DAILY SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, Proprietor.

[Special Dispatch to the Baltimore Sun.]

FROM WASHINGTON.

THE DEATH OF IMPEACHMENT—SOUTHERN SENATORS AND NEW ARTICLES—THE PRESIDENT'S DEMEANOR AND VIEWS—CONGRATULATIONS ON ACQUITTAL—ADVICE FROM BISHOP SIMPSON.

No one well advised pretends, now, that there can be a conviction of the President upon any of the ten articles of impeachment remaining undisposed of. The eleventh article was selected by the advocates of impeachment as the one on which they could convict, if conviction could be had at all. It is conceded that there will be as many votes for acquittal on each of the remaining articles, and in some cases more than were yesterday cast for acquittal on the eleventh article, and therefore the President cannot be convicted, as the case stands in the Senate.

Among some extreme impeachers we yet hear threats of further articles when the new Southern Senators shall be admitted, to make a sure thing of a two-thirds vote for the removal of the President, but the more moderate and judicious Republicans deprecate these threats and refuse to countenance any further prosecution of the impeachment project after the articles now pending in the Senate shall be disposed of. It is not believed that a majority of the Republicans of either the Senate or House would agree to consider a proposition to get up new articles.

There were no very remarkable occurrences at the White House yesterday or extravagant demonstrations of a jubilant character. The President continued calmly pursuing the regular routine of his official labors during the day. He was advised promptly by brief dispatches from the capitol as the several votes were taken in the impeachment trial and knew the result within a few minutes after he had been acquitted on the eleventh article. Shortly after the impeachment court adjourned, Mr. Seward, Gov. Randall and a dozen or twenty friends of the President called to offer their congratulations. There were no excited demonstrations, but all passed off quietly.

Mr. Johnson informed his visitors that he did not regard the result of the day a personal victory, but he considered the verdict of the Senate a triumph of the Constitution and a just application of the law to the charges and testimony before the court.

The President did not receive visitors in the evening, but was present at Mr. Seward's usual Saturday night reception of the diplomatic corps.

The statements this morning that Chief Justice Chase called upon the President yesterday or last night, and that there was an impromptu levee at the White House, are without a shadow of foundation in fact. Chief Justice Chase has not been in the Executive Mansion for several months, and certainly not since the House adopted the impeachment resolution.

The House managers have subpœnaed a number of witnesses to appear before them to testify as to alleged improper influences used to affect the votes of Senators who voted for acquittal.

The friends of these Senators are pleased at the opportunity to go into this investigation, since the charges are made, and the President's friends express regret that the examination is to be had before a committee or board, composed entirely of impeachers. There should be some member of the examiners who is interested in having a thorough examination of all attempts to influence the action of Senators. A mere ex parte or one-sided investigation will fall very short of getting before the country a full expose of the disgraceful attempts to tamper with the verdict.

Whilst the doubt and anxiety existed on Friday night about the position of Senator Willey upon impeachment, Senator Harlan telegraphed Bishop Simpson, of Philadelphia, in these words: "Dear brother Willey is lost." To which the Bishop replied: "Brother Willey professes to be a christian. Brother Willey has a soul to be saved. He cannot barter away his soul and imperil the country. Pray with brother Willey," and it is said brother Harlan prayed with brother Willey.

DATA.

COUNTING CHICKENS, &c.

Apropos of Wade, it is not generally known that he had made every arrangement to take possession of the White House on the 1st. proximo. His wife had expressed herself most unwilling to give President Johnson a fortnight's grace to make his exit, so anxious was she to assume the domestic reins of her future greatness. Last Sunday night she positively declared it her intention to be "mistress of the White House" in less than two weeks, and to that end had invited two lady friends of your correspondent to dine with her on the day of her first reception. The first matrimonial spat that has occurred between old Wade and his wife for years came off on Sunday last, he persisting in the appointment, on his elevation to the Presidency, of a young lawyer from Zanesville, Ohio, to his private secretaryship, whilst the Madam was equally decided in her preference for a young nephew of her's.

Over six hundred and fifty letters, by actual count, passed through our post office here in one day—the 6th. instant—superscribed for Wade, and given to his messenger.

It is a certified fact that Wade had, with the assistance of his Radical supporters, nearly completed his full list of appointments for the various custom-houses and post-offices over the country, and had he succeeded in securing the Presidency, the present collectors and postmasters would soon have felt the power of Radical wrath in their own removal.—Washington Letter to Baltimore Gazette.

MORE ABOUT IMPEACHMENT.

The eleventh article, the strongest of the whole lot, having failed, impeachment is considered virtually dead, and nothing remains but to hand over the stakes. A well known radical newspaper man of New York, proprietor of a sporting journal, who has spent much time here in urging conviction, has, it is authoritatively stated, lost $30,000. Other radical newspaper men of this city have lost sums ranging from $500 to $3,000, and in their despair are charging fraud and bribery upon all the radical Senators who voted for acquittal.

