The simple history of the case being sufficient proof to us that the lung tissue had sustained injury, for blood by the mouth and blood and air by the democratic victory in Texas which it merits. The victory in Texas was just such as the people of North Carolina achieved in 1870. The radicals and ne gross had full and complete control of the state government. The federal government spent all its force and corrupt power account, perhaps, of their usual superstition, and partly owing to the excited condition which they were in. We had to keep the white natives under the domi-

In Texas, as in North Carolina, one more victory, is needed for the regeneration of the people and the state. The radicals threaten Texas, as they did North Carolina, with the federal sword. The people of Texas must defy them as have the people of North Caro them as have the people of North Caro-line. The people of Texas have acted was established, and to more effectually nobly, and they have but followed the example set by the people of North Carolina who have sworn it at the ballot box that African ignorance and carpet-bag corruption shall no longer 'rule them.

In closing this article, we express our regrets that we have now no opportunity of watching the remote results of the wounds described, as the subject of the article passed from our notice too soon for their development. In concluding, we might say that the case with which we have had to deal, in our brief description, was not a gaunt, spectre-like figure of a man, but a man of full statue, thily developed with stamina and powers of endurance, for which he might be envied, and with this condition of health, together with the consideration of the rapid flight of the ball, and that in its course it escapel large result, is due such happy results as those described.
