RADICAL OUTRAGES IN NORTH CAROLINA.

A armed Radical militia, commanded by a desperado named Kirk, are committing the most unparalleled outrages in North Carolina. This Kirk has declared martial law in Alamance county, arrested many leading citizens, and appointed military commissioners to try them. They were seized without warrants, and the charges against them are unknown. A Raleigh telegram of the 18th says: "There is no insurrection or resistance to the civil law in this State, and up to this time there has been none reported. The people are seeking redress from the civil authorities. They called upon Governor Holden for assistance. He refused. More than this, he is in league with Kirk and his ruffians and butchers, and they are acting under his authority as Chief Magistrate of the Commonwealth. The meaning of this crusade against the peaceable citizens of North Carolina is to secure, if possible, a Radical triumph at the polls this fall. At the close of the late General Assembly of North Carolina, Governor Holden felt the necessity, but was by no means disposed to give up the contest without a desperate struggle. His wits and those of his abettors, were put to devise some scheme by which the Democrats could be foiled. It was soon determined that the only effective way was to control the August elections by the force of the bayonet; but to do this successfully the support of the President must be had, and how to secure his aid was the question. At this juncture Judge Settle was dispatched to Washington. He called upon General Grant, and told him that the rebels and Ku Kluxers were butchering men, women and children in all parts of the State. This bait took, and the President asked what General Holden had not put himself at the head of an armed force and gone to the counties where the outrages were committed, and suppressed them—that he (Grant) had examined the Constitution and laws of North Carolina, and that they gave Holden ample powers to raise an armed force to suppress these disorders, and if the attempt produced insurrection, he, the President, would aid him by all the force of the United States. This was what Judge Settle wanted. He readily communicated with John Pool and General Abbott, who saw the game at once. They hastened to Raleigh—the scheme for the military defeat and subjugation of the Democrats and Conservatives of North Carolina, was devised and Kirk is now putting it in execution for partisan purposes. The people of North Carolina are as orderly and peaceable as those of any State in the Union. They obey the laws with ready and cheerful alacrity, and give full credit to all the acts of those in authority. But they are opposed to Governor Holden and the plundering crew by which he is surrounded. They wish honest men to administer the laws and attend to their interests. In short, they have nominated anti Holden tickets to be supported at the coming election, and for that offense, no other, they are arrested by Kirk's soldiers, and punished in the most lawless and brutal manner. This is the plan suggested by General Grant, this the plan which he promised to uphold by all the force of the United States if necessary. When the outrages in North Carolina are viewed in this light, they assume most portentious shapes, and stain the present national administration with still more infamous colors.

HOLDEN'S WAR.

The military crusade which Holden is making against the people of Alamance and Caswell, and which doubtless he will extend to other counties, is costing immense sum of money. The shrieks of dying women and children, the groans of strong men, and the desertions of home and business and crops are the present evils of Holden's military operations. But men cannot die fast, and clothed, and paid, and transported without fearful cost. The people of North Carolina are expected to foot the bill. The victims of these outrages, it is intended, shall pay the expenses.

If the organization of Holden's regiments of "State troops" is illegal, as we are fully persuaded it is, then the Treasurer and his bondsmen are responsible for all the money paid out for that purpose. This money cannot be forced from the people this year, for the taxes have already been assessed. It is expected that the next Legislature will realize these expenditures, and the money will be raised by additional taxation next year.

Our advice, therefore, is for all candidates for the Legislature, Conservative and Radical, to be asked by the people if they will vote for an appropriation for this purpose. Every candidate approves of Holden's war, and will vote money out of the Treasury to defray its expenses, he should be beaten regardless of his politics. Our burdens are too heavy now. White and black people alike are hampered and crushed under the stagnation of business caused by the excessive taxes which we pay. Let every constituency demand a pledge of candidates that they will, under no circumstances, vote to pay the debt incurred by Holden for his military operations. This course has been pursued in several counties already, and Conservatives and Radicals freely pledge themselves against the war programme of the Governor and against all appropriations in its behalf. If the Governor inaugurates war against his own people in violation of his duty and contrary to law, and the Treasurer honors his requisitions, let them make good the amount, or let their creditors whistle for their money.—Wil. Journal.

A most singular will has just been opened in Venice. A rich old bachelor has bequeathed his entire fortune to a distant relative, a very pretty young lady, nineteen years of age, and not left a shilling to his nearer relations. So far there is nothing singular about it. But it happened that the testator had been endowed by nature with a fearful hump on his back and a clump foot. Now, he puts the condition that she must marry a man endowed with similar ornaments if she wishes to touch the estate. The rightful heirs are contesting the validity of the will, saying that Mr. ——— would put in such a condition.
