The nominee of the Philadelphia Cou ention for the Vice Presidency is not unknown in North Carolina. He once visited our State and displayed his crato rial gifts. He is a man of some talents, but as a politician belongs to the New England school -a school that never produced a wise, prudent, well-balanced statesman, upless we except. Daniel Webster. They are ordinarily men of crotchets-possessed of an idea that brings every thing in subordination to it. The world must be compelled to adopt that idea or principle, or failure and less must

Wilson has more capacity than Colfax, but he is more selfish and cruel. He is a cold, phlegmatic, calculating schemer tterly devoted to Wilson first and nex charetts, and then to New Eng land. He is by no means, all things con sidered, as improvement on Colfax, nes sentowinged by all to be m and an exce siding officer. His personal and polital record is every way as unexceptions as Wilson's, but he has been sacrificed the peresities of the hour.

As to Grant's renomination, that wa expected. The Bread and Butter Brigade of Grant's army went to Philadelphia to do what the General had ordered. The platform and the programme had been and all that was to be done at Philadelphia was to go through the prescribed drill. We shall have occasion to pay our respects to His Majesty on many occasion not detain our renders to-day with any cemarics upon his unworthiness for the high place he aspices again to fill. Stuid in intellect, deprayed in morals, corrupt in principle, incapable of learning from experience, a pliant tool in the hands of abler but not more corrupt men, as enemy to the South, a despot at heart, he is utterly unfit to be the roler of a free, spiring, latelligent people. When Grant rise cradied evil spirits stood about the unsling and mingled the most direful indients in the emp of their sorceries that at was forced to drink; the polson ked spon his system, and when hood came, it found him shrivelled in brains, vicious in principle, profligate in life and plastic in character. "I will no nore trust him when he losse, than I will a serpent when he hisses; he will spend his mouth, and premise, like Brabler the hound; but when he performs, astrono sers foretell it : It is prodigious, then will the moon, when he keeps his word."

MEETING IN SAMPSON. We have runnived the proceedings of seting of the Conservative-Demo citizens of Djunal Township held on $2st ult. The letter has been travelling around so we hold the Post Master General re seible, Jno. C. Williams was Chair n and Lewis C. Spell, Secretary. Twolve as were appointed to attend the ion to meet at Clinton on Tipd solutions of thanks were offered to Moore Murphy, Troy and Maxwell entatives in the Legislature, for thful services, and to the Legislature producing the expense of the State est $131,448. The nominations of Greenbern' Convention were heartily endemed. The following persons were

The reader will remember that a great re was made some time ago about the plunderings of the New York Custom House officials some of Grant's durlings The U. S. Senate raised a committee to look into the matter, and after long delay. a report is submitted to Congress which completely whitewashes the rascals, exon erating Leet & Company from all impro priety or blame, and that, too, in the facof overwhelming evidence of guilt.

What a striking example is this of the boasted civil service reform of Useless and les corrupt set! The action, too, of the majority committee (composed of radicals) is highly characteristic. Without giving notice to the minority the report was to troduced, and, as was expected, took the minority by surprise. They asked for time, proposing to prepare and print a report during the press; but this was oled them. The majority insisted upon a report at once-before the adjournment of the present session. It is very evident what this movement is hoped to accou plish. By cutting off all debate, and preventing those opposed to the obsequiou majority from reporting, it is doubtless intended as far as possible to withhold all information from the public, As the Louisville Courier Journal well says of the majority report-" this report itself is a greater fraud upon the people of the suntry than even the investigated frauds upon the merchants of New York,"

This is a fit specimen of the refe among efficials that Grant pretended to so anxiously favor. A most notorious outrage and the grossest trauds are perpetrated by a follow named Leet and his could prors, and instead of being expelled at once from office, they are retained with a carts blenche, to renow their villainies without restraint or fimitation. Since the world was made we do not believe there was ever such high handed tyranny and systematic and widespread villainy and e struption. And yet it is sought to pain off upon the country for another four years or for life, Useless S. Grant, the endomer, the patronizer of such fraud and injustine! Will the people agree to it?

