PRESIDENT DAVIS AT THE BATTLE OF MANASSAS.

[From E. A. Pollard's Life of Jefferson Davis.]

* * * In the morning of the eventful day President Davis had left Richmond for the field of battle. What carried him there was never explained; it was not—as President Lincoln and other civil magistrates often did—to visit a field already decided, and to review or meditate upon it; there was, indeed, a carping commentary in Richmond that President Davis should have been present at Manassas on that day, and should have left his office at the Capitol to thrust himself into a scene of actual battle, and, perhaps, to interfere with the Contederate commanders. It was known only to those very intimate with him that he had left Richmond that morning to command, in person, the army; and hence the curious mistake which appeared in all the papers of the South next day, and which the agents of the Associated Press had predicated on what had been whispered to him of the intentions of Mr. Davis, that "the President commanded the centre" in the action of the day. Mr Davis did not command the centre; he arrived too late for the battle, and only when the enemy was flying. It is said that he never forgave General Beauregard for the contretemps in which his vanity was disappointed, and that in this circumstance originated his first disaffection towards that commander, which was afterwards carried to every extremity of enraged persecution. However this may be, it is certain that General Beauregard had never noticed the President of the time when he proposed to give battle; he was under no obligation to do so, and, perhaps, he suspected the intention of Mr. Davis to lead his army into action; all he was compelled to do was to apply to the President for authority for the army corps of General Johnson to join him, and it is positively known that this was the only intimation Mr Davis had that a battle was to be delivered. He arrived too late to take part in it, or to gather the military laurel of which he had dreamed the night before. But he did not arrive too late to make some display of personal heroism.

He rode from the cars towards the sublime scene in which the battle had culminated and broken on the horizon o evening. A cloud of smoke and dust had lifted from the plain and hung sullenly in the sky; there was the distant clamor of battle; the strokes of artillery, slow and ponderous, smote the air; black masses of men, wavering, undistinguishable, bounded the strained vision and perplexed it. It was impossible to tell, from a distance, which army had won the day, or what flags rode in the mixed scene. The President galloped forward to learn the state of the field.—No one could tell him amid the roar and confusion. As he rode swiftly through a stream of stragglers, it seemed as if he was in the midst of a retreat, breasting its bold and dusty current. At that moment his brother, Joseph Davis, galloped to his side and said, "The day is lost; let us go no further." "No," said the President, "if the army is defeated, so much the greater reason that I should be with my brave men and their fate." They were the words of a personal courage which nothing in his life ever turned or daunted; and they were, perhaps, remembered when a distinguished son of Virginia, recently reviewing the leader of "the Lost Cause," declared briefly that he was a man who had had many favorable chances, and who had attained greatness only from comparison with a race of political pigmies in Mississippi and the Southwest, and who, with all the advantages of fortune, had but two virtues—a devoted espousal of his cause and "indomitable pluck."

The scene changes from the grandeur and tumult of battle. The night has fallen, and the stars have risen above the combs of the Blue Ridge, now a dusky boundary of the wine plain. Jackson has gone to his tent, gloomy and reluctant, muttering, "It is not my business to advise the Commander-in-chief how to pursue." Before another tent, larger and more pretentious, above which float in the night air the emblems of the Southern Confederacy, a quiet, elderly gentleman is seated, clad in simple gray, his brows shaded by a felt hat of light color and ample dimensions, his mouth garnished with a fragrant cigar, evidently a person fit to his ease, and indulging all complacency. This man is Jefferson Davis. There is a group of laced officers around him; General Beauregard sits among them, and General Johnston comes and goes, sharing the light and desultory conversation and soon retiring to perform some duty. Not a man speaks of pursuit of the enemy; not one has conceived it. They speak of some incidents of the field; Mr. Davis inquires of some of his Mississippi friends; the conversation becomes general, of politics, of persons in Washington, of anything else but the fugitive enemy; there is an abandonment in the scene, and every one is disposed to be well pleased and sociable. A few miles further from this light recreation, there are great, broken masses of men in hard retreat, the hum of their flight rises in the black hollowness of the night, panting struggling, pressing on in inextricable disorder, and yet with nothing at their heels but their own terrors. This is the Federal Army, the Grand Army. It flies through the night, it makes its escape, it is already shivering on the banks of the Potomac; while Jefferson Davis picturesquely smokes his cigar, strokes his neuralgic parts, and tells an edonte at the door of Gen. Beauregard's tent.

About a week ago a trunk was received at one of the express offices in Buffalo marked to be called for. Owing to the fact that a very disagreeable smell was emitted from the box, and no one having called for it, it was opened on Monday and found to contain the body of a woman, badly mutilated. Just above the heart a stab was discovered. Efforts are being made to solve the mystery.

