WITH THE READER.
Somewhat unexpectedly to myself I return to my place on the editorial staff of the SENTINEL after an interval of nearly four months. Greatly preferring journalism, tread-mill work as it is, to the dreary rounds of the anti-freedom office of a "Baltimore drummer," I have yielded not unwillingly to invitations kindly extended to me, and some more because a co-laborer with others in the effort to make this paper what its patrons would have it to be—the firm advocate of a regulated Constitutional government, the true friend of the people of the South and of North Carolina, and the medium of thoughts which are calculated to elevate, to instruct, and improve. Entertaining, I trust, proper views of the dignity, the power and the responsibility of the press, I expect to always remain in the strict limits of legitimate journalism, and to write nothing that dying I would gladly read.

Believing, as I do, that a good paper should be a record of the leading transactions of this busy stirring world—a sort of repository of current events—and that it should be the guardian of virtue, the ally of good government and the friend of a pure literature, I shall, therefore, as far as my own labors are concerned, have a constant eye to the news, political and literary departments of the SENTINEL. Whilst discussing current topics from day to day, such as more immediately concern the people of North Carolina, I shall not refuse to consider those great questions that agitate the peoples of other lands, nor be indifferent to the claims of a generous and ennobling culture. I shall not in my own province attempt to fight over dead issues, but will expose and denounce in proper terms all corruption, fraud, prostration and mal-administration of the government, State or National, whilst strenuously advocating reform and advancement in all of their departments. In a word, whatever of ability, experience and taste I may have will be laid under contribution for the benefit of the readers of the SENTINEL.

Appealing to my personal bias's everywhere, to come up to the help of this paper, which said trials persecutions and temptations has always been true and faithful to the people, I feel more upon my editorial labors, sincerely hoping they may prove alike faithful to good and pleasurable both to the public and to the SENTINEL Publishing Company.

T. B. KINGBURN.

HOME AFFAIRS.

JOHN SPELMAN, City Editor.

Strawberries.
Were on the table of Mrs. Rowe, Exchange Hotel, yesterday. Pretty good.

The Election.
Are the Conservatives of this city going to allow the Radicals to walk over the course in the ensuing election? Not a movement yet made to get out a ticket!

Dr. H. J. Menninger.
Dr. H. J. Menninger, late Secretary of State, has entered the drug business and is located on the corner of Thirty-Sixth street and Fifth Avenue, New York City. Dr. M. is an experienced druggist and apothecary.

Close of Registration.
By reference to the notice of Mayor Whitaker, to be found elsewhere, it will be seen that the City Registration will close on Thursday at sundown, and not on Friday as erroneously printed in the handbill notice. Don't forget THURSDAY.

Appointments.
The following are Bishop Atkinson's appointments:
Zion Church, " 22
Bath, " 23
St. James', Pungo, " 25
Plymouth, " 27

Fine Shingles.
A sample of the shingles manufactured by the Cary Shingle Company may be seen at Briggs & Sons'. They are a very superior article, made of best pine and have a finish as if planed. The demand for this shingle taxes the utmost powers of the Company.

Still in Darkness.
The city of Raleigh is still in darkness, the city government refusing to spend a dollar per night to furnish gas. Will the city government be kind enough to permit those who think proper to use the lamps? We propose to furnish Kerosene for two.

Maj. Seaton Gales.
This gentleman has been selected and he has consented to deliver the address on the occasion of the celebration of the anniversary of the I. O. O. F. at Wilmington, on the 1st of May. The address will be delivered at the Opera House. On that occasion there will be an excursion down the river, complimentary to Maj. G.

More Improvement.
Jeff Fisher is putting the finishing touch to his splendid iron-front "Fisher Building" in laying the Fayetteville street sidewalk with the costly but celebrated "Johnson Light," composed of ground glass with iron frame. Its purpose is to admit light to the basement. This light casts, delivered here, nearly seven dollars per square foot, but it is very durable.

New Style Furniture.
W. C. Stronach has at his store, Fayetteville street, something quite new in the matter of chairs. The frame-work is all turned and the seating of oak splits skillfully manipulated as to be as close as mahogany. The timber of which the frames of the chairs is made is variegated, of birch, hickory and walnut, and varnished. The chairs are very light but quite strong and, as compared with carpeted chairs, very cheap. We have seen so cheap chairs yet to compare with them. They are manufactured, too, from the works of John R. Keen, Thomasville. Call and see these.

A True Bill.
We announced several days ago the arrest of a negro woman and a negro man charged with murder, in this county, and their confinement in the guardhouse. Last week the grand jury found a true bill against the woman for concealing the birth of her child. The woman's name is Amy Allen, also Amy Cromshaw. She was admitted to bail for her appearance at the next term of the Superior court.

