The Daily Sentinel. JONAH TURNER, Jr., EDITOR. THE BURIAL OF GEORGE PEABODY. The last ceremonies over the remains of the illustrious philanthropist was performed on Tuesday in the village in Massachusetts which bears his name. The funeral was attended by between 2,000 and 3,000 people including many distinguished persons and the order of exercises substantially as arranged were carried out, despite the storm which prevailed throughout the day. The procession started at 10 o'clock and occupied a position in the procession immediately following the relatives of the deceased, succeeded by Ministers Thomas, English and American naval officers, State and city officials. The delegation from the City of Massachusetts, the Baltimore City delegation with those of the cities of Salem, Boston and Portland. The services began with a religious on the organ. The anthem, "Dido, she shall all look come," by Mozart, was then impressively sung. Sermons were read by Rev. Daniel Marsh, pastor of the Peabody Memorial church, in Georgetown. How to Breathe. There is one rule to be observed in taking exercises by walking - the breath must be taken in which it is taken, and it is never allowed the action of respiration to be carried on through the mouth. The breath must be drawn in through the nostrils, and the medium through which respiration is designed by our Creator to be carried on - God breathes into man's nostrils the breath of life - the breath of his becoming a living creature. The difference between the breath of life and the breath of death is the difference between a man who breathes in through his nostrils and a man who breathes in through his mouth. The breath of life is carried on through the nostrils, and the breath of death is carried on through the mouth. The breath of life is carried on through the nostrils, and the breath of death is carried on through the mouth. The breath of life is carried on through the nostrils, and the breath of death is carried on through the mouth.