Fessenden, Grimes, Trumbull and Henderson are lost sight of now, and it is Mr. Ross who comes in for all the denunciation. Those who participated in the secret caucuses which have been held at the house of Senator Pomeroy assert positively that Mr. Ross pledged himself in writing to vote for the eleventh article, but this is denied by the friends of Mr. Ross. Even had Mr. Ross gone for the eleventh article it is not at all certain that it would have been carried, as it is stated authoritatively that in such an event one at least of those who did vote for it would have changed.

The meaning of this new adjournment, after all the talk about delay, will be made apparent in a few days. That some further schemes of villainy were concocted in the caucus on Friday night and yesterday morning is evident from the confident tone in which the impeachers aver that "while impeachment is 'gone up' they will yet get even with Andrew Johnson." No comment is necessary upon this or upon the other events of to-day. Andrew Johnson can well afford to ask the judgment of the people upon it all.—Cor. Balt. Sun.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—We published in our last a notice for all the successful Conservative candidates in the late election failing under the disqualifying provisions of the Fourteenth Article, commonly known as the Howard Amendment, to forward their names without delay to R. C. Badger, Secretary of the State Executive Committee. We trust this matter will not be neglected. We should not take it for granted that Congress will do wrong in the premises. At least let us so act that the fault, if fault there be, will be upon their shoulders and not upon ours.

We certainly shall have no strength to spare in either House in the Legislature. We have barely enough to secure a call of the roll upon important votes—not enough, we fear, to watch, much less thwart or check, party rascality and political frauds. Those who have been honored by important trusts in this crisis by confiding and honorable constituents, should not by any neglect or fault of theirs defeat the choice of their people. All such as previous to the war took the oath to support the Constitution of the United States in an official capacity, should at once forward their names as directed, giving the particular instance or instances in which their case comes under the objections of the proposed amendment to the Constitution.—Wil. Journal.

THE YES-BUT GENERATION.

Bishop McTyeire found some of them in Texas—he writes:

The discontent of many of the inhabitants is profound, and would be strongly against the country if one did not consider the underlying cause. With certain persons, in the absence of some one good—nothing is good. One pines for an apple orchard; his wife can't have any preserves, as she used to. Another cannot forget the convenience of lightwood knots and spring water, and longs for a Carolina sand-bank where he can make five or six bushels of nubbin corn per acre. Some have more considerable objections. Here is the substance of a conversation with a well to do person:

"This is a great country you live in," said I.

"Yes, but it's so far to town for any wheres," was the reply.

"You have fine roads; I never saw their equal."

"Yes, but it's terrible traveling when it rains."

"I never saw better beef than yours."

"Yes, but people don't want to eat nothing but beef."

"Such a delightful climate—your health is good."

"Yes, but the Northers are awful on the constitution."

"Your land is rich; it produces so abundantly."

"Yes, but the grasshoppers have eat up my greens patch."

"Your hogs will fatten on the grasshoppers."

"Yes, but it worries 'em to death to catch the things."

"Your chickens are lively—they can catch 'em."

"Yes, but it makes their meat taste so, they say."

By this time there was a twinkle of humor in the turn things had taken, and I took leave—"Good by, my inconsolable friend—may you come to a more cheerful mind—good by, till we meet again."

"Yes, but we may never meet again in this world."

And I rather hope we won't. Deliver me from the yes-but generation—a people who love to be miserable, and who take pleasure in taking the other side against Providence.

The Bankrupt Act.

We have been requested to publish the Bankrupt Law. This is impossible. It makes a respectable volume. In order, however, that our readers may understand it, and may therefore not be liable to be imposed upon by parties, who are indifferent to the interests of others, we have taken some pains to compile from several sources the following general principles of the Act, for the benefit of all who contemplate seeking its benefits. But first of all, we advise our friends not to determine hastily what they will do, until they have had the counsel of a responsible and intelligent Attorney, upon whom they can rely.

1. The manifest design of the Bankrupt Law is to benefit honest, but unfortunate, debtors, whose just liabilities are greater than they can pay.

2. To become a voluntary bankrupt under this Act, the debtor must owe at least $300, which, of course, he or his estate is to pay in full.

3. Petitioners under the Bankrupt Act are required to render a schedule of all their debts and liabilities, of every kind and description whatever, and also an inventory of all their estate, both real and personal, including all property and effects of which they are possessed, or in which they may have an interest, (absolute or in possession,) in conformity with oath to "Forms" prescribed in the "General Orders" of the Supreme Court of the United States. These schedules, verified by the oath of the petitioner, before a District Court Judge, Register in Bankruptcy, or U. S. Commissioner, must accompany the petition and, when filed, is the commencement of proceedings in Bankruptcy. If it should be found out, pending the proceedings at any time before the bankrupt is discharged, that he has, by any shift or subterfuge, made a false or partial schedule, this would be evidence of fraud and would defeat his discharge.