The grand jury also investigated the case of the man, whose name is Anthony Reilly. The evidence did not sustain the charge of murder in his case, though it is understood the material witness had not been found. Reilly was also bound over for his appearance at the next court.

May Day Celebration.
You must relax and call me early, call me early, Mother dear,
To sorrow will be the happiest day of all the glad New Year—
Of all the glad New Year, Mother, the next, the next day,
For I'm to be Queen of the May, Mother—I'm to be Queen of the May.

The children of the Baptist Sunday School of this city will celebrate May-day at Haywood, on Thursday week next, with a picnic, crowning the Queen of the May, and other festivities. The following nominations have been made for the occasion:

Queen, Miss Minnie Beck.
Maid of Honor, Miss Patie Upchurch.
Maid of Honor, Miss May Lewis.
Maid of Honor, Miss Maggie Williams.

We are cordially invited, says the Messenger, by those who saw Mrs. W. and her children, to call on Friday night last.

REV. DR. McCOSH.

This distinguished scholar, author and divine preached at the Presbyterian Church, in this city, on Sunday morning to one of the largest and most intelligent congregations ever assembled with its walls. His text was: "And I beheld, and, in the midst of the throne and of the four beasts, and in the midst of the elders, stood a Lamb as it had been slain, having seven horns and seven eyes, which are the seven Spirits of God sent forth into all the earth."—Revelation of St. John, ch. v. 6. The sermon was as perfect as a sermon could be, in style of composition, in delivery, in logic, in high religion and unsectarian theology. In the evening he addressed another immense congregation on the subject of the Evangelical Alliance, which is to meet in New York on the 20th of October next, composed of eminent men of all denominations from all parts of the world.

Dr. McCosh has been on a short trip south for health and recreation, and with a view, also, of seeing the condition of the south and marking its tone and temper. We understand he had been discouraged somewhat, in setting out the poison of the intolerant spirit, so rife at the north, having taken ground into his ear. He was told he would not be welcomed here or invited to preach. His trip was extended to Savannah, Charleston, Columbia and Raleigh, in all of which places, and in others as he passed through, he received the most considerate attentions from all classes of men, and in each of which all the churches were thrown open to him most cheerfully. In this city he was very generally called upon, and received the most distinguished consideration.

Dr. McCosh left for Princeton yesterday morning. His college commences its exercises on Wednesday next, and he had an appointment to deliver an address there this, Tuesday, evening.

Approaching Completion.
The substantial and handsome new building, the property of Hon. D. M. Burringer, corner of Wilmington and Hargett streets, is approaching completion. The building fronts 47 feet on Wilmington and 90 feet on Hargett. It is three stories high in addition to a large basement. The lower stories will consist of two large stores, one fronting on Wilmington street, the other on the corner fronting on Wilmington and Hargett, with entrances from both. The second and third floors are intended for a restaurant and hotel, with handsome entrances and stairways from Wilmington and Hargett streets. The lower part of the lot which the building in part covers is 158 feet deep, or the unoccupied portion of which will be erected a kitchen and other necessary outbuildings. On the first floor, besides the stores, there will be a reception room for the hotel, and other rooms required for hotel purposes.

The upper stories will contain twenty-four handsome rooms, some of them being arranged for suits. The building has been erected by Mr. D. L. Ruyter, an efficient and faithful builder, one of the best materials, no expense having been spared, and in the best and most substantial manner, and will have all the modern improvements in lights, water, &c. The roof is covered with tin and is about completed, and it is expected that in about eight weeks the interior of the building will be finished. The enterprise is creditable to all concerned.

Merchants in Trouble.
Section 21, schedule B, Revenue Act of 1872-73, requires, amongst others, merchants seeking license to follow their trade, to register their names with the Register of Deeds on the 1st day of April. The Register of Deeds for this county, Capt. W. W. White, liberally construed this provision and kept open his books till Saturday evening last, 19th inst., and the books yesterday showed that of the 220 merchants heretofore recorded, but 185 had complied with the requirements of the law.

The duty of the Register of Deeds now compels him to report the delinquents to Collector Cox, and then follows the penalty, viz:—
Sec. 22. Every person who shall practice any trade or profession, or use any franchise taxed by the law of North Carolina without having first paid the tax and obtained a license as herein required, shall also forfeit and pay to the State a penalty not to exceed twenty dollars, at the discretion of the court, and in default of the payment of such fee, he may be imprisoned for not more than one month at the discretion of the court, for every day on which he shall practice such trade or profession or use such franchise, until such case in such court where the penalty is specially provided in this act, which penalty in the case of the county in which it has occurred to be recovered before any one of the courts of the county.

For Mayors.
A large number of children will vote for Gen. W. H. Harrison for Mayor.

MANY VOTERS.
SARAH ACCIDENT.—A negro boy who lives in town shot a negro girl on Monday. It is said accidentally, but the girl was severely wounded about the head, face and neck. The offender was brought up for trial before Justice Stronach and upon examination bound over to court.

