VOL. IV. RALEIGH, N. C., MONDAY, AUGUST 31, 1868. NO. 16.

The Daily Sentinel.

WM. E. PEIL, PROPRIETOR.

From the Richmond Enquirer.

BE CAUTIOUS IN WORD AND ACT.

If there is one counsel which, during the next ninety days, should be impressed with more frequency and more force than all others upon the Southern people, it is this: Be cautious in word and act.

We entertain the most sanguine hopes that the approaching election will result in a decisive triumph for the friends of liberty and law, and a restoration of the Government to its ancient foundations, now so far removed; and while in the advancement of that most desirable issue little is left for us to do, it is unfortunately true that we may do much to, imperil, or at least, retard it. In that regard the next period before us with the most solemn monitions.

It is by no means certain that the people of the North would not have sustained the President in the fall elections of 1866, defeated Congressional Radicalism, and anticipated by two long years the glorious victory on which we look to in November; but two unfortunate circumstances conspired to thwart the retracing steps of those people, and to dash back the tide of returning reason and magnanimity which promised such happy results for the general prosperity of the Republic. One of these was the extreme imprudence of certain of the public utterances of the President. [Falsely attributed to the President, for the most part; or, if otherwise, provoked by designed and concerted insults.—Ed. Ent.] But the far more fatal effect to the cause was the riot in New Orleans!

It is no exaggeration to say that that melancholy occurrence turned the scale in fifty doubtful Congressional districts, and thereby secured that two thirds vote in the House which is accountable for all the enormities of the most profligate legislation that ever cursed a people with even the traditions of freemen. Thus was lost for two years the chance of peace; thus was gained military despotism, carpet-bag Constitutions, negro supremacy, the tenure of office bill, and all the multiform enormities which disgraced the last session of the Thirty-ninth Congress and the first session of its successor.

Again an election approaches in which the very issues of 1866 are to be passed upon once more. The country is called on, in the light of the practical experience of two bitter and fatal years, to review its former decision, and hear the great appeal of liberty and the Constitution. The circumstances of this time are in our favor. Congress has marked each passing month of those intervening years with a new outrage upon us, and a new argument, therefore, in our favor. Reconstruction, in its every development, has startled the public ear with some new violation of law, private right, and public liberty. The ultimate purposes of Radicalism, shadowing forth the entire subversion of the constitutional rights of States and people have been fully revealed. The utter and abandoned profligacy of Congressional government has been laid bare to all eyes. The thorough failures of reconstruction to accomplish anything but the ghastliest mockery of freedom, is sorrowfully admitted even by Republicans themselves. The waves of war have had further and full chance for perfect subsiding, and finally the Conservative men of the country have now had abundant time to rally from the terror which the despotism inaugurated by Lincoln so widely spread. They are wondering that so beastly an idol could ever have been thought a god, and are hastening to compensate for their sinfulness hitherto by unwonted diligence and determination of effort now.

In the most fortunate conjuncture of our affairs, our triumph and the triumph of the Constitution can scarcely be jeopardized, save by ourselves; certainly by no party and no agency can it be so much jeopardized as by ourselves. It is openly whispered, and the recent disturbances in this City, at the Federal capital, at Atlanta, at Charleston, and elsewhere, give grave countenance to the rumor, that instructions have been issued from certain Radical leaders in Washington, that conflicts with the Federal troops, at all hazards be provoked at the South between this and election day. This is precisely what every one acquainted with Radicalism must have anticipated. Half that Congress so easily accomplished would have been scornfully denounced at the North as South had not the passions of the Northern people been excited by the systematic lying of Radical presses respecting "Southern outrages." And they have too often profited by this game to slight its assistance now. It is not important to them what may be the origin, or what the character of the victims of these disturbances. A party which could make a hero out of Ashburn, a saint out of John Brown, and a martyr of Dostie, and could find an odor of sanctity in a negro brother, cannot be very scrupulous about the quality of the material with which they propose to work.

Let us be careful to avoid even the appearance of violence. If a disturbance arise, let it be manifest that the Conservatives were the aggrieved party, and that the consequences, whatever they may be, properly attach to our enemies, and we will baffle this last and most favored resort of Radicalism. And to that end it is equally desirable, that while denouncing with what ever severity of language the deeds and designs of our enemies, our speakers and writers should do nothing towards inciting a breach of the peace, and thereby inviting the many and irretrievable evils that must certainly ensue.

THE WHITES OF THE SOUTH.

