THE SENTINEL.

JOSIAH TURNER, Jr., EDITOR.

MONDAY, JULY 5, 1869.

CHIEF JUSTICIAR.

The Normans, long before William the Conquerer overran England, as Sherman did the South, had an officer they called Chief Justiciar, who was subsequently called Chief Justice. William, like the Yankees, had not made his conquest of England complete before he introduced the laws, customs and pronunciations, of his own country among the people he had conquered.

We have one of the conquerers, Tourgee, assisted by two of the subjugated, Rodman and Barringer, calling themselves Code Commissioners, engaged in copying the laws of the conquerers for our adoption. It is of no moment whether the laws be applicable to our condition and people or not, they find them in the Code of the conquerers, and they are such laws as the conquerers are most familiar with, and, therefore they will have none other.

Next to the King, the Chief Justice in William's time was chief in power and authority; he was guardian of the public peace, and had controling influence over the finances of the Kingdom. In rank he stood above all the nobility. When the King was abroad or beyond seas, he governed the realm like a Viceroy. [When the Governor goes abroad again we are sure it will be better to leave Chief Justice Pearson and not Charley Horner in authority.] The first Chief Justice of England, was named Odo; history informs us that "he was bred to letters and to arms;" he took holy orders, and also distinguished himself in knightly and military achievements.

After one hundred and fifty years in the exercise of Kingly authority, the Chief Justiciar or Chief Justices of England, as we now say, were greatly reduced in their splendor, rank, power and authority. Then the administration of Justice finally became their special duty, as the administration of Justice and the decision of causes between man and man is the special duty of the Chief Justice of North Carolina.

The first Chief Justice of England was also known as Earl of Kent and Bishop of Bayeux. For his arrogance and oppression of the people, William ordered the arrest of Chief Justice Odo. The officers of the law would not arrest him because of the high estimation in which the clergy were held. The Chief Justice insisted that he was a "prelate and exempt from all temporal power." Old William, seizing upon the Chief Justice with his own hands, exclaimed, "God forbid that I should touch the Bishop of Bayeux, but I make the Earl of Kent my prisoner." The Chief Justice was sent to prison where he remained for five years. When the Chief Justice of England was being carried off to jail, the people cried out "rope! rope! hang him! hang him!"

Bragg, Haywood and Moore, are ready to say, with old William, "God forbid that we should touch the Supreme Court, or say that which would impair its usefulness, character or standing, but, when Pearson, Reade, Dick, Settle and Rodman, or one of all of them, turn politicians, Bragg, Haywood and Moore, with the 108 protesting lawyers, will 'lay their hands upon them,' " and the people will say, "well done." We understand that an effort was made to induce the Circuit Court Judges to make the same rule upon the Bar, which was made by the Supreme Court, and that they, too, should not allow members of the Bar, who had signed the Protest, to practice before them, until they should purge themselves of contempt, but they wisely declined to make the rule.

It will be conceded that if the Supreme Court can punish the Bar by excluding them from practice, the Circuit Court can do the same thing. At Rockingham, Judge Tourgee, in the Court House, and standing where, an hour before, he sat as a Judge, entered earnestly into political discussion with Judge Pearson's friend, "Hon." Windy Billy Henderson. Billy, in the discussion, called the Judge "a d—d liar and a jail bird from the Pedlitentiary of Ohio." When the discussion was over the Judge took his seat upon the bench, and the Sheriff, by proclamation, opened Court. According to the opinion of the Supreme Court, as lately expressed in the "contempt" case, Judge Tourgee had the right to make the following order on said Windy Billy, as soon as he called Court: "The Clerk of this Court will inquire and report who of the Attorneys practicing at this bar have called the Court a "d—d liar and jail bird from the Penitentiary of Ohio." The Clerk would report, only Wm. F. Henderson.—Then would follow, ordered by the Court that Wm. F. Henderson be disabled from hereafter appearing as an Attorney or Counsellor in this Court, unless and until he shall first appear and purge himself of contempt of Court for having uttered such libellous language." We take it Windy Billy Henderson would answer in the very language of the protesting lawyers, if he had been able to compose so sensible a protest; first, that there was no contempt in law or in fact; second, that calling Judge Tourgee a d—d liar was not libellous; third, that the Court had no jurisdiction; fourth, that no contempt of Court was intended, the language not being aimed at the Court but at Tourgee, the man. If Tourgee should punish Henderson as the Supreme Court did Bragg, Moore, Haywood and the 108 others, by excluding him for a week from the Court, the people, whenever they would see Tourgee would cry out "rope! rope! hang him! hang him!" and Tourgee would deserve it.

