THE FAYETTEVILLE CONVENTION.

Taking passage on board the steamer Governor Worth, with the delegates from New Hanover to the District Convention, our reporter left the city Tuesday afternoon for Fayetteville, to note for the benefit of our readers the proceedings of the largest and most enthusiastic Convention held in North Carolina since the war. The passage was safe and speedy, the steamer arriving with the delegation at the landing in Fayetteville early Wednesday morning. The North Carolina, with a large Baden and Brunswick delegation on board, was passed on the river the night previous, and soon after, also safely arrived. These joined in with the New Hanover crowd, which was most enthusiastically greeted by the delegates from the other counties on shore. The procession then took up its line of march for the Market House. On the way it was met and received by the Fayetteville brethren, who also joined in, making the procession half a mile long, and numbering many hundreds. The Robeson and Richmond delegations arrived about the same time from another direction, overland, and the procession was accordingly crowded to its fullest extent. The towns were by this time thoroughly alive, the citizens turning out en masse. The several delegations were then welcomed by Hon. Thos. C. Fuller, of Cumberland, on behalf of the citizens and Committee of Reception, in a neat and tasty speech delivered from the veranda on the east side of the Market House. Next and merited compliments were paid to the several counties and their delegations, meeting with the heartiest cheers from the vast assembly. Colonel A. A. McKay, of Sampson, on behalf of the various delegations, responded to the welcome extended through the gentleman from Cumberland. His speech was appropriate and forcible, exciting much enthusiasm, and drawing forth repeated applause. At its conclusion the assembly dispersed, to the take of the morning by the citizens, and to prepare for the Convention.

At an early hour, in company with one of Fayetteville's brightest and fairest, the reporter proceeded to inspect Farmers' Hall, in which the delegates were to assemble. This Hall is capable of accommodating between five and eight hundred persons. For days past the ladies with skillful hands had been at work, endeavoring to beautify and adorn this spacious apartment. The result of their skill and labors was strikingly apparent. Beautiful festoons and wreaths of evergreen adorned the walls and were suspended gracefully over the platform erected for the accommodation of the officers and as a speaker's stand. On the walls the names of the several counties embraced in the District were displayed within beautiful wreaths. Flags were also tastefully arranged in various parts of the building.

In all parts of the town before the Convention met, the streets were alive with people. At Liberty Point, near the Hall, a pole-rising was going on. Capt. W. S. Norman, of Robeson, there addressed a large and enthusiastic crowd. Speeches were made in the streets in several quarters and the greatest enthusiasm was apparent.

The Journal next publishes the official proceedings of the Convention—resulting as our readers already know, in the selection of those gallant and able gentlemen, A. A. McKay, Esq., of Sampson, for Congress, and Jas. C. Dobbin, Esq., of Cumberland, for Elector.

THE PROCESSION.

Wednesday night one of the grandest processions ever witnessed in this State came down in the streets of Fayetteville. The good Democrats of the town had been indefatigable in their preparations, and the arrangements were skillfully executed. Many large and beautiful transparencies were displayed among which was one so magnificent as ever seen in the State. From this principal transparency, which was drawn on wheels, fireworks were almost continually fired. These were in keeping with the magnitude of the occasion. Large, beautiful and inspiring rockets rapidly went their way in the air, and all the ingredients that the fertile brains of manufacturers have suggested were displayed. The Fire Companies and hundreds belonging to the delegations of the several counties were in line, while thousands thronged the streets and accompanied the procession, among them hundreds of fair and beautiful ladies, many of whom were in gorgeous. It had the appearance of a triumphal march, and God knows that it may but prove the forerunner of those grand and glorious demonstrations which will celebrate the success of the cause of truth, the triumph of justice and right, the victory over evil—in a word, the election of Seymour and Blair.

The following was the programme of speaking agreed upon and carried out as far as possible on such occasions. A few of the gentlemen named from unavoidable causes did not speak, but the major portion of them did:

At Liberty Point—Cols. A. A. McKay, of Sampson, W. F. French, of Robeson, Exchange Hotel—D. C. Allen, of Brunswick, T. H. Sutton, of Bladen, J. C. Hight's residence—J. C. Dobbin, of Cumberland, Union Square—Samuel S. Ashe, of New Hanover, Dobbin House—W. S. Norman, of Robeson, W. C. Troy's residence—Hon. T. C. Fuller, of Cumberland, E. F. Moore's residence—H. C. Wall, of Richmond, H. I. Myrner's residence—A. M. Waddell, of New Hanover, Fayetteville Hotel—Col. W. L. Steele, of Richmond, J. W. Strange's residence—Robert Strange, of New Hanover, Campbell House—John B. Hines, of Richmond, A. A. McKay's residence—J. H. McFar, of Moore.

THE HOSPITALITY OF FAYETTEVILLE.

A word in conclusion of this report about the hospitality of Fayetteville. True to the character which has always rendered the earlier inhabitants of the Cape Fear region noted through the length and breadth of this land, the good people of Fayetteville were generous in their attentions, unobtrusive in their hospitality, untroubled in their efforts to show kindness to our delegates. The recipients of these kind attentions will never cease to remember them, and will ever bear towards Fayetteville and its noble people feelings of the highest gratitude and regard. As the greatest blessing that can be heaped upon us all, they wish them happiness, peace and security in the election of Seymour and Blair, the only peace candidates of the country.

A young lady advertised for a dressing-maid. One applied, and in response to inquiry if she was quick, she replied: "Oh so quick, that I will engage to dress you every day in half an hour." "In half an hour?" reiterated the young lady; "and what shall I do the remainder of the day?"

Ladies who complain most that they have nothing to wear, commonly wear the least when best supplied. Miss Featherly had a score of new dresses last week, and yet hasn't been able to get a single one up to her shoulders. The bare idea of the thing is and is not singular.

There is an anecdote told somewhere of a dispute in which a "bolatorista," ill-bred fellow called his adversary "no gentleman." "I suppose you think yourself one," was the reply. "Certainly I do," said the bully. "Then," said the other, "I'm not offended that you don't think me one."
