DELICATE GROUND.

In the course of a life you are likely to mix
Among folks of all possible kinds;
And, in talking, it's highly improper to fix
Upon any chance topic one finds.
You may try to be gay or profound;
But you'll often discover when once you've begun,
That you are treading on "delicate ground."

Now suppose that a friend has induced you to lend
A respectable sum long ago;
And the time for repayment has come to an end,
But your debtor is dreadfully slow.
If you venture to hint at a timing advance
Of a shilling or two in the pound,
You are hardly heard, when you see at a glance
That you're treading on "delicate ground."

If you hesitate to love and are turning to "pop,"
For you should never lose time in despair!
But be sure on your knees you should gracefully drop,
And express what you have to declare.
If the enough should have smiled on a happier
While on you the has constantly frowned,
You may give up the case, for it's perfectly plain
That you're treading on "delicate ground."

It's a difficult thing to be always discreet,
Or talk in a frank sort of way,
When you think of the number of people you meet,
And the number of things that you say.
If you notice a sudden and absolute blank
In the looks of the faces around,
You have only yourself and your folly to thank,
That you're treading on "delicate ground."

COCK FIGHT.—On a certain day a great master was to come off at some tavern in the county of Henrico, and of course a cock-fight or two. At the appointed time a great many persons were present, and among them Mr. M., a gentleman of the real old stripe, who had made a few ten dollar bets on the cock fight and lost every one. He was commenting on his bad luck, when Old Ned was seen approaching with a large bag thrown over his shoulder.

Hallos, Ned, what have you got there? Fust-rate cock, Massa M.

Game, Ned?

Oh, yes; game as a panther, Massa M.

Out with him, Ned; out with him.

And Ned drew forth a large speckled cock, which, to judge by his size, was a perfect brutiest.

What's the price, Ned?

Five dollars, massa, an' cheap at dat; an' if my cock on his ground kill dis cock, I gim you back de money.

The bargain was accordingly struck, and the match right away. M. bet the amount he had already lost, and the cocks were put in the ring.

At the first touch of the steel Old Ned's cock gave a most awful squall and took a strong wing for the woods. M. was furious while the crowd laughed—fairly screamed—with the enjoyment of the fun. Old Ned was accordingly hauled up with the application of some pretty hard epithets.

Didn't I tell you Massa M., says Ned, if any cock here kill dat cock I gim you back de five dollars? But dey get to cotch him 'fus; an' I nebet see any cock outrun old Skewball in my life. Ya! ya!

M. wanted to be very angry, but it was no go; his anger was choked down by the uproarious laughter of the crowd that met him on every side, and he was forced to enjoy it as a capital joke. Old Ned continued to frequent the race courses till the day of his death.

The war is over and the dead are buried. The God of nature has covered their graves with green grass and beautiful flowers to show us nature should imitate this divine example and wipe out the traces of passion and hate in the minds of the American people.—Gov. Seymour at Columbus.

Here is a quiet announcement, which appears in the columns of the Helena (Arkansas) Clarion. It illustrates the beauties of the Radical reconstruction policy:

"Many inquiries are made for the Judge of this district. For general information, we will state that his name is Bennett, and he resides in New York, where he is at present with his family."

A New York correspondent writes that things are stupid in Broadway just now. The ladies are out in full bloom, with dresses trimmed of the oddest colors, a bright yellow on a black ground being considered the correct thing.

In London, a publisher announces the concluding volume of "Lord Campbell's Lives of the Lord Chancellors," containing the Memoirs of Lords Brougham and Lyndhurst. The fact that Lord Campbell died several years before these gentlemen, makes the volume an unique one.

Another duel in Paris. A Frenchman "insulted" the British Flag, and an Englishman challenged him. The Frenchman had the first shot, and missed. The Englishman fired into the air. In this manner, by giving himself to be shot at, he kindly fancies he has wiped out the insult to his flag.

A GOOD TEST.—Below will be found what I regard a proper test from which to gauge a Christian's profession. Read it carefully. From Jeremiah lii., 19: "And the basins, and the fire-pans, and the bowls, spoons, and the cups; that which was of gold in gold, and that which was of silver, in silver, the captain of the guard took away."

It is calculated that if a human being could make as much noise in proportion to his size as a locust, he could be heard to sing from London to St. Petersburg. It is a merciful provision of nature that he cannot.

A traveling life insurance agent applied at a Texas to "take out a policy," but the "risk was rejected." "A fellow's life is so confounded uncertain in this community it ain't worth insuring."

A surgeon whose wife is a great scold, being asked what he thought would be the greatest triumph of the surgical art, replied: "To take the jaw out of a scolding woman."

A hospital for "women who have become disgusted with their husbands" is to be established in Cleveland. But where on earth will they find a building large enough?

A sporting man remarked, of a belle, in the habit of wearing low necked dresses who carried off a matrimonial prize in the shape of a rich old widower, that "she won the race by a neck."

A Polish Jew of Wilna, who was so unfortunate as to have his house burned down, was fined twenty five roubles by the Russian magistrate for crying fire in the Polish language.

A shopkeeper in Illinois recently fixed a pistol in his money drawer, so as to shoot a suspected thief-apper, and the first man it shot was himself.

In Connecticut, a boy of twenty has just married a widow of fifty, who has seven children. The eldest is six years older than the new "papa."

"Excuse me, madam, but I would like to ask you why look at me so reproachfully all day long?" "Oh! beg your pardon, sir, but I took you for my husband."

Letters from Hong Kong announce that Christians are subject to persecution in Japan, and a number have been condemned to hard labor.

Dr. Francis, of Newport, has invented and patented a new apparatus to answer the double purpose of heating railroad cars in Winter and ventilating them in Summer.

It is said of a fashionable lady, who went to a party in the city, not long since, that she arrived there about the first of the evening, but the last of her dress did not arrive until after twelve o'clock.

"You must be economical, my son. A pin a day is a groat a year you know." "Pooh, father, I think I'll go in for one every day."

The Radicals have found another terrible society in the South, known as "Knights of the White Camelia."

The "Tennessee Mounds" are being explored, and human remains, pottery, shell ornaments, vases, and stone idols discovered.

The champion drinker of lager beer is Cleveland has accomplished 108 glasses in one day, and invites any one to beat it.

Great Britain raises 130,000,000 bushels of wheat this year—40,000,000 more than last year.

Scotch plaids, it is said will be "the thing" for ladies' walking suits this winter.

The average decline in grain in Chicago during the past month has been a cent a day.

NEW GOODS! NEW GOODS!

NEW FALL AND WINTER GOODS,

FOR

1868.

COME TO

A. CREECH'S!

For Ladies' Goods; For Gentlemen's Goods; For Misses' Goods; For Boys' Goods; Ditto for Children!

MY STOCK IS LARGE AND VERY COMPLETE. Allow me to say that I have very recently bought goods before the rise—some after the decline—since which time I have had to buy again—some buy goods cheaper than anybody else—some selling goods at unprecedentedly low prices. All such stuff. Wish to have nothing to do with such individuals!

Now just let ME tell you, that there is more humbug than money in all this. Don't every man, woman and child know that it is humbug—large enough to tarnish over, pain the eye sheer to let them talk, puff and blow, look sour, LOOK ODD! MAKE OFF, and show your good judgment by to buy your goods. I intend to run through this campaign with my motto, to give value and every individual value received for their support.

A fine opportunity for the ladies to examine their fashionable riglets, as well as the gentlemen. Don't stop until you COME TO CREECH'S. You will find me at E. Smith's corner, attending to my business, always ready to give you the worth of your money.
