JOSIAH TURNER, Jr., EDITOR.

INTERESTING ACCOUNT OF THE GREAT SALT LAKE COUNTRY.

The Washington Star publishes an interesting editorial letter from Salt Lake City, from which we take the following extracts:

A CURIOUS FEATURE OF SALT.

It is a singular fact that Salt Lake has within the last half-dozen years risen some nine feet, and the point we visited is submerged farming land, the fences of which are still standing in the water. Far up the hill-sides, bounding the valley, may be seen the well marked water line, showing the height formerly reached by the lake—Should it ever reach a similar height the Mormon problem will be solved, so far as Salt Lake City is concerned, by the burial of the place an hundred feet or more under the brine. The Mormons' account for the rise in the lake by the unusual amount of cloudy and rainy weather of late years, by which the process of evaporation has been retarded; but as they seem to count also a permanent increase in the rain-fall of the valley in consequence of its being brought into cultivation, the same causes which have produced the present rise in the lake may continue to operate until it has overcome the moderate elevation of the city above it.

Salt Lake has four rivers of considerable size, constantly contributing their waters to swell its bulk, and yet it has no outlet whatever—at least no visible outlet. Under hot, unclouded suns the work of evaporation is undoubtedly rapid over its broad extent of 40 by 150 miles, but any change in the atmospheric conditions to arrest the evaporation may change the whole aspect of affairs in the valley in a few years.

The lake has a number of mountainous islands, more like the bold, rugged islands of the Mediterranean in picturesque effect, probably, than any others in the country.—These, with the wonderful indigo blue of the waters, the rich cultivated valley, and the background of snowy mountains, make up a picture of varied and striking beauty. Hundreds of gulls and snipe occupied the shore as we drove up, and seemed disinclined to move, affording a tempting opportunity for a shot had we been provided with guns. On alighting, some of our party found some interesting specimen of the horned toad hopping about in the grass. The water of the lake appeared clear at a little distance, but on a closer view it was found to be perfectly alive with a whitish semi-transparent animalcule, and the shores of the lake were covered with the dead insects in such numbers as to make a sort of scarf. The insects were from half to two thirds of an inch in length, shrimp-ish in shape, and as lively as vinegar eels, affording rather a striking contradiction to the writers who have set down Salt Lake as utterly destitute of animal life. On entering the water for a swim, our host warned us to beware of letting the brine enter the mouth, nostrils or ears, as it would cause acute pain in consequence of its strength, but the novelty of our experiences in attempting to keep the body under water were so novel that shouts of wonder and explosions of laughter greeted every new effort and catastrophe, and soon to all this added the spitting, sputtering and sneezing from the introduction of the pungent water to the nose and mouth. It caused violent bleeding of the nose with some, and we all had occasion to remember the brine with some depth of feeling.

The water of Salt Lake, according to Stansbury, contains more than twenty per cent. of chloride of sodium, and its specific gravity is greater than that of any other body of water except the Dead Sea. We waded out some distance to get sufficient depth for immersion, and our progress was amusingly fatiguing in consequence of the density of the water. It was almost as tiring as to wade through very heavy snow; and the attempt to move the hands rapidly through it was about as successful as through quicksilver. One could sit motionless in the water, and float as comfortably as if seated in an arm-chair, or lie extended on the back with most of the body above water. But when essaying to swim it was with great difficulty that the feet could be kept sufficiently submerged to enable the swimmer to "kick out." A stick thrust down into the bottom would in a moment shoot up out of the water with such force as to leap more than its length above the surface. On emerging from our bath the encrustation of salt upon the skin was so thick as to cause the oddest sensations—something like that of having suddenly acquired an invisible metallic skin—and it was only after washing in a fresh water stream entering the lake that we began to feel like ourselves again.

For one thing, it developes a tremendous appetite to bathe in Salt Lake, and it was a pretty hungry party that gathered under the shade trees of that Mormon farmer, near the lake, to partake of the good things brought out in such profusion from our friend Cannon's magical baskets.

THE BOILING SPRINGS.

On the return to the city we stopped to inspect the Hot Sulphur Springs, hot enough to boil eggs, and, indeed, we found some eggs in a cloth bag immersed in the water for economical cookery, the property, probably, of the people in a cabin adjoining. It was proposed to test our powers of endurance in the way of parboil by thrusting our hands in the bubbling pool. I found it convenient to remove mine at the end of about two seconds, but K. stood it four seconds—and wore gloves for a month afterward! The water flows from the mountain side in a strong stream, forming a large pool, and the waste goes off to form a pretty little lake, known as Hot Spring Lake, much resorted to in the summer for bathing and as water for stock. The sulphur of the water forms from the bottom of the pool in the shape of marine plants of brilliant colors, and so deceptive is the resemblance to living plants that it needs close inspection to undeceive one. The water, as I have said, is of boiling heat, as it issues from the base of the mountain, and the pool is fenced in to prevent accidents.

THE ST. LOUIS NATIONAL CAPITAL MOVEMENT—REFERENCE FROM GOVERNOR—St. Louis, Sept. 3.—From correspondence in the hands of the National Capital Convention Committee it appears that Gov. Geary, of Pennsylvania, declines to send delegates to the National Convention, to be held here next month, on the ground that the people of Pennsylvania are not ready to sanction such a movement at present.

Governor Baker, of Indiana, while he approves the movement himself, questions the authority to appoint delegates in the absence of expressions of views by the people on the subject.

The Mayor of Memphis thinks the Convention should be postponed one year.

Henry S. Foote, of Tennessee, claims to have favored the removal of the capital for the last twenty years.

Governor Wadsworth, of Louisiana, and Governor McClurg, of Missouri, announce their intention of appointing full delegations.

The Convention will be held if not more than three States are represented.

Improved with ROWELL'S PATENT DOUBLE COGWHEELS, and the PATENT STOP, are now unquestionably far superior to any apparatus for washing clothes ever invented, and will save their cost twice a year, by saving labor and clothes.

Those who have used them give testimony as follows:

"We take our machine much; could not be persuaded to do without it, and with the aid of Doty, we feel that we are masters of the position."—Rev. L. Scott, Bishop M. E. Church.

"It is worth one dollar a week in any family."—N. Y. Tribune.

"In the laundry of my house there is a perpetual thanksgiving on Mondays for the invention."—Rev. Theodore L. Cuyler.

"I heartily commend it to economists of time, money, and contentment."—Rev. Dr. Bellows.

"Every week has given it a stronger hold upon the affections of the inmates of the laundry."—N. Y. Observer.

"Friend Doty—Your last improvement of your Washing Machine is a complete success. I assure you "our machine," after 6 years use, is thought more of to-day than ever, and would not be parted with under any circumstances."—Solon Robinson.

"Your Washing Machine has been in daily use in our laundry and the housekeeper expresses herself as highly pleased with it. It certainly accomplishes a greater amount of work, with less labor, and does not wear the clothes near so much as the old fashioned wash-board. By using it, one laundress is dispensed with."—Wm. M. F. Round, Superintendent of Inland Department of St. Catherine's Nursery, N. Y. City.

PRICES.—A Fair Offer.

Send the retail price Washer $14, Extra Wringer $9 and we will forward either or both machines, free of freight, to places where no one is selling; and so sure are we they will be liked, that we agree to refund the money if any one wishes to return the machines, free of freight, after a month's trial, according to directions.

No husband, father or brother should permit the drudgery of washing with the hands, fifty-two days in the year, when it can be done better, more expeditiously, with less labor, and no injury to the garments, by a Doty Clothes Washer, and a Universal Wringer.

Canvassers with exclusive right of sale make money fast selling them.
