JULIUS TURNER, Jr., EDITOR.
JAMES H. MOORE, Assistant and Local Editor.

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1869.

FOR CONSERVATIVE CANDIDATE
For Governor
GEN. J. H. DUKE.

BARBER AND HAIR DRESSER.

Before closing this question of opposition to the Pole ground. Both were inquired for. We thought we had explained and made it quite why the Speech quoted by Judge Watts was not found by Judge Watts. Answer: because we left the Court House at Chowan, while Judge Brooks opened the Court. However, three of us opened wills in the House of the Marshal returnable to the United States Court, using Kirk and Bergen for their implements. We required the marshal to take bail.

Upon these writs Bergen was put in jail. His friends wanted us to keep him there for nearly a month, but we got some bonds with good sureties in them. That is, Carrow, the bondsman, signed the writs; and when these bonds were served the warrant. Capers foiled him, saying, Kirk was in his custody. Five minutes would have been sufficient for Capers to execute his writ and place Kirk in Edenton Bank to jail, yet he let him near two months to do so.

Enough on this point. Capers [illegible] Carrow tells it down east where [illegible] that the jury [illegible] "Jo Turner his orders not to talk about him or he will get whipped." Well, Jo Carrow, Address the jury justly, or you will have us to "whip" for we will talk against crime and criminals or those who dare shelter, screen, or defend them. We advise you when you come, not to fall down as you did in the Cole Moore & the Edenton Bank case.

FOURTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT CONVENTION.

Congress will assemble the first Monday in December. There is but little time left to supply the vacancy occasioned by the death of Judge Dillard. We suggested on Saturday, that if the President of the late Conservative Convention at Hendersonville would call that body together at that place at as early day to nominate a candidate, it would be satisfactory to our party friends.

The delegates in that Convention should be in readiness to meet the call of the President. Tell the District to be fully represented, and let each delegate resolve to select a strong man and the best man for the position. The election of the right man will be no easy task, yet not so easy as to make us active and exertion unnecessary. We hope the attention will fall upon the man who will bear our banner triumphantly through the contest. We are prepared to support any man whom the Convention will select. Sacrifice and effort will be required, but it is a time when personal considerations should be waived for the good of the cause.

FOR THE COUNTY.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Wilmington, Charlotte and Rutherford Railroad Company, on Friday last, the Hon. Jno. Dawson was elected President.

The unpleasantness existing between the Governor's Directory, and several of Dr. Gilmer, elected R. R. Martin President.

The utter shamelessness of the Governor and his organs in relation to the misdirection of $10,000 has continued to the present day. The Governor knows by the Auditor of State himself that he (Holden) did receive of Swepson twenty thousand dollars of bonds, same as a bribe, yet the Governor still retains him in a position where he can handle millions of money!—Will he do it?

If he does, has he any reason to complain if people suspect him of having shared in Sloan's $10,000?

RUN AWAY.

A friend wrote to us just after the August election, that Chief Justice Pearson passing Hon. [illegible] Caldwell county, [illegible] of the election, told the people that "Turner had run away and left Holden standing by himself." If the Judge did not make the [illegible] it was because he was not prepared to do so with [illegible] Holden's organ [illegible] grappling to the [illegible] from Raleigh, where we had gone to run [illegible] to protect our [illegible] from Armed Leaguers who infested the neighborhood.

A friend of East Bend sends us the County of Surry Docket. Chief Justice, when [illegible] Constable to summon [illegible] Surry [illegible] Court. We discuss the Judge as he was now compelled to at the time. If it gets so again, we shall get [illegible]

ANOTHER CROP OF RUIN.

The success of the cotton crop of 1870, is a subject which enters sharply into [illegible] The agricultural [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]