State vs Nick Alford, from Wake, Attorney General Hargrove for the State, Busbee & Busbee for the derendants.

For the Septinel.

MR. EDFTOR-Dear Sir :- The farmers in this vicinity, and no doubt all over the State, are suffering largely by whiskey sheps—"cotton traps." Not only to our cotton stolen from the field, but our gin houses are constantly robbed, and the cotton taken off and sold by the negroes tor whiskey. There are three of these cottos traps near my farm in Edgecombe kept by unprincipled men, and any night, quantities of negroes may be found there for the removal of the with bags of cotton to barter off for cotton. One of these cotton traps, without having raised a single stalk of cotton. Harris also drew atternal of the court has sold some forty bales. We have borne this thing until forbearance ceases to be a virtue, and I hope you can influence the Legislature to pass some law for our protection. I have tried the Repfor our protection. I have tried the Reptice should cease, They were not resentative from my county, and he demade by Scintors. He would not call clines on the ground that it will be ob-jected to by the Western men. Although you have been treated so shamefully by the party, I hope and believe there are some in the Legislature grateful for the incalculable service you have rendered the entire State, who you might influence work the thing through for us.

If you feel disposed to put us under still more obligations to you, by getting the law for us, I will suggest two outlines or forms, you can clothe them as suits

First, say, that the county commissioners shall not grant licence to any one to sell liquors, whiskey, &c., without such applicant can show a written consent of all persons whose lands join the lands of the applicant where he wishes to do busin m. Or e n i, pas a law which forbids any merchant, vender of intoxicating drinks, or trader from buying or bartering phia; John H Thorpe, Rocky Mount; for any agricultural produce, without the written or verbal consent of the owner of the land on which such produce was raised. For violation, let the the penalty be not less than five years imprisonment in the pentientiary.
Yours Respectfully,