The idea is monstrous, that the Judges, Dick, Settle, Tourgee and others, should canvass the State, make their speeches to negroes generally, and forbid their opponents reply ng to them, and then, when gentlemen had mildly remonstrated and protested against their conduct, that they should go upon the Bench and attempt to punish them for contempt of Court. We used old William, the Conqueror, to collar all such Judges, and that would give the people the courage to cry out "rope! rope!!"

The language of Judge Reade in his Hyman letter is sufficiently severe for the condemnation of the Court, and we apply it to them instead of anything of our own: "So whether I declare for one or the other, I could be nothing better than a fool at the least. The strongest conviction of my mind is, that it would be a breach of propriety, for which I know no precedent in North Carolina, and for which I would be severely censured. By universal consent, if not by the imperative demand of the public sentiment, the Judges have stood aloof from active participation in party contests, so that, declare as I might, if I were to declare at all, I could not hope to escape denunciation and the consequent prejudice of a large portion of the public, by reason of which my influence on the Bench, where I really desire to be useful, would be impaired."—Thus we have it from his own mouth that for participation in politics, Judge Reade expected to be "denounced." For our part we shall disappoint him, and leave it with the people to deal out the "denunciation" upon him and the Court, which he anticipated and so justly merits.

"SOUTHERN HISTORICAL SOCIETY."

In our issue of Friday, June 25th, 1869, we published, from the New Orleans Picayune, an account of a meeting of the above named society, held in that city on the 14th of June, at which the permanent Constitution and By-laws were read and adopted. Owing to the press of matter on hand at that time, we deferred an editorial notice until the present.

We see that the Rev. B. M. Palmer, D. D., is President, Gen. Braxton Bragg, Vice President, and Joseph Jones, M. D., Secretary and Treasurer. In the list of the Vice Presidents of States we find the name of Gen. D. H. Hill for North Carolina, a most capital selection.

The objects of the Society are set forth in the official circular, which was published with the proceedings, and amount to about this:

A collection of papers and documents relating to, or connected with the history of the Southern States, from the earliest times down to the present date, but, especially, everything connected with the late war—Histories of States, complete files of newspapers, statistics of all kinds, works, speeches &c., official reports and private descriptions of campaigns and battles, military maps reports upon the equipments, organization, numbers and losses of the several branches of the armies of the C. S. A., reports upon naval operations, and the nitre and mining bureau, foreign relations, currency, medical statistics, &c., names of officers and soldiers who were killed or wounded during the war, when and where; all matter relating to treatment of prisoners during the war, either soldiers or citizens, the conduct of hostile armies towards the citizens of the invaded country, Southern poetry, ballads songs, &c., &c.

The purpose of the Society is to have its head in New Orleans, with branches in every Southern State, under a Vice President, which, in the course of time, will spread into District or County Societies.

A suitable fire proof building is to be procured for a place of deposit for the records, until their publication in future, and contributions, in money, for that purpose and other necessary expenses, are respectfully solicited.

North Carolina should take advantage of this opportunity to transmit to posterity a true account of the gallantry and devotion of our own soldiers during the war.

The slander of North Carolina Troops, by such unreliable writers as Pollard, of Virginia, should be rejected (as they have been through the columns of the Sentinel,) by men who were present in the engagements. The determined valor of our soldiers, in some of the bloodiest battles of the war, should be told by those who were participants or eye witnesses.

