CITY AND STATE ITEMS

TEMPERATURE - The following was the record of the thermometer at Pink C. Har-

The fruit and berry trade is said to be very brisk in Salem

Charlotte is anxious to have a mechanical convention

Wilmington is soon to have a brass band composed of white men

George McKoon, an old citizen living near M. Taber, Forsyth, while at work Friday, fell dead

There were eight interments in Pine Forest Cemetery, Wilmington, during the month of July

The counties of Wake, Caswell and Graham have returned to the State Auditor's office, their latest abstracts of tax returns for the year 1871

Andrew H. M. Miller, Deputy U. S. Marshal, brought three men to the city on Thursday evening, arrested in Johnston county, charged with kidnaping

Schumaker - A slight scuffle occurred at the postoffice corner, yesterday afternoon, between C. L. Harris, supt. of public works, and Mr. Wyatt Holloman, who did not learn the origin of the difficulty. Nobody hurt

Carry D. Grady - This talented young North Carolinian, the son of T. T. Grady, of Oxford, born of the high talents of his class at the Virginia military institute. This speaks well for North Carolina, as the test of scholarship at that institution is rigid and impartial

NEW STUDENTS - A meeting of the stockholders of the North Western North Carolina Railroad Company, held on Thursday, July 27th, 1871, the following gentlemen were elected Directors: C. E. Sholer, D. W. C. Johnson, Thos. B. Knight, E. H. H. W. Price, D. H. Starbuck, D. H. Travis, H. W. Wheeler, R. Gray, M. Masten, W. P. Henly, and I. G. Lamb. E. Belo was elected President, and W. A. Lemly Secretary and Treasurer

CALL THEM IN - A federal soldier at camp says, give him twenty men and he will take Oxendine, Ross Strong & Co. Instead of calling federal soldiers into such service, they are sent to Chatham to intimidate voters, while two regiments of militia are called out to arrest six lawless negroes. Twenty men would do better service than two regiments. If the governor had called a league meeting at the office, Ross Strong and his men might have attended and the governor could have captured him

SERIOUS ACCIDENT - John I. Nissen, says the Salem Sentinel of the 3d inst., was seriously if not dangerously hurt on last Thursday by the caving in of a portion of the wall of the well at Fogle's steam saw mill. Mr. Nissen had gone down in the well to show how to fix something that was wrong, and while giving instructions to a workman, a part of the wall fell, striking him on the head, and knocking him against the bucket, fracturing his upper jaw knocking out some of his teeth, and otherwise injuring him badly

SUDDEN DEATH - We regret to learn, says the Greensboro' Patriot of the 3d inst., of the sudden death of Dr. McCall, one of the most respected and highly esteemed citizens of Rockingham county, which occurred last week. It appears that he and Dr. Seales were returning in the evening, in a buggy, from a political meeting which had been held that day in the neighborhood, and when arrived at the gate leading to his residence, Dr. Seales alighted for the purpose of opening the gate, and on returning observed his companion suffering from muscular contraction, and in a few moments, before aid could be brought, he was corpse

WAKE FOREST COLLEGE - We are indebted to Prof. W. M. Wingate, D. D., for a catalogue of Wake Forest College, for the 36th session, 1870-71

This institution of learning, located 15 miles of Raleigh and immediately upon the line of the Raleigh & Gaston railroad, enjoys a high reputation throughout the entire country. The location is very healthy, and the thoroughness and extent of the scheme of studies, the high grade of scholarship attempted by means of the daily, oral, and quarterly written examinations; the careful discipline and healthful moral tone and the success attained in capturing the cost of education, recommend it to the careful consideration of all

The next session will open September 15th, and all persons desiring further information can obtain it on application to the President, Prof. Wingate, at Forestville, N. C.

