COMO BURNED - The house at Como, the former residence of the late H. C. Jones, Esq., near Salisbury, was burned last Saturday night. The property belonged to Capt. W. H. Crawford of Salisbury, and was insured we understand. The house was occupied by laborers and the fire is supposed to have been accidental.

MAGAY'S POND - This far famed mill-pond, familiarly known as McCoy's Pond, now the property of Mrs. Wm. G. McKee, is near Salisbury, covered by its waters, at ordinary height, some five hundred acres of land. The pond is considered prejudicial to the health of the surrounding country, particularly of Salisbury, and the question of draining it is again in agitation.

They have petrified a woman in Gold Hill, Nevada. She was so astonished at her husband coming home sober that she has become petrified with astonishment ever since. It is a rare case, and should be a warning to Gold Hillers not to send their wives by any such unwholesome proceedings. When a wife expects her husband to come home inebriated, it is a reflection on her judgment for him to go home soberly, as did this brute.

HOMERIDGE - A correspondent of The Garden (London) says: "It may not be generally known that if leaves or litter be placed on the tops of household chimneys two feet or so thick, the plants grow through them in the course of the summer, making white roots the thickness of one's finger, which are as tender as spring radishes, and much to be preferred to the tough, stringy stuff usually supplied with our roast beef."

Andrew J. Jones is no more. He died at the residence of his brother, Mr. Thos. J. Jones, at Carver's Creek, Bladen county, on Wednesday, March 28th, at 2 p. m. of dropsy, after an illness of about 6 months. Mr. Jones was quite prominent as a politician and was well known throughout the State. He had many of the talents which would make a man a leader, but was possessed with a genial disposition, which secured him many warm friends - Wm. Star.

Disastrous Accident - A very distressing accident occurred yesterday morning, near the Wilmington Journal, near the corner of Market and Fifth streets. A little lad about 12 years old, son of Mr. Henry Bledsoe, was engaged, with a number of others, in jumping on and off the street cars while in motion and unknown to him, he fell from the car. As young Bledsoe jumped he missed his hold and fell, the wheels of the car passing over his head, breaking the thigh bone and fracturing a severe fracture below the knee. His head, at the same time, was badly cut and injured. The little sufferer was taken up and conveyed to his home where several physicians soon arrived and did all that they could for him. His leg was not amputated, and at last accounts, although very low, he was at least as it was possible for him to be, under the circumstances.

How Not to Build up a State. So far the experience of the emigrants who recently left Brunswick for Beaufort county have not been of the most encouraging description, as the railroad charges imposed upon them from Wilmington to Old Fort, the terminus of the W. N. C. R. R., amounted to the enormous sum of two hundred and seventy-eight dollars - second class fare. And this we learn from the Hickory Tavern Press, does not include charges on household effects and other property shipped as freight.

Died. At her residence in New York city, on Thursday morning last, aged about 58 years, Barbara Menninger, wife of Dr. J. H. Menninger, and mother of Dr. J. Dr. M. and Frank and Mrs. D. were summoned to the death bed of their mother but were able to reach only Washington City where they received the sad tidings of her death. Deceased leaves a husband and six grown children.

Origin of "The Old North State Forever." We heard a day or two ago, says the N. C. Presbyterian, of a little incident which is believed to have given rise to this famous song. Some thirty odd years ago the "twine Bell Ringers" were exhibiting in Raleigh in a certain house. The company was very much pleased with the reception it met with, and at the conclusion of the last evening's performance, the manager arose and expressed his thanks to the audience, concluding with the exclamation, "Hearst for de Old North State forever!" Judge Gaston was present on the occasion, and a lady sitting next to him remarked, "Judge, can't you write a song upon that?" The Judge promised to do so, and "The Old North State forever!" is the result of that incident.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

Photographic Report of the Proceedings of Commissioners on Wednesday Night - Conclusion.

Further About the Blend Street Extension - South and West Street Improvements - Sand - Traction - Delinquents - Etc., Etc.