4. When the petition is by a firm or copartnership, a full set or schedules of the respective estates of the members of the firm should also be added.

5. When the petition is filed, the case is immediately referred to a Register, who examines the petition and schedules annexed thereto, and if they are correct in form, makes a certificate to that effect, to be filed with the Clerk, then all judges the debtor a Bankrupt and issues a warrant to the messenger to summon all the creditors named in the petitioner's schedules to meet at the Register's office, at a certain time and place, to prove their claims and elect one or more assignees to take charge of the Bankrupt's estate.

6. A creditor can, however, prove his claim at any time previous to the last dividend, which will generally be six months subsequent to the adjudication of Bankruptcy.

7. No creditor has any standing in a Bankrupt Court until he proves his claim.

8. Creditors have a right to compel the Bankrupt to answer questions concerning the disposal of property by him acquired subsequent to filing a petition in Bankruptcy. "In other words, the date of the filing of the petition by or against a debtor, is the date at which, if adjudication of bankruptcy follows, the old order of things passes away and a new leaf is turned over." On this point decisions have been variant. The safe rule appears to be, that the applicant in bankruptcy has a perfect right to claim whatever he has made after his application, by his personal exertions, but any profits he may have made from investment or credit, may be liable to the claim of the receiver up to almost the period of his discharge.

9. The Bankrupt can apply to the Court at any time after the expiration of six months, and within one year from the adjudication, for the discharge in bankruptcy, and in case no assets come into the hands of the assignee, or no debts be proved against his estate, at any time after the expiration of sixty days.

10. As soon as an Assignee is elected or appointed, the Judge or Register will convey to him, by deed of assignment, all the bankrupt's property except what is exempted, viz: "Household and kitchen furniture and other necessaries not exceeding in value ($500) five hundred dollars; also his wearing apparel and that of his wife and children, and such other property not included in the foregoing as is exempt from levy and sale upon execution or other process by the laws of the State in which the bankrupt resides, to an amount not exceeding that allowed by State exemption laws in force in 1868." A sale "Young Sailor suggests, under this head, that the common impression that persons may become bankrupts and yet be allowed to retain their houses and lands, or other property of considerable value, is a great mistake. Under the Act, no honest Bankrupt in this State can have allotted to him, free from the operation of the Act, exceeding $700, besides the wearing apparel of himself and family. Bankrupts in this State are not entitled to homesteads under this Act.

11. It is the duty of the assignee, within twenty days after the assignment to him is made, to allot to the bankrupt such articles as are exempted, and file an inventory of the same with the value of each article so allotted, and creditors may make objections to the report of the Assignee at any time within twenty days after it is filed.

12. As to costs in bankruptcy proceedings, section 56 of the Bankrupt Act provides that the petitioner, before a warrant issues, shall deposit fifty dollars with the Register, or with the Clerk, to be delivered to the Register as a security for his fees. General order XXIX provides that the fees of the Register, Marshal and Clerk shall be prepaid or secured before they can be compelled to act. It is also provided by General order XXX, that where the debtor has no means, and can prove the fact to the satisfaction of the Court, upon application, an order will be made requiring all the costs in the case to be paid out of the fifty dollars deposited with the Register. If, however, there are assets, but not enough to pay the Messenger after deducting the Bankrupt's exempted property, so that nothing comes into the hands of the Assignee, the fees will have to be paid by the Bankrupt; but if the Assignee receives assets, the fees of the Messenger will be paid by him before any dividend is made among creditors.

13. Some suppose that the Register is entitled to $50 fee. The fees of the Register, Messenger, Clerk, and costs of publication of notices in Bankruptcy, are fixed by law, and if they demand higher fees, they are liable, as in other cases of malfeasance in office. In ordinary cases of Bankruptcy, the fees may amount to $100. In some cases more, in some less—the costs depending on the amount of labor and litigation involved in each case.

14. Differences of opinion among Attorneys have existed in this State, as to the time within the Act makes as to the time to make application in Bankruptcy. Some have supposed that no debtor will be permitted to apply for Bankruptcy after some early day in March, unless he is able to pay fifty per cent of his debts. We are assured that this is not the case. The law did not go into operation for the purposes for which it was enacted until June 1st, 1867. It gives twelve months from that time, to all honest debtors, whatever may be the extent of their indebtedness which they cannot pay, in which to present their applications. After the 1st of June next, every debtor must be able to pay fifty per cent of his indebtedness in order to a successful application in bankruptcy, unless he first obtain the consent of a majority of his creditors.
