VOL. III. RALEIGH, N. C., MONDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1867. NO. 105.

DAILY SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, PROPRIETOR.

From the New Orleans Crescent.

GEN. HANCOCK AND THE POLITICAL SITUATION.

It is not without a feeling of sadness that we sincerely participate in the general exultation of our people at the announcement by Gen. Hancock of the principles upon which he intends to conduct his administration as commander of the Fifth Military District. That men whose characters and habits have been formed amid the traditions of American liberty should await with bated breath, and in anxious suspense, the advent of a new military rule, is a spectacle of which a parallel may be found only in the most dismal days of the Roman empire when the fate of individuals and of communities was at the mercy of a central despot or of provincial autocrats who knew no law but that of organized brute force.—It is quite true that the bearing and the language of the present commander justify the unusual access of joy which they have caused our citizens to experience. But this joy is a more eloquent commentary than grief would have been, on the gloom and the horror of the preceding situation.—General Hancock promises nothing in our behalf, but to leave us to the quiet enjoyment of our civil rights. He merely assures us that he will aim to rule over a peaceful population by peaceful methods. It is only by contrast that we can realize the significance in the present conjuncture of such an announcement. And viewed in this light it has an emphasis and an import of which there is no example in official declarations by either civil or military representatives of federal authority since the close of the late war.

The predecessors of General Hancock, whether regular or temporary, have entered upon their posts in the truculent manner of penal executioners. They came with an undisguised pre-disposition against us; a predisposition that grew stronger and became remorseless in the course of their systematic outrage to the sentiments and interests of an unfortunate and helpless community. Their scowls and threats failed to extort sycophantic smiles and fawning servility. They found us deject, but they could not make us abject. They ended, as was natural, by hating in the fullness of their circumscribed souls those whom they had wantonly injured and insulted, but could not abase.

But it was impossible for the policy of the commanders referred to, however fairly disposed they may have been, to be consistent with reason and justice, when their theory was radically at variance with fact. It became a maxim with General Sheridan, for instance, that the war was not over, notwithstanding the utter dissipation of the military power of the South, and the implicit submission of her people to federal authority, from the Potomac to the Rio Grande. Other commanders caught the radical fashion of regarding the rebellion as politically and morally still alive and formidable; and they were eager to illustrate this fashion by dragooning the whites of the South into an orthodox state of mind according to the radical standard of loyalty. They forgot that, under this test of loyalty, there were more rebels and traitors in the North than in the South, and that New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Ohio where dissent from radical politics was rank and preponderant, called for the trenchant work of military reconstructors not less than Louisiana, Mississippi or Alabama. They forgot—it is to be hoped that they did, at least, for the sake of military discipline—that under the same test, their commander-in-chief, President Andrew Johnson, was more demonstratively rebellious than Jefferson Davis or Robert E. Lee.

Gen. Hancock lays down a theory, the reverse of that upon which the foregoing remarks animadvert. He does so in language that bespeaks the intrepid frankness of the soldier, the solicitude of a true patriot, and the calm and comprehensive view of the statesman. He broadly announces that peace and quiet reign through the whole extent of his jurisdiction. As regards the so-called "rebel" and "unreconstructed" population, this fact has been patent to candid observation ever since the Confederacy perished in battle and was buried in its bloody shroud. But no other commander appointed under the military reconstruction law has seen fit to make such an announcement. And, indeed, the law itself is based on the assumption that peace does not reign in the South, but that, as a moral and political fact, rebellion still unfurls its banner there. It is clear that this narrow and sombre partisan suspicion has no lodgment in the mind of Gen. Hancock. He does not conceive that it is now the mission of the military power, after every form of armed resistance to the authority of the federal government has been destroyed, to make itself the instrument for inflicting political death on a people. "When insurrectionary force," he says, "has been overthrown, and peace established, and the civil authorities are ready and willing to perform their duties, the military power should cease to lead, and the civil administration resume its natural and rightful dominion. Solemnly impressed with these views, the general announces that the great principles of American liberty still are the lawful inheritance of this people, and ever should be. The right of trial by jury, the habeas corpus, the liberty of the press, the freedom of speech and the natural rights of persons and the rights of property must be preserved. Free institutions, while they are essential to the prosperity and happiness of the people, always furnish the strongest incentive to peace and order."