BLOUNT STREET EXTENSION. Elliott, colored. I have a word to say about Blount street before we go any further. I have been informed by several gentlemen along the line it will cost the city some ten thousand dollars to open up that street straight. I don't know whether that is correct or not. But, I give it as it was stated to me. I know the city is not in a condition to pay that amount of money. I agree with the City Surveyor that the street ought to be straight. I have seen streets in cities much crookeder than that street will be. And to settle this matter, so that all the parties owning property around there, may have some definite understanding in regard to what they may do, I would have this matter settled to-night. I move, therefore, the street be allowed to remain as it is.

Mr. Stronach. I move, as a substitute, a committee of three be appointed. Elliott, colored. I accept that.

Mr. Battle. I hope the committee will make no report until that house is out of the way. It is going to be one of the most beautiful streets in the city.

And the committee was appointed, consisting of Messrs. Stronach, Elliott and Johnson.

SOUTH STREET. Mr. Battle. Has anything been done in regard to the South Street Improvement? Street Commissioner Backhaus. I have ordered the lumber for the bridge.

MAJ. VASS AND MR. PHILLIPS' PROPERTY. Mr. Stronach. I have been looking, with Major Vass and Mr. Prairie, at the stockpile placed around the rear of the front of his lot, as he calls it. (Laughter.)

Major Vass says he has legal rights, and he asks for law and justice. I think it is but proper a way should be opened up to the rear of his lot. He is about to sell, and he cannot effect a sale unless the street is opened up.

Elliott, colored. I was there, too. Mr. Stronach. He is perfectly willing to pay for the value of the land in front of him.

Mr. Prairie. I think the matter had better be referred to the City Attorney. Or, perhaps, Major Vass and Mr. Phillips can agree upon some compromise.

Mr. Stronach. Condemn the street through Mr. Phillips' land, and then this old street would belong to us and we could make such disposition as we pleased of it. I know there will be no trouble with Mr. Phillips.

Mr. Battle. I move the committee already appointed, communicate with them and try to settle that matter. Carried.

MRS. MORDCAI'S PROPERTY. Mr. Battle. I move the same committee communicate with Mrs. Mordcai and ascertain on what terms we can widen Wilson Street up through her property.

Mr. Prairie. There was a committee appointed some time ago about that matter - Mr. Stronach.

Mr. Stronach explained. Mr. Stronach was requested to see Mrs. Mordcai. And on motion of Mr. Battle the committee was allowed further time to report.

WEST STREET. Mr. Battle called up the West Street improvement. He desired some definite action at once. The City Surveyor and Street Commissioner had been out looking at it. It had been reported the proposed improvement, in one way, would result in great inconvenience to the residents along the line, because if the embankment was cut through they would be some eight or ten feet above the level of the street. "Mr. Prairie and I went out, once, with Dr. Hawkins to look at the place, and the Doctor was disposed to place his bridge so high the locomotives could pass under and the ascent would not be too steep. And our opinion was it would be better to cut through the embankment. Dr. Hawkins said he was ready to do everything he was bound by law to do.

Mr. Johnson. I have been looking at that for several years past. [He described the topography of that part of the city.] It seems to me that grading would be much better. It seems to me it would not be well to have a bridge of the height proposed. It would be difficult to get up to it.

Mr. Battle. One view I take of the matter is how are we not going to injure the property of the people about there.

Mr. Prairie. I agree with Mr. Johnson. I think it is the only proper way to cross there. For the making of a bridge, according to what Dr. Hawkins told us, the banks would have to be 150 feet higher than they are now. It would then be extremely difficult to climb to the bridge. And if a fellow should happen to have a scaly horse it would be very apt to get off these mighty quick. The bridge would cost one dollar where the grading would cost only ten cents. Consequently, I move Dr. Hawkins be ordered to grade it.

Mr. Miller. I move the language be taken down and the member be expelled. Mr. Forbush. I wish the whole God-damn Legislature.

The Clerk. Mr. Forbush will come to the bar of the House.

Mr. Forbush. I will be glad to be expelled, and never want my name used in connection with this God-damn Legislature again.

The Representative walked forward to the bar of the House, when, on motion to adjourn, it was made and carried.

DELEGATES ARE DANGEROUS. That poor, unaided, unassisted, who is now beyond all hope of recovery, might be held and held but he is not expected to hold out long. Be advised, if you have a cough or cold, get out a bottle of F. F. F. EXPECTORANT, and you will soon be relieved. Do not get it.

