DAILY SENTINEL

The city of Washington, the capital of a great Republic, presents to-day to the community a scene of the most extraordinary and unprecedented character...

In addition to the death of one of the victims of the negro riot of Friday night last week, the city has been the scene of a most public and heinous crime...

The negroes were armed with clubs, razors, knives and pistols, and with them committed the most heinous crimes...

The city of Washington has been made, by the Radical majority in Congress, a political experimental garden...

The seventeen-year locust, which is so common in particular seasons, in some parts of this country, and which made its last appearance in this region in the spring of 1851, are again showing themselves...