VARIETIES.

No finer weather in the world than that now in Raleigh.

All kinds of spring vegetables becoming plentiful in market.

Counterfeit fifty-cent bills are in circulation. Look out for them.

Col. W. H. Harrison will be voted for Mayor at the ensuing election.

The Grand Lodge I. O. O. F. will meet in this city on Wednesday, May 14th.

Only two days after to-day in which to register for the city election. Are the taxpaying people of the city doing their duty?

The largest gate of the eastern entrance of the Capitol square is yet without a fastening. The cows will find it out before the Keeper of the grounds manages to crawl round to it.

OXFORD.

Granville Superior Court meets this week, Judge Albertson presiding.

The young ladies and men will give two concerts and charades this week for the benefit of the Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Samuel R. Duty, the oldest citizen of Oxford, was buried on last Saturday. He leaves many daughters and friends to mourn their loss.

Hon. A. W. Venable resides with his son, Maj. Venable. Although in feeble health, "the old man eloquent" still retains much of his intellectual vivacity and is a rare fire-side companion still. We hope many years are yet before him and that the closing scene may be to him one of peace and joy.

Mrs. Cornelia Spencer, the elegant scholar and writer, and the author of that admirable monograph, known as the "Last Ninety Days of the War in N. C.," has just been on a visit to this place. She was the guest of Mrs. Grant and Miss Mitchell, the two accomplished daughters of the late Rev. Dr. Eliza Mitchell, who lost his valuable life in a scientific expedition in Western Carolina.

It is thought that the vote in regard to the county's subscription of $100,000 to the proposed railroad from Clarksville to Oxford, will result in an overwhelming majority in favor of the project. We learn that the colored people are very generally in favor of it, and as they vote the whites, and the measure is popular with hundreds of the latter, it may be readily believed that the appropriation will be made. If the road is built to Oxford, it is only a question of time as to its extension to some point on the N. C. Railroad, or to Raleigh.

There are now thirty-one children being cared for at the St. John's Orphan Asylum. It is to be hoped that the people of North Carolina will be fully awake to the importance of this noble institution, and will respond at once to the appeals made in behalf of the destitute ones by contributions at once appreciative and beneficent. Mr. Mills, and his assistant, Rev. Mr. Cohen, are engaged in a great work—doing for the physical, intellectual and immortal souls of the helpless and indigent. The ladies of the State should take this noble charity in hand and care for it as the mother watches over her fretting with tireless assiduity and affection.

At Henderson the atmosphere is impregnated with the offensive odor that comes up from a thousand bags of guano and other detestable smelling fertilizers. By the way, it appears to us that Granville is about overdoing the thing in the foreign fertilizing business as Edgewood and other counties out have done. It would be much better for our farmers to raise home manures, buying just as little of the foreign fertilizers as possible, than to rely upon those stimulating agents that rather exhaust than enrich the soil. But, there is one consoling thought,—it they will buy fertilizers in Granville and the counties adjacent, they are wisely buying for the cash only. We are glad to see that Henderson is still improving, and the cry is "upward and onward."

Cheap Building Lots.
Looking over the advertising columns of the New York Herald recently, we were astonished to see an advertisement reading that: "$10 each for land—our railroad and village." This land is in the vicinity of Northport, Long Island.

In Raleigh there are scores of building lots, unimproved and doing the owners no good; they do the city harm, from the fact that in their present condition, the assessors place next to no valuation upon them, that making it a tax very light, still when the owners of these lots are approached upon the subject of selling, they name a fabulous price, and the person who would liberally take a waste place turns away.

Real estate is the new mania. Then out of your vacant spots and lots, the building site for a term of years in those who are not able to buy, upon condition, say that the owner build a post cottage on each lot. Perhaps the tenants may come in a condition to purchase; or, should the landowner not wish to sell, the improvements reverting to the owner of the soil, upon the expiration of the term, would be good income.

The following gives the mean average of speed attained on nine of the principal railway lines having termini in London: Great Western, 51 miles per hour; London, Brighton and South Coast, 43 1/4 miles; Great Northern, 43 1/3 miles; London, Chatham and Dover, 43 1/4 miles; South Eastern, 43 1/4 miles; North Western, 42 1/2 miles; Midland, 41 1/4 miles; South Western, 40 1/4 miles; Great Eastern, 37 1/4 miles. General average on the nine roads, 43 1/2 miles per hour. These averages, arrived at by taking the speed on different parts of each company's line, are not applicable to certain portions of the lines where express trains are numerous and usually run faster. For example, on the Great Northern line between London and Peterborough, nearly all of the trains run at a speed of over 50 miles an hour, and an average for that part of the line would, therefore, yield a much higher figure than 45 1/2 miles an hour.