Don't Fall - Members of the committee appointed by the mechanic meeting, will not fail to meet according to appointment, at the court house to-night. Encouraging news from mechanics and workmen is coming in from all quarters of the state, and they are looking forward to the report of this committee with much anxiety. The following gentlemen compose the committee: J. H. Seapark, Jacob S. Allen, John Armstrong, N. B. Doughton, David L. Hoyer, Robert Dobbins, Joseph Green, M. Graubman, Anderson Betts, Wm. Simpson and John Whitlaw

The fire department of Wilmington has just received a new steam fire engine

BOARD OF TRADE - There will be a meeting of the Board of Trade held this evening, August 5th, at 4 1/2 o'clock, to take into consideration the questions of freight and telegraph. Members are requested to attend promptly, by order of the President

MAY'S COLONY - Notwithstanding that this colony yesterday was troubled with only very insignificant cases of cholera who unfortunately took on board too much "bread and butter." They were properly attended to

From the San Francisco Bulletin, July 1: DEATH OF THE FAMOUS MEXICAN BANDIT LOZADA

THE COLORADO CASE - By the Colorado we received, via Mexico, the report of the death of one of the most remarkable men of our day, General Lozada, of Tepic, generally known among his countrymen by the name of "El Tigre de Tepic." His career, like that of De Francia and Lopez, of Paraguayan, could not have been specially remarkable in Europe. A native of Tepic, he, in our day, it is said, almost like a romance. Born of poor Indian parents, in an obscure village of Jalisco, he was reared a peasant, but soon developed talents fitting him for higher things. Rising to the dignity of a brigadier general, he was the victor in the wars of the mountain districts of Tepic. Two great foreign houses contested the control of the trade of that part of Mexico, and one of them found it convenient to retain Lozada in its pay, while the other sought to retain him as a man who, if possible, a greater tribute than the other

The trials taken revealed whole districts. Lozada, captured in cold blood the entire population of whole villages, and Lozada had to follow the foot of the prisoners, then worked them over beds of hot coals. This was one of his bloodiest jobs. So the war went on for years, but finally Lozada triumphed, and Rojas, the chief of his district, was carried off and killed like a dog, and he devoted himself to his country. Lozada increased his power, until he was able to arrogate to himself the title of "Chief of the Neutral District of Tepic," and could summon to his aid an army of ten thousand Indian troops, ready to march, and he devoted himself to his country. Without openly declaring his independence of the Federal government of Mexico, he managed to control the district of Tepic, the northwestern corner of Jalisco, bordering on Sonora, with San Blas for its port of entry and not only the acts of the Federal officials. The internal revenues of his district he collected and expended himself. When a vessel consigned to his agents arrived at San Blas he notified the custom house authorities on what terms the goods should be allowed to land, and if his orders were not obeyed, unannounced all the goods on board he could lay his hands on and from the offshore away. The almost impenetrable mountains in the rear of Tepic protected him from invasion by the forces of Durango, and the government, having no facilities for attacking him by sea, was obliged to temporize and bide its time. Tepic prospered, and the rule of Lozada was virtually that of a monarch of the time via San Blas, and he executed the laws, such as they were, very rigorously, allowing no one else to steal or commit murder. Tepic was the most orderly district in Mexico many years ago, and his rule was virtually that of a monarch of the time via San Blas, and he executed the laws, such as they were, very rigorously, allowing no one else to steal or commit murder. Tepic was the most orderly district in Mexico many years ago, and his rule was virtually that of a monarch of the time via San Blas, and he executed the laws, such as they were, very rigorously, allowing no one else to steal or commit murder.

UNSECTIONAL, UNPARTISAN, UNPOLITICAL SCHOOL BOOKS - The freshest series of Text-Books published - containing the latest results of discovery and scientific research

Maurys Geographical Series - By Commodore M. F. MAURY, of the Virginia Military Institute. A series of books which mark an era in the study of this science, and which, in the words of a well known and accomplished Southern teacher, "are characterized by a felicity of arrangement and simple treatment of style which mark them as attractive to the young, and which will be used by all who wish to teach Geography as a science, as something to make pupils think, and not merely as an enumeration of dry facts"

Holmes' Readers and Spellers - By GEORGE F. HOLMES, LL.D., Professor of History and General Literature in the University of Virginia. A series of Readers unparalleled in cheapness, excellence, and typographical beauty. They are steadily progressive in character, bright and fresh in their selections of prose and verse, and illustrative of Southern scenes, incidents, and history

Holmes' History of the United States - By GEORGE F. HOLMES, LL.D., of the University of Virginia. It is enough to say of this admirable work, interesting, impartial, and truthful, as well as pure and graceful in style, that it is the only History of the United States which is strictly American. It comes down to the present date. Also: De Vore's French Grammar, Readers, etc.; Gildersleeve's Latin Series; Carter's Elements of General History; Holmes' English Grammars; LeConte's Scientific Series; Johnston's English Classics; Duntonian Writing-Books, etc., etc.
