JOSIAH TURNER, Jr., EDITOR.

CONFEDERATE CAMP SCENES IN THE WAR.

A letter in XIX Century, published in Charleston, S. C., describes the scenes in the Confederate camps in the early part of the war:

"Until the establishment of the blockade many of the camps were supplied with every luxury that could tempt the palate. Plantations yielded their richest stores of provisions; time honored wine cellars contributed the choicest liquors, while thoughtful mothers and sisters remembered in liberal offering of the "good things from home" their kind-ness in the camp. If there are two things in the world for which a genuine Southerner has a weakness, they are innumerable drinks and good cigars. While these lasted they were enjoyed; and from reveille until the evening 'taps' the gamut of punch and julaps was run incessantly in the hospitable camp of the boys, with a true de rapo movement. In attempting to evade a sentinel, no man was safe without his fluid countersign.

"Halt! who goes there?' A friend with a bottle was the response.' 'Advance bottle and draw stopper'; whereupon the Rubicon was crossed. Every tent was an 'open house' to the inmates of every other, and the spirit of 'hail fellow well met, take a drink,' everywhere prevailed. On the mess table was the never-failing bottle hospitality in the shape of 'plantation bitters' or Bourbon cocktails; under the table a demijohn of old rye' or XX Cognac; within arm's length was the mess chest, rich with mollifying stores of English cheese, lemons, crackers, sardines and condiments; while not unfrequently a miniature vault below the floor of the tent had only to be tapped to disclose a mine of Madeira, sherry and champagne.

"Such were the experiences of the soldier. The hardships amounted to comparatively nothing, the discipline was not severe and the fraternization between the officers and men contributed to make their then life one long holiday. With the closing of the blockade, however, the departure of the troops from the neighborhood of home, and the driving of tent pins in the soil of Virginia, luxuries took their place among the things to be remembered. The army began to experience something of the vicissitudes of war."

BOY'S RIGHTS—BY A BOY.

Talk about the woman and the darkies, and the—the—all the rest of 'em; none of 'em all are half so badly used as boys are. Ask any boy. I know a lot, and can give you all their names. Ask 'em all. They'll tell you to be a boy is to be somebody without a right in the world.

You're to take all the ease that's given to you, and give none back, 'cause you're a boy. You are to pay full fare in the cars and omnibuses, 'cause your'e a boy and not a child; and never have a seat, 'cause you're a boy and not a man. Fat lady gets in after it's all full, and looks about her; everybody looks at you. Old gentleman says, "My son," reprovingly. Conductor says, "Come, now, you boy." You've paid your sixpence. No matter—that is nothing. You're been on you legs, with bundles, all day. Who cares?—you're a boy. Now a horse has such a load given to him as he can carry, and a man won't take any more than he can walk under. Ask boys what grown folks think they can carry. There's no limit to it. Who doesn't known a boy who does a man's work, and does it well, for a tenth of what a man would get for it? Who hasn't read an advertisement for a boy who "writes a good hand, understands accounts, is willing to make himself useful; boards with his parents; is trustworth; no objection to sitting up all night; not anxious for meals at regular times; no impudence about him. The best recommendations required, and two dollars a week wages."

Ask boys whether old fellows don't make as much fuss about such places, as if they were doing you a favor that would see you up for life.

Who wants a boy anywhere? Your sisters don't in the parlor. Your father don't; he always ask you whether you're not wanted to do something somewhere.—You make your mother's head ache, whenever you come near her. Old ladies snap you up. Young ladies "hate boys." Young men tease you, and give it to you if you tease back. Other fellows—such bosoms they are aggravated so, I know—always want to fight, if they don't know you; and, when you get a black eye and a torn jacket, you hear of it at home.

You look back and wonder if you ever were that pretty little fellow in petticoats that everybody stuffed with candy; and you wonder whether you'll ever be a man, and be liked by the girls, and treated politely by the other fellows, and paid for your work, and allowed to do as you choose. And you make up your mind every day, not to be boy any longer than you can help it; and hear your grandfather or somebody complaining that there "are no boys now," and wonder if he remembers the life they led, that he don't consider it a subject of rejoicing.