REPRESENTATIVE C. C. S. SPARKS. Mr. Sparks has been summoned to my bed with a cold, and I have found my case to be a cold, and I am in the best I ever was.

The Wilmington Journal of the 28th says, a very large fire was raging in Brunswick county, south of the city, yesterday and last night.

know something about it. I have to refer to the whole matter to the city attorney. Carried.

Mrs. Prempert's property. Mr. Battle made a report from the committee appointed to inquire into the condition of the proposed work affecting Mrs. Prempert's property.

Street Commissioner Backhaus. I will go to work, whenever I can, and cut down some of those bills.

REPAIRS. Messrs. Battle, Johnson and Ellison were appointed a committee to look after the repairs by the N. C. R. R. and its C. & G. R. R. Companies. The motion for the appointment of this committee was made by Mr. Battle, as follows:

"I move a committee of three be appointed to inspect the execution of the order. And that the committee inquire as the legal duties of the railroad company and report to this Board. And not only in regard to that, but also the Morgan street improvement. And that the committee take such steps as may be necessary to enforce the order."

Subsequently, by request of Ellison, colored, Mr. Prairie was substituted on that committee for Mr. Ellison.

DELINQUENT TAX-PAYERS. The report of the City Collector of Taxes, Mr. Grausman, showed there were about 42 delinquents and the gross amount due $712.

Mr. Stronach made a statement in regard to Mrs. Nixon's property. Mr. Johnson moved the delinquents have further time.

Mr. Battle moved, as an amendment, that the City Attorney communicate an opinion in writing as to the effect of the recent decision of the Supreme Court. He subsequently altered the motion that the Clerk of the Board procure a copy of that decision of the Supreme Court for the use of the Board. And the latter motion prevailed.

After transacting routine business reported in the SENTINEL on Thursday morning the board adjourned until next Monday evening.

STRENGTH OF CASTE. MURDER OF A SISTER BY A BROTHER - HE GLORIES IN THE DEED.

A correspondent of the London Times writing from Colombo, Ceylon, tells us that although caste has been shaken, especially in the towns, it is wonderful to see how strong its hold even in the Ceylon country districts. In a village of Kandiana, some time ago, he writes, the daughter of a minor chief having fallen in love with the son of a wealthy trader, of a lower caste, with whom he had become acquainted, when as boy and girl they played together, resolved to brave the anger of her parents and other relatives, and agree to his proposal to go before the English magistrate and be registered as a married couple - all the legal ceremony required here in the case of Buddhists. The girl's younger brother, a lad of sixteen or so, discovered the elopement, and followed the couple to the court door, where he found them amid the unsanctified of litigants, awaiting the appearance of the magistrate. Haughtily commanding his sister, his elder by a year or two, to return home, and receiving a refusal to peremptory calls, he at last suddenly drew a knife from his breast and plunged it to her heart, as she stood by the side of her lover. Then drawing the knife, he waved it around his head saying: "This is how I defend the honor of my family." The concourse of natives applauded rather than censured the deed, and the young lad went to the scaffold some weeks ago in Kandy, glorying in it as he had done. In respect to Intermarriage, caste still retains its hold. Our wealthiest business millionaires, it is averred, could not for their money secure the daughter of a house of higher caste, though possessing neither land nor money, for all the riches that might be offered. But romantic cases occasionally occur of runaway marriages between different castes as well as different races and religions. One or two incidents of Mahomedans being with Christian girls have occurred, the last being a notice being given of the said termination of the marriage. The husband was so provoked by his wife calling for pork, in a fit of temporary insanity, after the birth of their first child, as well as incompatibility of disposition otherwise, that he, like another Othello, had her smothered one night with a pillow. Tried and convicted by the Supreme Court, the Mahomedan, or "Moorman" (as the class is called in Ceylon) was sentenced to twenty years penal servitude.

ARKANSAS LEGISLATURE - A "MEMBER" USES MUCH PROPRIETY - Little Rock, March 28. - In the House to-day the following scene occurred:

Mr. Forbush (colored) called up the bill to create a county of Coalinga.

The chair stated that the bill needed to be engrossed.