The outrages of Sherman's invading army could be delineated by many of our noble women, who were the sufferers in its line of march, and as for the treatment of prisoners of war, we have, in our own town, many gentlemen who could give accurate and reliable descriptions of the sufferings and horrors of Northern prison life, at Johnson Island, Point Lookout, Elmira, Fort Delaware and Charleston harbor.—Let all those who have the knowlege, and are interested give their mite, though it be but a page. The truth of our actions and sufferings will be but a just legacy to our posterity.

We suppose that at an early day our Vice President, Gen. D. H. Hill, will take steps to organize societies throughout the State.

All communications and remittances should be addressed, prepaid, to Dr. Joseph Jones, Secretary and Treasurer of the Southern Historical Society, New Orleans, La.

We hope that the newspapers of the State, generally, will call the attention of their readers to the organization of this Society.

Spurgeon's nose has become a matter of London newspaper comment. An irreverent scribbler says it is as much read as his sermons.

THE RICHMOND CATASTROPHE.—Our telegraphic dispatches, on Saturday, announced the falling of a bridge, at Richmond, Va., on Friday last, by which a number of persons were killed and wounded, among the former Col. James R Branch, son of Hon. Branch, Esq., formerly of Petersburg, and Conservative candidate for the Senate in the Richmond District.

A barbecue was given to the colored citizens who had attached themselves to the liberal party, at Vauxhall's Island, and the large crowd passing to the place over the bridge, caused it to give way, precipitating the immense crowd, amid the broken timbers, into the water below.

Col. Branch and policeman Kirkham were killed immediately, and two others supposed to be mortally wounded, besides several others more or less injured. The Richmond Dispatch, in its account of the catastrophe, thus alludes to the public feeling in regard to Col. Branch:

"We do not exaggerate the public feeling at the loss of this excellent gentleman and invaluable citizen when we say that the death of no man in the city would be more deeply deplored. He was one of the most useful of men. He was sagacious, energetic, liberal, patriotic. He was quick to foresee, prompt to act, and untiring in his public devotion. He was what in modern parlance is styled a "live man;" and he was considered as one of the men just suited to the exigency of the times—created, as it were, for them—to bear an important part in bringing our dear mother Virginia out of the embarrassments and woes in which she is involved and putting her upon her new career of grandeur and power. He moved with his father to this city from Petersburg since the war. He rapidly gained popularity, and was a nominee for the State Senate from this district, for the election on Tuesday next."

Col. Branch was well known to most of our readers who have had business transactions with Petersburg, during the last twenty years, as a member of the extensive business firm of Thomas Branch & Sons, and they will mingle their sympathies with the friends of the deceased in Virginia, at the melancholy end of one so gifted and beloved, and with such bright prospects for future usefulness.

SUGAR.—We are indebted to a friend for the following statistical facts in regard to this great staple:

The quantity produced in the world is estimated at 2,800,000 tons. Of this the United States consumes 500,000 tons, Great Britain consumes 650,000 tons.

The increased consumption in the United States, per year, was found to be, in 1867, '68 and '69, sixty thousand tons.

Of this supply Cuba has usually supplied one-third. The Southern States crop of the past year was about 100,000 tons.

The supply from Cuba being now measurably cut off will leave the U. S. 430,000 tons to draw on other foreign supplies, or do without it. Hence the certainty of very high prices for sugar and syrup.

Comparative strength of sorghum sugar as contrasted with that made in the West Indies and Louisiana, as per analysis of Professor J. Lawrence Smith, formerly of the School of Coemistry in the University of Virginia.

This analysis was made after a careful examination of polarized light (the most approved method) to ascertain the amount of chrystalizable sugar in each specimen

The result was 89 per cent. for sorghum, while in four samples of New Orleans sugar, the best being almost white, was 90 per cent.

To whom is the country indebted for the ingenious and inhuman spectacle presented on the field of Gettysburg? The bones of the Confederate dead are there lying bleaching in the sun, and no attempt has been made to reinter them. Is this an exhibition of loyalty, or is the notorious Shirley on guard there too? What offence have the dead committed that their bones must be treated with such brutal contumely? Is this the kind of peace which was to shed its beams on the country when Grant was inaugurated?—Metropolitan Record.

