LATEST STATE NEWS.

Dr. Peter Hawkins, of Warren, is dead.

Gen. Clingman recently delivered a lecture at Ashville on "Science and Christianity."

New railroad schemes in Halifax are the rage. One from Halifax to Scotland Neck, and one from Enfield to Ringwood are sharply agitated. We hope both will be built.

The Weldon News mentions the robbery of the store of Messrs. Norman & Vinson, at Brinkleyville, Halifax county. The rogues stole ten dollars and some goods.

The commencement exercises of Warrenton Female College will take place during the 1st week in June. Rev. E. W. Thompson, of Fayetteville, will preach the sermon to the graduating class, and Hon. W. M. Robbins, of Statesville, will deliver the Litterary address.

So we learn from Warrenton Gazette.

CHILD BURNT TO DEATH.—A child of Mr. Albertus Roberts was burnt to death on Bald Creek, Yancey county, last week. The child crawled into a large pile of straw and dropped some fire in it. The saddest part of all was the fact that the mother stood by and was unable to rescue her child.—Ash. Expositor.

SUDDEN DEATH.—The people of Asheville were much shocked on Saturday last by the sudden death of S. K. Stassill, Esqr., of this place. Mr. Stassill had been walking about only a few minutes before his death. The Physicians pronounce it a case of heart disease.—Ash. Expositor.

A NEW INVENTION.—Mr. C. J. Peterson, of Brevard's Station, has invented a machine for upsetting wagon tires, which is so simple and useful as to at once commend itself to all blacksmiths and woodworkmen. Mr. Peterson claims that with it he can set a tire to a wheel in fifteen minutes. He is endeavoring to give it a start now, feeling assured that if its merits are only known it will have a rapid sale. All who have an opportunity should examine it.—Char. Observer.

FATAL SHOOTING AFFAIR IN SAMPSON COUNTY.—We learn that a difficulty occurred late last Monday evening, at Taylor's Bridge, in Sampson county, between Mr. R. C. Barden and a colored man named Maner ——, which resulted in the latter being shot and killed by the former. We could learn but very little of the circumstances other than Mr. Barden accused Maner of having set fire to the woods, from which a difficulty sprang up, when the negro shot at Mr. Barden, who returned the fire with a fatal result.—Wilmington Journal.

Mr. Alexander H. Stephens, in assuring a correspondent through the columns of the Atlanta Sun that he has no intention of withdrawing from the management of that paper, declares that "peace, quiet, harmony and prosperity prevail throughout the State and the rights of person and property, including all classes, black as well as white, are nowhere better protected than in Georgia at present."

WM. W. CORCORAN, Esq., is perhaps the most liberal as well as the best known citizen of Washington. He has just sold two hundred acres of land near the city to the Government as an addition to the Soldiers Home for the sum of $275,000. He will donate the money to an endowment to "Louise Home," a charity created by him for impoverished ladies who are unable to support themselves; and named in memory of his only child, the late Mrs. George Eustis.

MANZONI.—The venerable Alexandro Manzoni, author of the celebrated Italian historical novel, "I Promessi Sposi" "The Betrothed," is living in good health at Milan, at the age of 87. He completed his 87th birthday on the 8th ult. He was born on the 6th of March, 1776, a night remarkable for its coldness.

HOME AFFAIRS.

JOHN SPELMAN, City Editor.

Christ Church.

Rev. Dr. Alfred A. Watson, of Wilmington, will preach in Christ (Episcopal) Church this morning at 11 o'clock.

Ice.

We learn that the weather was cold enough on Friday night to form ice. We have not heard what damage, if any, has been done to the fruit.

Improving.

The little negro Matilda, an account of whose burning we gave yesterday, is improving and will probably recover.

The New Public Laws.

The Secretary of State is sending out by mail the laws of the session of 1872-'3, as fast as they are delivered to him. The delivery, we learn, does not yet exceed a dozen copies per day.

Tax Listing.

We are informed the listing of State and county and city taxes goes on again very slowly. Tuesday next is the last day for keeping open the books. Look out for double taxes.

Mayor's Court.

The ordinary quiet of this temple of justice was invaded on Saturday by a case of assault and battery. Dick Crockett mauled John Kenyon alias Bush Tail; but when the case was called Bush Tail was reported sick and the hearing was postponed.

Early Vegetables.

The ordinary run of early vegetables, such as lettuce, radishes, onions, &c., has ceased to attract attention. We have reported strawberries and new potatoes recently. Yesterday asparagus was added to the list and early cabbage, and green peas.

Raleigh Post Office.

We understand it is the purpose of Postmaster Holden, with the permission of the county commissioners and city authorities, to move the present postoffice building on to the courthouse square just over the line of the site of the new building, pending the erection of that structure. This is the most convenient site that could be selected.

$500 Reward.

The Chief of police of the city of New York offers a reward of $500 for the apprehension of one Rafael C. Alverado, a native of Matanzas, Cuba, charged with forging documents on New York for a shipment of sugar. Alverado is described as follows: 24 years old, 5 feet 7 inches high, slim build, chesnut hair inclined to curl, bluish grey eyes, fair complexion with freckles under the eyes. Chief of police King, of this city, can give further information.

