SENTENCED.—W. B. Parker, white, and Alfred Gilmer, col., convicted of the murder of Thos. Price, col., at last term of court, say the "Goldsboro' Patriot" of the 7th inst., were yesterday brought into court and sentenced to be hanged in the jail yard on the 27th of October, between the hours of 12 and 3 o'clock. The sentence was pronounced by Judge Toulson in an affecting manner, during which Parker maintained his characteristic sang froid, but his partner in crime manifested

They had built a bridge over a small creek to the pecan court which has been made in their behalf, but which failed. Their only chance now of escaping the justice will be in the success of an effort which will be made to have their sentence commuted to imprisonment for life.

A gentleman from Stanly says the "Piney Woods" of the 6th inst., informs us that while the Rev. W. J. Leard was addressing a large audience in the Methodist church, at Albemarle, on Thursday, the 1st ult., a panic was created among the congregation by the breaking of a bench in the gallery which was mistaken for the falling of the building; every available means of exit was at once resorted to, and in the confusion which ensued one lady, Mrs. Freeman, had her arm broken, and several other persons were severely bruised.

HOW HENRY BERRY LOWREY AMUSES HIMSELF.—We learn from one who has lately been visiting different portions of Robeson county, says the "Wilmington Star" of the 7th, that Henry Berry Lowrey has recently been playing some practical jokes upon the soldiers and militia who are in the field against him and his gang. It is said that the U. S. troops have their camp near what is known as Pleasant Prospect church, and that about a mile from there resides an old woman who sells "tangle-leg" whiskey, who has been receiving frequent visits from the "boys blue." Report has it that on Wednesday last six of the soldiers were proceeding to execute one of the "strategic movements" alluded to, walking leisurely along the path, without arms, when a man suddenly sprang from the bushes, armed to the teeth, and confronted them, startling them with the information that he was the redoubtable Henry Berry Lowrey. He told them they were fools if they came to Robeson county with the expectation of killing or capturing him, for it would never be done. He had lately received a message from the "Lords" that he had 12 years to live, and further informed the "stronched" men of man" that he had singled out some of their comrades upon whom he intended to wreak his vengeance. Being unarmed, the soldiers seized the first opportunity to make a backward movement in the direction of their camp, willing to forgo the luxury of indulging in their favorite beverage rather than provoke the wrath of the daring outlaw.

A few days after the above occurrence, our informant states, an officer of the militia received a message from Lowrey, stating that he had visited their camp the night before and inspected their arms to see if they were in proper condition. As a proof of this assertion, he stated that he had left his "card," which would be found attached to one of their guns. Upon examining their weapons the name of Henry Berry Lowrey was found inscribed, upon the breach of one of them, very much to the astonishment of the gallant outlaw.

This is rather hard on General German.

AMUSEMENTS.—We understand that our city will be visited this fall and winter by quite a number of superior theatrical and opera companies. John Templeton, supported by a large and talented company will arrive next week; the Wornell Sisters will appear during the Fair week, and the week after, Litchfield's German opera troupe will delight our music-loving citizens.

We learn that the famous Forrest endeavor to engage Tucker Hall for the Fair week, but not being in time had to postpone his visit until sometime this fall.