APPOINTED AT LAST.—A dispatch from Washington says: "Mrs. Dr. Mary E. Walker has at last succeeded in her persistent applications for a government office. Pantaloons and all, she is to be inducted into a clerkship in the office of the third auditor. She will be the only woman in that office, but it will be remembered that she expressed herself as "not afraid of the men."

Arizona advices to the 8th of June state that Colonel Sanford's command had returned to Camp McDowell. They killed 93 Indians and captured four during the expedition. Colonel Price's command killed three Indians and destroyed a great amount of property during the late raid through the Wallapai country.

The Yazoo, Miss., Banner, says a number of the old Yerger family servants were in town a few days ago, and having heard of the tragic affair at Jackson, in which Colonel E. M. Yerger was so unfortunately involved, inquired if money would "do Massa Ned any good," declaring that, if necessary, they would among them raise $1,500 to aid in his defense.

SENTENCED FOR PERJURY.—George B. Davis and John D. Mellarry, convicted of perjury in swearing to certain statements falsely implicating Collector Bailey, of New York, in frauds upon the revenue, have been sentenced—the former to the King's county penitentiary for five years, and the latter in the Albany penitentiary for a similar period, besides paying a fine of $2,000.

A man died in New Orleans a few days ago, leaving one of the simplest and briefest wills on record. It consisted of only these words: "Mrs. Roper is my heiress," with a codicil of four or five words more; and although it was severely contested in the Courts, its legality was sustained.

The Houston Telegraph says that thirty cents a day will supply a family with meat and vegetables in that city.

STATE NEWS.

FINES.—The amount realized by fines imposed by the Special Court, in Wilmington during the month of June was between five and six hundred dollars. This sum includes both money collected and labor performed.

Ida Bates, a gay girl of the period, was yesterday carried before the Special Court on the accusation of having defrauded a credulous young man of $2.00. The Court decided the prosecutor should pay one half of the costs attending the suit, and the defendant, the other.—Wil. Star.

IN PURSUIT.—Mr. Isaac Casey yesterday arrived in our city, from Chatham, in pursuit of a number of rogues that recently stole a couple of fine horses from Mr. J. C. Privett, Goldsboro. Mr. Casey had pursued the thieves to Chatham, and not catching them at that place, he extended his trip to Wilmington. Shortly after his arrival, he received a telegram, stating the horses had been recovered and returned to the owner. The rogues are still at large.—Wil. Star.

Vegetables and crops in and around this city present a deplorably parched appearance. Everything seems drying up from the great drought and, unless rain is speedily sent, will die.—Wil. Journal.

Let it be borne in mind by all interested, that in 1860, the value of the property owned by the citizens of this county, (Warren) was NINE MILLIONS of Dollars, and that under so called rebel-Democratic rule, the taxes levied for that year, amounted to Nine thousand dollars; while in 1869, the value of the property owned by citizens of this county (Warren) is less than TWO MILLIONS of Dollars, and that under Radical Legislation and taxes levied for this year (1869) amount to THIRTY THOUSAND DOLLARS.—Living Present.

We learn that during the past week the barns of Messrs. W. S. Davis, J. J. Egerton and Charles Watkins, in this county were broken open and more or less tobacco taken from each. Mr. Egerton, we believe, is the heaviest loser, about two hogsheads being carried off by the thieves, who were arrested by officer Jones and lodged in the calaboose to await their trial.—Living Present.

CAPE FEAR ACADEMY—COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES.

The Commencement Exercises of the Cape Fear Academy took place in the City Hall yesterday afternoon as originally appointed. The Cadets formed in regular order at the Academy grounds at 5½ o'clock and, preceded by a band of music, marched down through Front and Market streets and thence round by Third street to the Hall.—Already a large number of ladies and gentlemen had assembled in the building. In the meantime, the little gun of Captain J. C. McIlhenny belched forth its thunder, shaking the very building with its echoes.

The Cadets took their stations in the Hall amid music by the band. When the arrangement had been completed, the Exercises were opened with a prayer by Rev. A. Paul Repiton, D. D., clothed in eloquent, feeling and expressive language.