Mr. Forbush. Then, with the consent of the House, I will withdraw the God-damn bill.

Mr. Miller. I move the language be taken down and the member be expelled.

Mr. Forbush. I wish the whole God-damn Legislature.

The Clerk. Mr. Forbush will come to the bar of the House.

Mr. Forbush. I will be glad to be expelled, and never want my name used in connection with this God-damn Legislature again.

The Representative walked forward to the bar of the House, when, on motion to adjourn, it was made and carried.

DELEGATES ARE DANGEROUS. That poor, unaided, unassisted, who is now beyond all hope of recovery, might be held and held but he is not expected to hold out long. Be advised, if you have a cough or cold, get out a bottle of F. F. F. EXPECTORANT, and you will soon be relieved. Do not get it.

VIRGINIA ITEMS.

ARREST OF A SUPPOSED MURDERER. - Monday night a negro giving his name as Alec. Corlew was arrested at the saw mill of Johnson & Waters, on Sandy Point, opposite the Navy Yard, upon the charge of having committed a murder last year in Princess Anne county. He has been working at the saw mill for some time past, and it is alleged that the name Corlew is an assumed one. He was taken to Princess Anne. - Norfolk Journal 26th.

PARAPHERNALIA. - It is said that the wife of Mr. R. B. Shelburne accidentally took poison yesterday. The circumstances seem to be that Mrs. Shelburne, who has been sick for some time past, told the servant to get her the medicine she was in the habit of taking, when the girl handed her a bottle of vitriol by mistake, which she took without noticing the difference. Prompt remedies were applied, and we trust that all danger of a serious result is past. - Pot Appeal, 26th.

HONORABLE SUICIDE. - Yesterday evening a fatal and most unfortunate affair transpired in this city the details of which are as follows:

Mr. George P. Salmon, who resides on the north side of High street, opposite Folly, was found in a privy on the premises with his throat cut from ear to ear. When discovered he was in a kneeling posture, stark and stiff, with a knife lying near by. He had left the house about five o'clock, and was alone until about six, before he was discovered. Upon his discovery he was conveyed to his late residence, and the coroner, Dr. Leigh, expressed the opinion that a jury was unnecessary; and accordingly the body was prepared for interment, and will be taken to Richmond this morning on the 11 o'clock train.

There is little doubt that at the time of committing this rash act he was laboring under a fit of mental aberration brought about by financial distress. Indeed his unusual deportment and strange conduct for several days previous had excited in the minds of his friends serious apprehensions of his sanity, but of course, this fatal issue was not dreamed of.

Mr. Salmon was about 55 years of age, had only been in this city about three weeks, and had been about six months in his affairs with a view to entering into the tobacco business. For some time prior to the development of his mental disease, he turned his attention seriously to the subject of religion, and was, we learn, baptized Sunday before last. - Pot Appeal, 25th.

FATAL ACCIDENT. - We regret to hear of the death of Mr. Jordan Carter of North Carolina, on Saturday last, which was produced by an accident in moving a house for Dr. E. R. Gordon, which job Mr. Carter had undertaken to have done, and while engaged in the work fell in some way while the house was in motion and was crushed by being caught under it. He lived only a few hours after being hurt. - Wilson Pilot-Boat.

DEPRESSION. - On Sunday last, at Dr. J. B. Chesley, Rector of the Episcopal Church, was administered the communion services he was taken suddenly very ill and fainted. The gentleness of the congregation rushed to his assistance and supported him home. Mr. Chesley has been feeble for a number of months. - Tarboro Southern.

TRAY'S BRIDGE DISCONTINUED. - The Commissioners of Edgecombe county have discontinued keeping up Tray's bridge to the great inconvenience of the public. Private subscriptions alone can now supply the public safety.

There is no excuse for poor Blainie, Holt, Broad, Griddle Cakes, Nuffins, Wallas, etc., when Dudley's Yeast Powder is used. Grocers sell it.

DELAIS ARE DANGEROUS. That poor, unaided, unassisted, who is now beyond all hope of recovery, might be held and held but he is not expected to hold out long. Be advised, if you have a cough or cold, get out a bottle of F. F. F. EXPECTORANT, and you will soon be relieved. Do not get it.
