The negro, James Harris, followed S. F. and during his remarks a very disgraceful scene ensued. Harris during his remarks stated that he would reply to any interrogatories propounded to him. A colored liberal republican, from Washington City. stood up in a very respectful manner to intimate his desire to accept the speak er's invitation, Immediately he was visited with the wrath of the negroes. Shouts of "Sit down you damn rascal "-" God dama you sit down "-You shan't open your mouth" and the like. Harris then exclaimed, in substance, "all colored men like you who come down here ought to have a collar around your necks," The demonstration of the negroes became so threatening that Deputy Sheriff Maguin interfered and led the man from the Hall, whose only offence was the willingness which he exhibited to accept a public in vitation, extended by a speaker, to ask questions. New York, July 16.-Tweed's trial commenced in the Supreme Court. The defindants counsels are Moure. David Dudley Field, Fullerton, Stoughton, Burrell, Reynelds, Bartists, John Staham and Root. Those for the processition are O'Connor, Tilden and Pockham. A motion was made by the defense that the court enter judgment for a nominal sum, under which case it could be taken to the Court of Appeals.

O'Connor opposed the motion, believing it his duty to press the case without listening to any proposition from the defense. The defense claimed the right to heard, whereupon the Court decided to hear the arguments in the Tweed and Connoily case together, and Stoughton made the opening speech for the delense.