Visitors to General Grant will hereafter only be admitted by card, or otherwise, from 10 to 12 o'clock each day. This rule is rendered necessary in order to afford time to transact business. This rule prohibits reporters and members, as well as office seekers.

A new hand in a Boston shop made terribly rough work in shaving a customer.—When the hacking ended, the victim asked: "Did you ever shave anybody before?" "Yes, sir." "Ah! Did the man live?"

LIFE INSURANCE.

The Most Vigorous and the Most Liberal Insurance Company in the Country.

BROOKLYN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY,

141 Broadway, N. Y.

ASSETS OVER

$1,000,000!

CHRISTIAN W. BUCK.....President.
ABRAM B. POLHEMUS.....Vice President.
WILLIAM M. COLE.....Secretary.
D. P. FACKLER.....Consulting Actuary
DANIEL AYRES, M. D. LL.D. Med. Examiner.

POLICIES ISSUED AS GOOD AS UNITED STATES BONDS.

POLICIES VALUABLE IN LIFE AS AT DEATH!

The BROOKLYN LIFE is the only Company in the country which guarantees a definite surrender-value to every Policy on which two or more annual premiums have been paid; this amount, in dollars and cents, is endorsed on every Policy issued. Should any Policy-holder become unable to pay his premiums, he can thus know the cash worth of the Policy at any time after two annual premiums have been paid.

This certainly is the greatest inducement and most tangible advantage ever accorded to parties insuring their lives.

Among the advantages offered by the BROOKLYN, which thoroughly evince the determination of the officers to make it the most LIBERAL Life Insurance Company in the United States, are:

1st TOTAL REMOVAL OF ALL RESTRICTIONS ON TRAVEL AND RESIDENCE. The Assured may travel or reside anywhere they choose, the world over, without extra premium or special permit.

2d A LOAN of one-third of the Premium to the Policy-Holder Annually.

3d. All Policies are non-forfeitable after two full annual premiums have been paid.

4th. Rates as low as are consistent with financial soundness, and less than those of almost all Companies which accommodate their assured with loans.

5th. Dividends annually (after second year) in cash. Dividends are divided on the CONTRIBUTION PLAN—the only equitable manner of dividing the earnings of a Life Insurance Company. The Contribution Plan was first conceived by Mr. D. P. Fackler, now Actuary of this Company and has been adopted by most of the best managed Life Companies in this country.

The BROOKLYN LIFE has paid and now pays to its Policy-holders LARGER DIVIDENDS than ever before paid by a Life Insurance Company!

6th. Promptitude in paying losses.

7th. No charge for policy or stamp.

The success which the "BROOKLYN" has achieved, fully exemplified in its rapid and healthful growth, is a convincing proof of the confidence reposed by the public in its soundness, integrity and liberality.

ÆTNA

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY,

HON. E. A. BULKELEY, President,
AUSTIN DUNHAM, Vice "
T. O. ENDERS, Secretary,
H. W. ST JOHN, Actuary.

SUMMARY OF BUSINESS FOR 1867.

Total Assets, over	$10,000,000
Polices Insured in '67,	15,251
Am't insured, nearly	$45,000,000
Policies Average "	3,000
Receipts for 1867,	5,129,447
Surplus for Dividends,	2,000,000

Dividend Fifty per cent.

Receipts for Interest Nearly Paid Its Losses.

It has $130 Assets for every $100 Liabilities.

Its premium receipts at the present time are nearly HALF A MILLION DOLLARS per month and are rapidly increasing.

The growth of the Ætna has never been equaled by any other Company whatsoever, in Europe or America.

Particular attention is called to the fact that while its business is increasing unprecedentedly, its ratio of expenses is comparatively small.

ECONOMY of management, CARE in the selection of risks, promptness in the payment of death claims, and security in the investment of its immense Trust Funds, are rigidly adhered to, and have ever characterized this Company.

The ÆTNA issues all the favorite kinds of Polices at the most favorable rates.

The ÆTNA issued last year more Endowment Insurances than any other Company.

The ÆTNA'S ratio of expenses, or cost of new business is less than any other Company whatsoever, and less than two-thirds of the average.

The ÆTNA is as liberal in permits to travel, in all parts of the world, as a sound discretion will warrant, and is much more liberal than any other prominent Company.

ANNUAL INCOME over $6,000,000.

