CLEMMONS' ENIGMA

Mr. Clemmons:—In yesterday's Sentinel, Mr. W. H. Jones' editorial is in a commendatory manner.

All honor should first be given to inventors, and especially to those who have given the world such wonderful and such useful inventions as the telegraph and the steam engine. It is singularly strange, however, that while there are real great inventions in this North Carolina State, but few of the inventors have had the credit, even of the inventor's name.

I venture to assert that some of the most useful and wonderful inventions of the age have originated in our State. Our people do not invent; but they are in a very great measure, and are making a very important contribution to the world's progress.

It is a very interesting story, without producing any general statistics; it might have been somewhat less, without endangering the reputation of the city, in the great divorce case. It is a creditable number of the industry of those societies who make the business a specialty, and as a substantial amount to the reverence for the apical obligations which obtain in the households of Chicago. In some manner, too, the divorce achievement of 1888 will get to be heralded as another of the manifold wonders in which this State has excelled in the past.

It will doubtless be assigned a place among the really irresistible statistics which are put forth from time to time by benevolent citizens, for our glory among posterity. The fact that the annual divorce record is ignored in the reports of the Board of Trade by no means involves the conclusion that the value of the figures is not appreciated by that erudite and sagacious body. Considerations of a purely personal character, in a considerable proportion of the membership, may have been the real reason for its omission. This work of family dismemberment which is progressing in Chicago will probably suggest far-reaching thoughts to those eminently well-meaning persons, of a dyspeptic turn, who are pre-occupied to avoid views of things.

It is to be admitted that all the facilities for accomplishing this purpose which are provided by the State, and which have with the same liberality which in some other respects, characterize this great metropolis. The details of the year's struggle in this branch of litigation show that out of four hundred and sixty suits, the whole number brought during the year, two hundred and eighty-four were commenced by wives, and only one hundred and seventy-six by husbands, leaving a balance of one hundred and eighty-eight in favor of the prior enterprise of the divorcee.

In the matter, too, of obtaining decrees, the wives of the hundreds and the hundreds of three cases. They are also ahead in another respect. Forty-one wives were found to have committed adultery, while the number of husbands upon the same score was only thirty-nine. In regard to cruelty and desertion, the husbands are, of course, greatly in the majority, though it is nevertheless, that the gender sex has not wholly abandoned the bromeliad, and that an unimpeachable degree of intemperance has been indulged in by some few members of that highly-esteemed organization. The progress of the divorce epidemic during the year may also be noted with profit. Its general ravages occurred in June. Both sides on the rampage about that time. Proliferating persons will mark the month as very dangerous. There were also many victims in March and October. In the case of March, the prevalence of east winds probably contributed greatly to a predisposing cause. In the case of October, the season is usually dry, so the fact that about that time many persons are making their domestic arrangements for the winter. But these reasons do not hold good as to the mouth of June. The unusual liability to become a victim to a divorce suit during that month must be left unaccounted for.

During the year there has been an increase in the number of divorce suits commenced of one hundred and twenty-two over the number brought in 1887, and an increase in the number of decrees granted of one hundred and thirty-two.

SMALL BORN.—We saw recently on a ferry boat a small but strongly built animal, whose aspect was decidedly foreign, and, on inquiry, were informed that it came from Norway, and was valued at $150. The Norway here is valuable for many points of excellence. It requires less feed than most of the foreign breeds, and is very hardy, and as they can be purchased at home for about ten dollars in gold, it would pay to import them. They are very serviceable for all light work, and would, from their small size, be easily stabled and cared for. We have no doubt that a market could be found for the thousand of these animals being bred. Speaking of foreign animals, we lately saw a Chinese dog at one of our exports, which, for the West, was a decided novelty in appearance, and yet attracted attention from many points of difference when compared to our breeds. It was valued at something under $200.—N. J. Mall.

THE MUNICIPAL ELECTION.—We hope and believe that the Municipal election will pass off quietly, to-day. The various candidates have their zealots and active friends, but that constitutes no reason why everything should not be conducted peacefully and in order. Agreeably to act of Assembly, the bar rooms must all be closed today and night.

THE STREETS.—The streets have exhibited a distressing "plethoric" lack of business for several days past. The weather has been so abominably disagreeable as to preclude all sort of outdoor amusements.

AN INSURANCE CASE.—As heretofore announced, the injunction case in the Public Treasurer and the Chatham Railroad was signed before Judge Watts, at Chambers in this City, to-day. It is understood that the presence and an operation of the Supreme Court will be tested.

FREE MAYORALTY.—We learn that "Col. Hicks" after being kicked, cuffed and locked about the city, has withdrawn from the race for the Mayoralty and addresses his able adherents to support Col. Hampton, the nominee of the white radicals and the colored aristocracy. There is such a thing as a demagogic support, and Col. Hampton is not to be congratulated himself on the eleventh hour endorsement of Whitey. We repeat our hope that our citizens, generally, as an act of sheer justice, as well as of common sense and good sense, will rally to the support of Wm. DALLAS HAYWARD.

EXECUTIONS.—The execution of the man, was executed in Tarboro, on Friday by hanging for the murder of Matthew King (negro), in June, 1887. He met with the execution of the deed as well as a number of other offences. When the type was about to be a just, he became completely unmanly as to sink upon the scaffold. It was necessary to hold him up, which was done by a negro man, and the drop fell, when strangulation resulted in death in about twelve minutes.

"DOLLARS." We acknowledge the receipt from the Publishers, Messrs. E. J. Hall & Son, No. 16, Murray Street, New York, of a copy of the Moral, just issued, bearing this title, of which our gallant and gifted friend, Capt. Benj. Robinson, of Fayetteville, is the author. We have read the book, and we do not hesitate to pronounce it a production of rare literary, as well as editorial merit. Its plot, it is well devised, and ingeniously executed; its points of comparison, it is highly creditable and instructive; in tone, it is, in the aggregate, healthy, though there are exceptions in this particular. The author displays much reading and learning in philosophy, law and medicine. Most of the scenes are laid in North Carolina, and are connected with the war. But we propose, at a future day, to criticize our friend's production more in detail. Meanwhile, we congratulate him upon his decided success and commend Dollars to the favorable consideration of the public.

We presume that our City Bookkeepers either already have it on hand for sale, or will have it in the course of a few days.

MURDER IN PITT.—Edward Hood and a man named Duns, opposing conditions for Constable, had an altercation at Greenville, Pitt County, on Friday, when Duns drew a pistol and shot Hood, killing him instantly.

THE NEW YORK Herald states it as a fact, that that City consumes one million dollars worth of bouquets annually, while not less than $120,000 are expended on those delicate devotional offerings during Xmas and New Year's day.

RALPH T. DAVIS.—Reconstruction proceeds pleasantly in Virginia by the removal from the office of Commonwealth Attorney for the city of Richmond of the Hon. Raleigh T. Daniel. Mr. Daniel is one of the most eminent lawyers in the Commonwealth, and a speaker of rare power, and a very capable man. He has filled this position for years, to the entire satisfaction of every honest man, and probably no one could have done so well.
