SPOT BREATH IN THE HOUSE.

Washington, June 28.—General Butler and General Farnsworth met in Butler's office in the House this afternoon, and the occasion was one of the most interesting of the session. Probably no other scene of personalities was ever allowed more than in this body of produced more impassioned language. The bills in question were intelligible, being the question of passing a private pension bill for the father of one

Rolls Butler over the President's veto.

While Butler was advocating the passage of the bill Farnsworth introduced a motion for the adjournment, and Butler was employed as counsel for the opponents of the bill. Butler turned around to the other side of the aisle and spoke for a few minutes. He criticized the bill as unconstitutional and a violation of the Constitution. He urged the passage of the bill as a test of the courage of the House.

He then returned to his seat, and the bill was passed by a vote of 100 yeas and 80 nays.

The bill was then sent to the Senate for its consideration.

The bill is now in the hands of the Senate, and it is expected that it will be passed there also.