The venerable Daniel Ravenel and a number of the leading citizens of Charleston have addressed a letter to the people of that city, counselling them to forbearance, calmness and fortitude in their trials and troubles. They also vindicate their people from the vile slanders of villainous white men who are regularly employed to slander the white people there, as they are the people everywhere in the South. Some of these slanderers are officials of the Bureau, others officers in the army, and others again the retained partisans fed out of Radical funds. These cadiffs have been industriously engaged in manufacturing lies to inflame the Northern public mind and still further oppress the people of the South, now suffering the horrors of poverty and tyranny.

What the respectable persons who sign the address say of their city and State will apply with equal force to Richmond and Virginia—nay, to the whole South. We make the following extract:

"We do most solemnly, and conscientiously declare that, so far as we have any knowledge or belief, interference has never been attempted by the white citizens of this city or State with the fullest exercise by the freedmen, individually or collectively, of all the rights, civil and political, which they asserted as belonging to them. They have had their meetings, and have with interference; they have voted, and never with disturbance; they have assembled in Convention, passing a Constitution for their government and ours, without interruption; and under that Constitution they are now sitting as a Legislature, framing laws for the people of the State, removing officers, imposing taxes, and exercising the functions of legislation which involve the property, life and liberty of the citizen, without a show of violence, without almost a complaint on the part of those who are excluded from all participation in proceedings which so deeply and intimately affect them. But all of this has not been sufficient to satisfy them that the privileges so enjoyed by them were complete, unless they included the absolute domination and control of the white population—a domination and control so exclusive and absolute that it would embrace person and property, and even extend to thought and speech. To this condition is the white population of this city now at this time reduced, and in this condition they are forced to see the evidence of a further purpose, to enforce this denial in them of every privilege, and to hold every right which belongs to them subject to the caprice of those who are the dupes and the victims of the bad men who have poisoned their hearts, and for the most selfish and base purposes destroyed for them the comfort, contentment and happiness they might have enjoyed."

This highly respectable and most trustworthy body of gentlemen have laid their address before President Johnson, and assured him that in case of riot the police would be utterly unable to protect the city, and requesting that a United States force be kept there to preserve order.

THE JUDICIARY.

Extract from an address delivered by Wm. Eaton, Jr., at Davidson College, in July, 1859.

"I fear that some of the States have had judicial demagogues who enter the excited arena of party, soil the ermine by canvassing for their seats, and have an eye to their own prospects of promotion more than to their duty, while dispensing, or rather pretending to dispense, justice from the bench. I hope that such characters are rare, and that no part of America will ever know many of them. Whatever indications of degeneracy may be found among the States of this Union, over whatever scenes the patriot may blush or weep, God in his infinite mercy forbid that the temple of justice shall be desecrated, or that the humblest of those who minister at its shrine shall forget their exalted and sacred duties! Heaven forbid that pollution shall reach the sanctuary where liberty and life must fly for protection! The people of America cannot too highly appreciate the importance of an able, learned, upright and impartial judiciary, one which shall command universal respect, and deserve and enjoy the entire confidence of our citizens. Without such a judiciary we have no adequate shield and safeguard for our dearest and best rights. Every man, woman and child throughout this wide expanse of States and Territories has a strong, direct and immediate personal concern in the proper administration of justice. If the judiciary is lowered in merit and qualifications, in precisely the same proportion is impaired our security for life and everything which makes life worth having. Our courts of judicature ought to afford an asylum far beyond the reach of the storms which sweep over the political world, and the limpid stream of justice ought never to be defiled by the prejudices and passions which grow out of the party contests of the day. Our Judges ought always to be men of superior talents and acquirements, of high moral worth and inflexible integrity, and by all means men of spotless purity in the paths of private life. Marshall, Wythe, Kent, Iredell and Gaston were models of judicial excellence, who honored the ermine by their talents, learning and virtues, more than they were honored by its stainless robes."

VEGETABLE PILE OINTMENT.
TO THE PUBLIC.
FOR 25 Years I was sorely afflicted with the Piles. After trying every remedy I could hear of and failing to counteract my bowels, in 1837, I discovered a remedy, purely vegetable, which effected an entire cure, and I have had no return of it.
Anxious to relieve the afflicted and to promote my own benefit, I made public my discovery and had the gratification of knowing that it relieved a large number of persons. My business was advertised in the public prints and I met with great success, until the war came on.
By the advice of friends, I have determined again to manufacture the OINTMENT and supply the trade. Any number of certificates of its value could be obtained if necessary.
Price of box $1, and postage. (I pay postage.) As soon as I can make arrangements I will put it in the hands of the druggists of the State.
