RALEIGH, N. C., THURSDAY, JUNE 4, 1868

NO. 255

DAILY SENTINEL

W. M. PELL, PROPRIETOR.

COLLEGE BACKS OUT FROM THE ORIGINAL OBJECTS OF THE GUANO IMPROVEMENT.

Mr. Pell, on Saturday, promptly refused to sign the base and dishonorable office Butler sought to impose upon him. It was well that he did so. His refusal was not done from a sense of the obligations of the common decency and proprieties of life, but from a keen appreciation of the application to him of the criminal law of the United States. Had the Speaker of the House of any other individual, with or without the order of the House, broken the seal of a letter addressed to Mr. Woolley, and coming through the postoffice, he would have made himself liable to indictment and conviction, and it would have been the duty of the Speaker to have caused such offender to be arrested at the moment the seal was broken. The Speaker's conduct in this respect was a gross violation of the law of the United States. The Speaker not only refused to accept the office, but he refused to sign the base and dishonorable office Butler sought to impose upon him. It was well that he did so. His refusal was not done from a sense of the obligations of the common decency and proprieties of life, but from a keen appreciation of the application to him of the criminal law of the United States. Had the Speaker of the House of any other individual, with or without the order of the House, broken the seal of a letter addressed to Mr. Woolley, and coming through the postoffice, he would have made himself liable to indictment and conviction, and it would have been the duty of the Speaker to have caused such offender to be arrested at the moment the seal was broken. The Speaker's conduct in this respect was a gross violation of the law of the United States.