There's only one comfort in it all; boys will grow up, and when they do they generally forget all that they went through in their youth, and make the boys of their day suffer just as they did.

RETURN OF THE CUBAN ARMY.

About six o'clock last evening we met the first detachment of Cuban Patriots that our eyes ever rested upon. They consisted of something like fourteen patriots, ranging from fourteen to twenty years of age, who had never quarrelled in Kansas, Ark., by Hon. J. C. Billadge, U. S. District Attorney, Major Watson and U. S. Deputy Marshal Cox. The party left on Saturday morning, for the "Queen of the Antilles," and were found camped out on Fredericksburg, where they surrendered without firing a gun. The whole party are now carefully imprisoned in the rooms over Hon. W. C. Morrill's office, and will be examined by that officer at 10 o'clock, to-day. Among them is one of the fair sex, dressed in man's clothes, who was as unfortunate as her companions. The whole party will be dealt with to day in approved form.

Through the courtesy of Hon. J. C. Billadge, we were favored with an interview with the lady recruit, who stated to us that her age is twenty-four years. Her husband was killed at the battle of Gettysburg, when she was left a widow with a male child, now seven years of age. She fell in love with a young man, who met her at her residence in Atlanta, and she agreed to go with him on the Cuban expedition, with the intention of leaving the crowd in Florida, where her relatives reside. At the Gate City Hotel, Costa was busily up for recruits in this city, she occupied rooms at Brown's Hotel, where she had her hair cut and assumed the habiliments of the opposite sex. As soon as her sex was discovered, Colonel Milledge gave orders to have her placed in a room by herself, where she now remains under guard. The whole affair will be investigated this morning.—Macon Journal.

UNIVERSAL CLOTHES WRINGER.

Improved with BOWELL'S PATENT DOUBLE CONVERSE, and the PATENT STOP, are now unquestionably far superior to any apparatus for washing clothes ever invented, and will save their cost twice a year, by saving labor and clothes.

Those who have used them give testimony as follows:

"We like our machine much; could not be persuaded to do without it, and with the aid of Doty, we feel that we are masters of the position."—Rev. L. Scott, Bishop M. E. Church.

"It is worth one dollar a week to any family."—N. Y. Tribune.

"In the laundry of my house there is a perpetual thanksgiving on Mondays for the invention."—Rev. Theodore L. Cuyler.

"I heartily commend it to economists of time, money, and contentment."—Rev. Dr. Bellows.

"Every week has given it a stronger hold upon the affections of the inmates of the laundry."—N. Y. Observer.

"Friend Doty—Your last improvement of your Washing Machine is a complete success. I assure you 'our machine,' after a year's use, is thought more of to-day than ever, and would not be parted with under any circumstances."—Solon Robinson.

"Your Washing Machine has been in daily use in our laundry and the housekeeper expresses herself as highly pleased with it. It certainly accomplishes a greater amount of work, with less labor, and does not wear the clothes near so much as the old fashioned 'rub-board.' By using it the laundress is dispensed with."—Wm. M. F. Round, Superintendent of Infant Department of St. Catherine's Nursery, N. Y. City.

PRICES.—A Fair Offer.

Send the retail price Washer $15, Extra Wringer $7 and we will forward either or both machines, free of freight, to places where no one is selling; and so sure are we they will be liked, that we agree to refund the money if any one wishes to return the machines, free of freight, after a month's trial, according to directions.

No husband, father or brother should permit the drudgery of washing with the hands; fifty-two days in the year, when it can be done better, more expeditiously, with less labor, and no injury to the garments, by a Doty Clothes Washer, and a Universal Wringer.

Canvassers with exclusive right of sale make money fast selling them.

Sold by dealers generally, to whom liberal discounts are made.