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It is now said that of all the Democrat e papers in the United States fully nine tenths are in favor of confirming the Cincinnatti nominationa at Baltimore. - On the other hand, it is known that Grant's subsidized press, both North and South, are a unit in desiring the Baltimor Convention to nominate h straight out Democratic ticket. All this is exceeding ly patriotic and -cute. With a trianguhar ticket in the field they think that Grant would lead the race as Lincoln did in 1860. Lincoln was beaten in the popalar vote over thirteen hundred thousan and yet he was elected and we had a ter rible war with he terrible consequences Will-the same thing he repeated in 1873? Will Useless be again elected although the popular majority may be largely

This fits North Carolina to a T. So of our scalawags and carpet baggers are now riding in fine carriages, sporting their day, whose credit tive years ago would have been violently strained to obtain one mint julep. Berbery and roguery have done the work most effectually in these sarta. Still, people calling themselves cent, hob-nob with the thieves and swindlers and see nothing very beinous in what they have done Judges, legislators, sheriffs, every sort of officer from the highest to the lowest, is more or less involved in crime. DEMOCRATIC MEETING IN ALLE

GHANY.

The greatest meeting since the war.
A large assemblage of the Conservative voters of Alieghany convened in Sparta, June 3d, for nominating country officers.
Union prevailed, enthusiasm for grander effect than was ever lad before was the firm resolve. The good people of the country have come to a sunce of their dangerous duty, they have backled on the armor for victory, and in August and November they will strike a deadily blow at radicalism. The convention was called the convention was called a convention of the conventi radicalism. The convention was called to order by calling C. H. Doughton, Esq., to the chair, W. C. Fleids, A. J. For the Sentinel. BILL MCRESSON AND WINDY BIL LY ORATING. OLD FORT, CATAWRA VALE, McDawkla County, N. C.,

May 31, 1872. This evening a great and glorious bled at the grove near a large spring nd near the resolute of C. S. Moring or whose peculiar honor and pecuniar senesits the whole programme was as the arrangement until three o'clock p. m., when an excelsior train of five or six caches rolled up filled to overflowing with the sens of Cush, and deposited them right to our midst. Heathed by a brass hand, they murched in Solem and disorderly procession to the secred grove and made a simultaneous rush for the spring, and after quenching their thist, they returned and occupied the wide seats prepared for them. The darkey top rails occupying those in front of the speaker's stand, the white scala wags those in the rear, while those like sysell, who had no part or lot in the motter had to accommodate ourselves as best Conspicuous among the crowd of hou-orable and respectably Cushites, were two white, or semi white scalawag, William F. McKesson of brandy dranking, and Windy Billy Headerson of mule sten i g estoriery, who had the supreme honor-eing chosen orator of the day.

McKesson was the first to ascend the rand. He was comparatively a new convert to the faith. It ports my that one night while poulering till late over the sinced condition of the country, he fell ecpand dreamed that he saw a long ladder, apparently reaching from earth for heaven. An angel appeared to him and told him by the aid of a certain man be could reach the throne of bliss. Tired of this deprayed and deceifful word, he impediately began to ascend the ladder and kept climbing higher and higher till this orth looked to him no lakeer than the ottem of a common bottle of brandy although he arrived at the topmost round, and so near the gate of good old St. Peter that he could almost reach it. After making several unsuccessful attempts to do so gave up in despair, and was about to descend to terra firms again. Just at that important moment General Grant,. previous, held out to him a Mammoth ngar, which he immediately seized and by its aid he landed inside the gates of glory. From that memorable n letermined the eafter and forever to cast his lot with the Radicals and join that solitical church out of whose pate there is o national salvation, Well, as I said McKesson ascended the stand; and after gazing with one eye upon the wooly heads around him, (for he other was covered with a black shade) he putted out a well filled tickler of brandy rom his pocket, took a hearty swig, leposited it by a pitcher of water on ak before him-rolled up his coateeves, and thus began : " Fellow-citizeny, white and colored, from the counties of and took another swig of oh, he joyful.) If report be true, many of those losed and bring negroes were his own sons and daughters; and instead of treating them kindly and humanely, he was at times tyrannical in the extreme. By the time he closed his pathetic research about himself, and his nearness all marks about himself, and his negroes, the moisture of humanity was transfer The Norfolk papers announced the suicide from his throat to his eyes, but anoth of Charles F. He took a heavy dose of landanum, and while walking along the street fell in a stupor, from which the physicians were unable to arouse him. He left a letter addressed to his mother, the following extract from which explains the melanchols act. melancholy act:

"Dear mether, my reasons for doing this is that I have contracted a habit of drinking liquor to such an extent that I cannot stop it, and rather than bring discrete on you and brother, I would rather died, and parted forth his blood in dearned on you and brother, I would rather moisture left his throat, and began in pearly drups to distil from his eyes; so after draining his tickler to the last drop, thomas Catholic order of such descentable. and patting Windy Billy, and calling him grandfather, and teiting the darkies Windy's hair was dyed, he took his seat.