The Principal of the institution, Gen. R. E. Colston, after returning thanks to patrons for the support and encouragement he stowed, and a short address to the Cadets appropriative to the occasion, proceeded with the distribution of prizes in the following manner and to the Cadets named:

Certificates of Good Conduct.—Cadets E. M. Cushing, L. W. Huggins, Dobbin Holmes, Pembroke Jones, ——Murchison, T. C. Mellhenny, Rob't McCoy, Walter Parsley, John Rothwell, John T. Schonwall, Ed. Singletary, Samuel Bear, N. B. Stephens, W. Walker.

The following medals and certificates were awarded in the different branches of study:

Medals.—J. D. Ragland, Math. and Fr; David Gregg, Math. and Span.; M. Cronly, Math. Lit. and Gr.; J. I. McRee, Lit. Gr. and Fr; Thomas Atkinson, Lit. and Gr; W. L. Smith, Math. and Lit.; Alex. Sprunt, Lit. and Gr.; L. P. Davis Gr.; John Heyer, Math. and Gr; J. D. Bellamy, Math., Gr. and Lit.; Geo. N. Herriss, Arith; Rob't McKoy, Gr.; Wm. McKoy, G.

Certificates of good Progress.—L. P. Davis, Math. and Fr.; J. I. McRee, Math.; J. S. Schonwald, Math.; Alex. Sprunt, Math. and Fr.; M. Cronly, Fr.; Thos. Atkinson, Fr.; J. D. Bellamy, Fr.; Jordan Thomas, Fr., Lit. and Gram.; Wm. McKoy, Lit.; Robt. McKoy, Lit.; Fred. A. Derosset, Lit and Arith.; Thos. Harriss, Lit., Math. and Fr.; M. S. Willard, Lit., Geography, Gram and Arith.; Ed. Engelhard, Lit., Arith. and Gram.; W. P. Price, Lit. and Geogr.; E. M. Cushing, Arith., Geogr. and Gram.; Clarence Lowe, Geogr.; W. K. Price, Geogr. and Gram.; W. L. Smith, Geogr. and Lit.; George Parsley, Geogr. and Math.; Jno. Rothwell, Arith., Geogr., Gram. and Fr.; A. V. Wood, Geogr and Math.; Jno. Cazaux, Geogr. and Gram.; W. L. Harlow, Geogr. and Gram; J. Love, Gram.; T. C Mellhenny, Gram.; L. W. Huggins, Gram; Frank Agostini, Gram; David Mitchell, Arith. and Fr.; John Russell, Arith.; Emmet Rayland, Arith.; A. Meares, Arith.; R. H. Bunting, Arith., Geogr. and History; Robt. Strange, History; R. Meares, Geogr., Gram. and History; Ed. Singletary, Gram; Clinton Van Ornsdell, Gram.; R. Dix, Gram.; Fred Cantwell, Gram. and Arith.; Reuben Ragland, Gram.; Robert Cantwell, Gram.; Wright Meares, Gram and Arith.; Samuel Bear, Arith. and History; Pembroke Jones, History; Dobbin Holmes, History; Walter Parsley, History; Chas. Metts, Arith.; Jos. Smith, Arith. and Gram.; Jas. Ryan, Arith.; W. Walker, Arith.; Brook Empie, History.

At the conclusion of this distribution, which was conducted amid successive glances of delight from the fortunate ones above named, Col. A. M. Waddell delivered the Commencement Address. To do justice to this excellent, though simple, address would require its publication entire. Its excellence we attribute in great part to its beautiful complicity and appropriateness to the occasion. There was one leading feature which peculiarly stamped it—an effort to inspire these young Cadets with a desire to be gentlemen in the full and honorable sense of the term. The address gave much pleasure to all who heard it, which was testified by enthusiastic applause at its termination.

Thus closed the exercises, and the audience dispersed animated with a feeling of pleasure at the manner in which they had been entertained.

AN EX FEDERAL GENERAL ON THE WALKER TICKET.—Gen. Charles P. Stone, late of the Union army, but now engaged in mining, is nominated in the Goochland district for State Senator on the Walker ticket. Gen. Stone has been living in Virginia since the close of the war, and has heretofore declined to be a candidate for office.
