Guilty, with reference to December Gadsden, Nat. Frazier, John Keith, Jack Walker, Green Cleveland, Jr., and Jackson Henderson. Not guilty, with reference to Alexander Bryce, Capt. Deane, Bob Breckinridge and Isaac Adams."

The prisoners were sentenced to be hanged on the 6th of December next.

THE RIOT CASES.

On the day following the rendition of the above verdict, thirty negroes and Alexander Bryce were tried for participating in the riot on the night of and day after the murder.

The evidence of witnesses, white and colored, proved that the Union League, after remaining in session all night—the members being ordered not to leave—was organized into a quasi military guard, and, armed and officered, went from house to house in the country, arrested white citizens and carried them off. That at one place they rudely tore a husband from his wife, who was then in an extremely delicate condition, and so frightened the poor woman that her health since is well nigh ruined. And that they made the most violent threats, and uttered denunciations which showed they were ripe for rebellion in its most fearful shape.

The Solicitor entered a nolle pros. in several of the cases, and the jury brought in a verdict of "Not Guilty," with reference to a few, but eighteen were convicted, notwithstanding the able efforts of counsel, and sentenced respectively as follows: (It may be remarked, parenthetically, that seven among the indicted ones were prisoners, among whom Elias Kennedy and Jim Keith appeared to be chief.)

Elias Kennedy, twelve months in penitentiary, to be released, on payment of $300, in thirty days; Isaac Brown, ditto; Green Cleveland, Clark Cleveland, Gen. Osopho Bradley, James Keith, Thomas Orr and David Singleton, each fourteen months in the penitentiary; John Butler, Captain Deane, Doctor Franklin, John Reed, Robert Breckinridge, George Wright, Ulysses Grant, Alexander Robinson, Amos Cummings and Lewis Young, each twelve months in the penitentiary.

THE EDITOR OF THE NEW YORK "WORLD."

Though very much unlike Henry Mackenzie's hero, Manton Marble is generally known in New York, and the country at large, as the "Man of the World." He is emphatically such, and no one who knows him can say that the World is not worthy of him. His rise in journalism has been rapid. He was hardly known ten years ago, and now his reputation is only second to that of Greeley, Bennett and Raymond as the editor-in-chief and director of one of the four great quartos of the metropolis. He is a native of Massachusetts, we believe, and began his career after taking his degree at College, in Boston. The story is that in his very early manhood he went, entirely unknown, into a newspaper office (the Traveler, we think,) in that city, and asked for a situation.

"What can you do?" inquired the managing editor.

"Anything at all," said the self-confident Marble. Try me on a leader, a paragraph, a criticism or a review; it's all the same to me."

"Have you ever had any journalistic experience?"

"No; but I have written a good deal, and I know I can suit you if you'll only give me a chance."

"Well, I like your self-reliance. It argues well, and I judge from your manner and conversation you are educated and have seen something of the world. (He had not seen as much of it then as he has since.) I am favorably impressed with you."

"Give me a trial; that is all I ask; I don't wish to sound my own praises. I want to work; I have long had a fancy for journalism, and I intend to write for some newspaper; if not for this, for some other."

"That's the right spirit, young man.—Now I remember Forrest plays Lear to-night, and I have no one to send to the theatre.—Will you undertake the job?"

"Cheerfully. Can I write at length?"

"Yes, you shall have two columns, and I'll see what you can do."

The next morning the journal contained two columns of graceful, learned and often brilliant criticism of the actor, with a careful examination of the text, a reference to Scotch history and a fine analysis of the character, which delighted the managing editor, charmed his readers and secured Marble a position at once at what was then a salary.

Mr. Marble remained on the Boston press for several years; but, desiring a larger field for his journalistic capacity, came to New York soon after the World was started as a one cent religious paper. He went into the office first, we think, as a general writer, but soon became the managing editor, and afterwards the editor-in-chief. Through all the changes of the paper he not only retained his place, but rose higher and higher, and secured a larger and larger interest in the establishment. To what extent he is a partner in the World no one knows; but he is supposed to own at least a quarter or a third of it, for he almost entirely controls and directs its political and journalistic course. He has never had connection with any other newspaper in the city, but has given all his energy, time and talents to the building up of the World, which is now the ablest as well as the most prominent democratic organ in the country.

The journal, though it is quite economically managed, has always contrived to have some of the best writers on its staff of editors and correspondents that are to be found in the metropolis. And this selection of able men for the different departments has been made by Mr. Marble, who seems to have, like Charles A. Dana, the rare faculty of getting the right men in the right place.

Now a few words to my customers and friends: You see a great many different styles of advertisements. Some say they are in "luck again;" some say they have "hit the nail on the head;" some "selling out at cost," some to "make room for a new stock;" some one thing and some another. But I allow me to say, whether I am in luck, or whether I hit the nail on the head, or whether I sold out the last, entirely, or failed to advertise "selling out at cost," I have sold out my old stock, (while they are still hammering away over their old stock,) and have been North and bought a new stock. My goods are now in Store, and opened for inspection.

COME AND LOOK AT THEM.

I told my customers, six months ago, that I would sell goods as cheap as Yankee, Jew or Gentile, and I think I have made good my word good.

I told the people to come to Creech's to buy their groceries and confidence—and I take the privilege to say, I think they have shown their good judgment.

RALEIGH AND GASTON,

NORTH CAROLINA,

WILMINGTON AND WELDON,

ATLANTIC AND NORTH CAROLINA,

WILMINGTON AND MANCHESTER,

CHARLOTTE AND SOUTH CAROLINA R. R.,

And their connections.

Time Quick and Rates Low.

THIS NEW TRUNK LINE FORMS A GREAT FREIGHT ROUTE between Baltimore and Weldon, Warrenton, Raleigh, Hillsboro', Lexington, Salisbury, Morganton, Charlotte, Lincolnton, Goldsboro', Newbern, Beaufort, Wilmington, Chesterville, Cheraw, Columbia, Summerville, Manchester, and all intermediate points on and near these great highways and their connections.

The Powhatan Steamers connect at Petersburg with Petersburg Railway for all points in the Carolinas. Cars are run alongside of Steamers' Wharf and goods transferred with careful handling. Cars are run through without breaking bulk between Petersburg and Raleigh, Charlotte, Goldsboro', Wilmington, &c. &c. This Inland Line possesses many advantages over a Sea Route. Marine risk is small and insurance is comparatively nothing. The Wharf of the Powhatan Steamers being situated in the very centre of the great Shipping district of Baltimore, renders it convenient to shippers and drayage is very small.

Great attention paid to consignments of Cotton, Corn, Wheat, Rosin, &c. &c. All produce forwarded at the lowest possible rates.

☞ To insure transportation over this Inland Fast Line, mark all goods, whether Northward or Southward bound, "VIA PETERSBURG."

☞ Freight landed in Baltimore day following delivery to the Steamers.

Through Receipts are given and fixed rate per 100 pounds guaranteed both ways.

☞ Rates in every case same as via Bay Line and Portsmouth to and from Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York.