The only Company that has the Low Participating Non-forfeitable Term Insurance with privilege of renewal. Ex. of rate at age 30 $14 67, which is nearly 40 per cent. lower than any other leading Company. Also Non-forfeiting cash rates with dividends on contribution plan and payable at the end of the first year.

Description of Policies.

First—Whole Life Policies,

Second—Endowment Policies, for terms of ten fifteen, twenty, twenty-five, thirty, and thirty-five years.

AGES.

Insurance will be granted at all ages from fifteen to sixty years.

PREMIUMS.

Premiums are payable annually during the continuance of the insurance, or annually during a period of five, ten, fifteen, or twenty years within the insurance term, or by single payment.

DIVIDENDS.

All Whole Life and Endowment Policies, issued at the rates published herewith, will participate in the surplus from the date of issue.

The dividends will be declared and paid annually upon the contribution plan, and may be applied as the assured shall elect, either to reduce future premiums, or to increase the Cash Value of the Policy.

If no election be made the dividends will be added to the Cash Values.

When, by adding the dividends to the Cash Value, the accumulations on any Policy shall have become sufficient to keep the same in force for its full amount, without further payments, the assured may, at his option, either continue payment of premiums—and enlarge thereby the annual additions to its Cash Value—or discontinue them; and in either case, when the accumulations shall have become equal to the sum insured, the annual dividends on the Policy will be declared as a per centage of said sum, and paid in cash, and upon surrender of said Policy the sum insured thereby will be paid in cash, without regard to the time fixed therein for its payment.

The system of applying the dividends is peculiarly advantageous to the assured, securing, at an increased age, not only relief from further payment of premiums, but at the same time, an annual income until death, unless he shall have previously received full payment of the Policy.

Dividends on paid-up Policies—that is, Policies which require no further payment of premium to continue them in force for the original amount of insurance—will be paid in cash upon demand.

NON-FORFEITURE RULES.

No whole Life or Endowment Policy, on which two or more annual cash premiums have been paid, shall be forfeited by failure to make further payment as stipulated therein, but will continue in force for the full amount which the Cash Value and dividends, then accumulated, will purchase, taken as a single net premium, upon the "Actuaries" rate of mortality and four per cent. interest; and the amount continued in force will generally exceed the aggregate of the payments actually made, extra charges excepted.

RAILROADS.

TO SHIPPERS.

NORTH CAROLINA

ALL STATE

RAILWAY LINES, (THAT USED TO BE.)

THE OLD RALEIGH & GASTON RAIL ROAD, THE SHORTEST, QUICKEST, SAFEST AND BEST LINE, NORTH AND SOUTH, TO BE LEFT OUT IN THE COLD, UNLESS SHIPPERS SPECIALLY SAY VIA. R. & G. R. R.!

WE inaugurated and are the Great Through Inland Air Line Route to all the Northern Markets, and have successfully worked the Line to the entire satisfaction of Shippers, North and South, for the last two years, as the ten Thousand shippers in North and South Carolina will testify. We paid the State near Seven Hundred Thousand Dollars for her interest in this Road—thereby saving the people from Taxation for all time to come $70,000 per year; and we unhesitatingly declare that we can and will give more dispatch to all points, North and South, than any other Line.

MISCELLANEOUS

NEW METHOD OF WASHING CLOTHES WITHOUT LABOR.

THE AUTOMATIC

CLOTHES WASHER AND BOILER.

THIS BOILER IS MOST EFFECTUAL, reliable and universally recommended. It can be used on any Stove or Range, in any house, and its low price of its entire power, it within the reach of every family.

This Boiler operates upon purely philosophical principles, is self-acting, and dispenses with labor and the wear of the clothes.

The hot suds and steam, by the action of heat, are driven up through tubes, poured upon the clothes, and forced through the fabric with astonishing rapidity, cleansing all grease, from the minutest fibre to the heaviest dirt. For Plantations it is invaluable, as it does not rot linen as in the old process of rubbing and scrubbing.

The time required for steaming a boiler full of clothes is twenty to thirty minutes, and nearly three hundred gallons of boiling suds are forced through the fabric thoroughly loosening and eradicating the dirt without labor or friction.—A thorough rinsing finishes the process.

Washing day will no longer be a terror and dread to housewives. The cost of the Boiler will soon be returned in the SAVING OF TIME AND LABOR, and the great saving to the wear of clothes.

The great value of this invention appears so clear, and appeals so directly to common sense, that we have deemed it unnecessary to accompany its introduction with numerous letters of approval, &c.

No invention has met with such ready sale and given such satisfaction. Call at LOGUES & BROTHER'S, and see its wonderful operations.—We have the exclusive right to sell and manufacture in the State.
