REV. CHARLES F. DREMS, D. D .- The writer has been a great admirer of this minent divine since his Chapel Hill days, when once in three weeks he sat delighted under his ascet and persuasive eloquence. It gives him much pleasure to find the following criticism in the N. C. Presbytarian. We have reason to believe that the criffque is as just us felicitous.

It was our privilege to hear at the Presbyterian Church, on Sebbath morning, the Rev. Church of Sebbath morning, the Rev. Church of the Strangers," in New York city, who was in attendance upon the Conference. In social intercourse, Dr. Deems is a genial, delightful companion. In the pulpit, he is none the less attractive. His theme was "The tender care of God for His children," and most ably and touchingly did he under care of God for His children," and most ably and touchingly did he nofold the richness of the gaspet. He employed frequent illustrations from the Bible, and his copiousness, vividness and brilliancy of description brought the subject home to that crowded house, and tenderly touched many hearts. His descriptive powers we have never heard

IMGISLATIVE SUMMARY.

The Senate on Saturday was ongaged chiefly in the discussion of the bill to charter the Bank of Raieigh and the bill to provide for the support of the Asylum for the Insune. The former bill gave rise to an inter esting debate, a brief synopsis of which will be found in the Senate report. The question of providing for the relief of the unfortunate insene now in the care of the several counties and outside of the Asylum will be fully discussed hereafter. The House of Representatives on Saturdry took no definite action on any measure of public importance save the Scuste bill in regard to the public printing. The bill amendatory of the present School law was up, but setting upon it was p stponed and the till ordered to be printed. The reader can post blusself fully by reference to the calumn containing a full report of the proceedings.

A small colored boy yesterday accidentally shot himself in the hand by carelessly handling a shot gun. The wound though severe is-not dangerous.

We hope our western subscribers to the daily will excuse the non-appearance of their Saturday's paper at the proper time, as the mail was unavoidably lost on Friday alternoon.

Special attention is directed to the attractive advertisements, of the following staugeh and reliable business houses of this city. All of them enjoy a high reputation, not only in this immediate community, but throughout the State;