These are remarkable and memorable words. The last sentence, especially, contains an idea which is in signal opposition to that development of radical politics which seeks the guarantees of further peace in the South in the denial of the benefit of free institutions to the most intelligent and spirited portion of the population. In short, the declarations of Gen. Hancock repudiate in effect all the 4 sumptions and all the policies which took legislative expression in the military reconstruction law; but this is done without trenching upon his official obedience to the letter of the law. It would be, therefore, hardly too much to say that, as the law is represented by Gen. Hancock, its logical falsehood and its despotic and unwholesome spirit are dead, and that the wholesome genius of it for its literal mechanism, which must continue to operate until it is repealed in the "sober second thought" of Congress, or worn out by friction.

For the rest, it would not be, let us trust, an exaggeration of hope, to regard this commander's advent as one of the tokens of the commencement of a new and better era. At all events, in lets in some gleams of light where gloom was before constantly deepening. Would it be over-sanguine to see in this light the dawn of the perfect day?

The relations of our citizens to the new commander cannot be mistaken. He evidently desires no partisan approaches by individuals or delegations. But our citizens have no reason to abstain from frankly approaching him with reference to all matters that may come legitimately under his official consideration. He has recognized them as inheritors with himself of a joint stock of indefeasible liberties, and they should in every proper way testify that they appreciate the singular independence and loftiness which he has displayed in extending this recognition.

Valuable Property For Sale.

BY VIRTUE OF A DEED OF TRUST executed to me, by the late Wm. F. Collins, I will sell, on Monday, the 13th day of January, 1868, to the highest bidder, at the Court House door in Warrenton, the following valuable property:

The Tract of Land on which the late Wm. F. Collins resided, at the time of his death, situated in Warren County, on the Williamsboro' Road, two (2) miles from Ridgeway Depot, on the R. & G. R. R., and adjoining the lands of Jno. E. Jones, B. M. Collins and others, containing

ONE HUNDRED AND SEVENTY-TWO (172) ACRES.

On this Tract are situated the celebrated RIDGEWAY MILLS, which are not surpassed in the manufacture of Flour by any in the state. The Mills are in first-rate running order.

There are on the premises a Dwelling House, the necessary out-houses, barns, stables, &c., for conducting a farm. The land is under good fences and in a high state of cultivation, about one-half the tract being in original woods, convenient to the House and Mill.

There is also a fine young Orchard of Apple and Peach trees, well selected, and several young vines of the Scuppernong Grape.

Persons wishing to purchase would do well to examine the property before the sale.

THIS NEW TRUNK LINE FORMS A GREAT FREIGHT ROUTE between Baltimore and Weldon, Warrenton, Raleigh, Hillsboro', Lexington, Salisbury, Morganton, Charlotte, Lincolnton, Goldsboro', Newbern, Beaufort, Wilmington, Chesterville, Winnsboro', Columbia, Summerville, Manchester, and all intermediate points on and near these great Railways and their connections.

The Powhatan Steamers connect at Petersburg with Petersburg Railway for all points in the Carolinas. Cars are run alongside of Steamers' Wharf and goods transferred with careful handling. Cars are run through without breaking bulk between Petersburg and Raleigh, Charlotte, Goldsboro', Wilmington, &c., &c. This Inland Line possesses many advantages over a Sea Route. Marine risk is small and insurance is comparatively nothing. The Wharf of the Powhatan Steamers being situated in the very centre of the great shipping district of Baltimore, renders it convenient to shippers, and drayage is very small.

Great attention paid to consignments of Cotton, Corn, Wheat, Rosin, &c., &c. All produce forwarded at the lowest possible rates.

THE

AMERICAN BITTERS.

The Great Southern Tonic,

AND THE MOST PALATABLE STOMACHIC EVER USED.

FOR THE CURE OF DYSPEPSIA, DISORDERED Digestion, Flatulency, Sluggish Circulation of the Blood, Bilious Complaints arising from a morbid condition of the Stomach and Bowels. As an Elegant Tonic in debilitated states of the Digestive Organs, or of the system generally. For the loss of appetite it is the most wholesome and effectual Tonic in the world. It strengthens nature and enables the system to triumph over disease, in weaknesses attended with tremors and general nervous derangement, it is peculiarly adapted, giving strength and tone to the nerves. To delicate Ladies and Children it is invaluable—and in fact whenever a pleasant and agreeable Tonic is required, this should be used.

Dr. Johnston R. Jones, one of the most scientific and well known Physicians in the Southern States, testifies to its great value, besides many others who have been greatly benefited by the use of these Bitters.
