DAILY SENTINEL

WM. R. PELL, Proprietor.

WESTERN NORTH CAROLINA.

During the past few weeks we have received a number of letters from gentlemen in South Carolina, and other Southern States, making many inquiries as to the condition of the lands, climate, products and prospects of this section of our State, with a view to purchasing farms and removing from their present unprosperous localities. It would be quite impossible for us to answer each letter separately, and we have concluded to answer all through the columns of our paper.

While it is not our desire to encourage intelligent and industrious white immigrants to our Mountain country, we shall attempt to give them all the personal and sectional prejudices and interests, and give plain, unvarnished, truthful and practical answers to those inquiries.

The grandeur of the scenery of these Mountains must be seen to be appreciated. No picture that our feeble pen can draw could do justice to its beauties. It has been aptly styled the "Switzerland of America," without its long, dreary winters and a frigid glare. Our climate is temperate by day, and in the evening it is tempered by our atmosphere and limpid mountain water currents against nearly all the malarious and other diseases which are so prevalent and much dreaded, in more Northern and Southern climes.

At Asheville, last year, the thermometer averaged about 60 deg.; the warmest day being 80 deg. and the coldest about 40 deg. Bed covering contributed in comfort every night during last summer.

Our winters are variable and windy, with many days and even weeks, of the most delightful spring-like weather intervening; but the exhilarating influences of our spring and summer sun efface from the memory all thoughts of winter's gloom and dreariness.

FARMING.

The system of farming heretofore practiced in this section may be rightly styled the shallow system. Cultures and Ball-tow Plows, running into the soil from 3 to 6 inches, the latter depth seldom reached, and then corn planted on the same land year after year in succession, has completely ruined our best land.

We are pleased, however, to see a more intelligent system beginning to be adopted. Two horse turning and subsoil plows are now being introduced by a few enterprising farmers, and we feel confident the results from their use will soon create a general change in our Agriculture. But not alone to the change of plows must we look for the improvement of our land and soil. A change of crops must be made. The incessant planting of corn, to be sold at 50 cts. per bushel, has made, and it is said, will keep, everybody and everything here poor. The grasses, fruit and vegetable crops only can give us hope for the future. There is no part of American agriculture more important, and these grasses give more luxuriantly and these crops can be turned into money to fill our pockets, and also "turned" into the soil as "old field" in this section that cannot be made rich from its own effort, a judicious system of rotation of crops, "putting it down" in clover and turning it (the clover) under, was persevered in.

DAIRYING.

The advantages which this section affords for Dairying will, we think, be readily appreciated by those who have seen the facilities, milk, cooler and pure water, are the great essentials for this important branch of husbandry.

A company of enterprising and intelligent gentlemen have already established a Cheese Factory, two miles from Asheville, and placed it under the care of Mr. Edwards, an experienced Cheese Manufacturer, from New York. The first Cheese was made at that Factory about two weeks ago. Mr. Edwards informs us that he is confident he can produce as good Cheese here as in New York, at less expense and in great quantities. Other similar factories are in contemplation.

FRUIT.

The finest Apples we have ever seen, were grown here last Summer, and a fully grown specimen with a large, round, yellow-green skin, has kept all the Winter, without any extra care, which are as delicious in flavor and perfect in form as when first gathered. From a well selected assortment, any one may have fruit from his own orchard every month in the year. The Apple appears to be indigenous to this soil and the climate of Western North Carolina. We have seen a beautiful Reddish Apple, raised in Fancy county, weighing 1 1/2 lbs.

Cherries grow almost spontaneously here, but very little effort has been made to introduce the fine varieties. The Morilla is almost the only kind cultivated.

Grapes. There is no doubt that this fruit will, ere long, become the great money crop of these mountains. We are much pleased to find many intelligent gentlemen now devoting attention to it. Experiments already made have proved that this is the grape country of America. One gentleman has already established a Vineyard with 3,000 plants of the best variety, and we think it is an over estimate, but if only half that amount can be obtained, there is more money in one acre of Vines than in twenty acres of Wheat or 100 in Corn, and the sale is as ready, and at the same (Southern) market.

VEGETABLES.

The Onions we grow here equal in quantity and quality to those in Western field, where immense fortunes have been made from this crop alone. We have heard it estimated that 500 bushels can be raised on an acre of good land in this section. We think it is an over estimate, but if only half that amount can be obtained, there is more money in one acre of Onions than in twenty acres of Wheat or 100 in Corn, and the sale is as ready, and at the same (Southern) market.

POTAES.

Potatoes. This is a Potato country. We are almost afraid to state the seemingly fabulous number of bushels that have been raised in this county; but our information being derived from a reliable source, we make bold to state that a Mr. Patton, some years ago, raised twelve hundred bushels of the finest Potatoes on one acre. This ordinary is a land culture from 200 to 400 can be raised on.

The celebrated hand and white headed Hibernian Celery grows in profusion and perfection in nearly all these counties. They sell here at 8 cents per bushel, while in more Southern markets they readily command from 25 to 40 cents.

Onions. We have paid the latter price in Columbia, S. C.

MORE OF THE IMPROVEMENT MAN.

The Managers at Improvement Man, who is now again at day at the Judiciary Committee room of the House of Representatives. The members of the Committee present were Messrs. Butler, Wilson, Williams and Boutwell. No witness had been examined up to half past one o'clock in the afternoon, and the Committee adjourned to be resumed in the examination of telegrams, in the afternoon. The several offices in Raleigh having been examined yesterday, were present. The demand of the Managers yesterday was for all the telegrams in the several offices; but some of the officers of the telegraph company, on having demanded, have partly agreed to designate every telegram as they read. One of the files here gave up all his dispatches yesterday, another gave up only a part, while the manager of the third line refused to give up any until the counter commenced with the president and superintendent of his company. Mr. Wooley was not before the committee. It is understood, however, that he has been discharged. Mr. Ralph W. Newton, of New York, was the principal witness yesterday, and was examined for four hours and a half, with about the same results as in the case of Mr. Wooley. Thirty six private telegrams of Mr. Newton, relating to all sorts of subjects, were produced and read, but nothing was elicited upon which to base the shadow of a charge of corruption. Butler asked Mr. Newton if he had not written a certain letter to Mr. Smythe, Collector of New York, and went on to indicate the contents of the letter referred to. The witness replied he had; that he happened to leave it on the table in his room unfolded and that it was stolen from him when he was in the shadow of a cliff of corruption. Butler asked Mr. Newton if he had not written a certain letter to Mr. Smythe, Collector of New York, and went on to indicate the contents of the letter referred to. The witness replied he had; that he happened to leave it on the table in his room unfolded and that it was stolen from him when he was in the shadow of a cliff of corruption.

THE WEEKLY SUN.

THE CIRCULATION OF THE "WEEKLY SUN" always large, has of late so increased, that it is necessary to increase the size of the paper, and to increase the number of copies printed every day. When these alterations are made, we feel confident that we have laid the foundation for a handsome fortune. Others are preparing to do likewise.