Personal

We had the pleasure of meeting in the city, on Saturday, Maj. W. S. Worth, of the 8th U. S. Infantry, for some time stationed at Camp Russell, near this city but now on the Plains fighting Indians. Maj. Worth is a son of the late General Worth. While on duty in Raleigh he won the respect and esteem of all he became acquainted with, and he was worthy of it. He has been on a visit to relatives and friends in South Carolina, and leaves here for New York in a day or two, where he will take charge of a number of recruits for his own command now engaged in the strife with the Modocs. Maj. W. has our best wishes, and we trust to meet him again sound in health and limbs "when this cruel Modoc war is over."

Deaf and Dumb and Blind.

For the information of those in charge of these afflicted classes throughout the State, it may be stated that all that is necessary, under the law, to obtain admission of pupils to the State Institution is to write to the Superintendent, John Nichols, Esq., at Raleigh, who will furnish a printed blank form giving all needful directions. The form is so simple as to be readily understood.

This statement is made in consequence of a fact which reached our ears yesterday. A poor man who had an afflicted son of one of these classes, dreading the mazes of red-tapism, applied to a neighboring lawyer to obtain the admission of his child. The lawyer wrote for the blank, filled it up, handed it to the "client" and charged him ten dollars—a fortune in this poor man's eyes.

Blind Mechanics.

As we write we occupy as a rocking-chair the cane bottom of which has just been renewed by a pupil of the department for the Blind of the State Institution for the Deaf & Dumb and the Blind. Pinckney Hand is the workman's name, and he is from Rockingham county. He has been in the Institution some three years, went there wholly untaught, and is now an intelligent young man, capable of taking care of himself. The work on cane-seated chairs has recently been introduced, but the work on our chair gives evidence of much skill. There are some four or five at this business. To encourage them, the rule of the Institution is that after deducting the cost of material the proceeds go to the workmen.

Masonic.

There will be a called meeting of Hiram Lodge No. 40, on Monday April 28th, for work in the first degree. Transient Brethren respectfully invited.

Friday Night's Frost.

After diligent inquiry we are pleased to learn that the frost of Friday night has done no harm whatever in Wake county. This was owing to the very dry condition of the ground and to the clouds which became so general early in the night. We think all danger of injurious frosts may now be considered passed.

Another May Celebration.

The Sunday School children of the Edenton Street Methodist Church will have their usual annual May celebration on Thursday, 8th prox. It will consist of an excursion and pic-nic on the line of one of our railroads, but the location has not yet been selected. Extensive preparations are being made, and a pleasant time may be expected.

Ovide Dupre, Esq.

The many friends of this highly educated and intellectual gentleman will be glad to learn that his prospects in New York are flattering. We happen to know that he is already obtaining practice, and especially among foreign residents. His knowledge of the French, Italian and Spanish languages will no doubt greatly facilitate him in his profession, and we predict for him a career alike eminent and remunerative.

Hillside Ditching.

J. W. B. Watson, Esq., of this city, is engaged in an extensive system of hillside ditching on his several plantations. Mr. James D. Royster, of this city, a gentleman of intelligence and large experience, is superintending the work at present, though, in consequence of the cropping season, operations on that line will soon cease. Mr. Watson shows his appreciation of the services of competent men to carry out the system, and has paid a superintendent as high as ten dollars per day. Mr. W. G. Upchurch, of this city, has applied this system of ditching to his lands and the example of these gentlemen will be followed, on a large scale, by our farmers generally next winter. Money expended in such permanent improvements will be found to be better invested than in the purchase of commercial fertilizers.

Eating Houses in the Market.

Section 13, schedule B, of the present revenue law is as follows:

"On the gross receipts of hotels, boarding-houses, (except those used for educational purposes,) restaurants and eating-houses, the tax shall be one-fourth of one per cent."

Our attention has been drawn to the numerous eating-houses in the market, and we have been requested to ascertain whether any of the proprietors of these establishments has listed with a view to taking out license, and then are these eating-houses liable to tax. On enquiring we find none of them has listed; and then it would seem that they should be put upon a footing with other eating-house keepers. We think there can be no doubt of their liability to the tax and a failure to comply with the provisions of the law subjects them to a fine, and to imprisonment in default of payment.

Julius Lewis & Co.

In nothing is there more marked improvement in our little city than in the character of our mercantile establishments and in the appearance and size of our stores. On Saturday we were shown through the large and excellent stock of Julius Lewis & Co., who occupy Fisher's new and elegant building, one door north of the City Hall. The stock is most complete, embracing every line of hardware, tin ware, hollow ware and crockery. They also keep a constant supply on hand of stoves, grates, lamps, carriage and buggy materials, farm bells, scales and bird cages. We noticed they had a fine stock of guns, pistols and bird-bags. They are also agents of Pratt's celebrated "astral oil"—a beautiful and safe light. In a word we found this establishment to contain a great variety of desirable articles, embracing all kinds of housekeeping goods. They do a large business and sell at genuine "live and let live rates." See their advertisement elsewhere.

The Special School Tax.

The following is the official vote of Wake county "For School Tax," and "Against School Tax," at an election held in the several townships on the 24th day of April, 1873:

A Graphic Description.

Byron many years ago went for the "waltz" in a style that is forever memorable. We wonder if young ladies nowadays, are familiar with his descriptions? Another hand has taken another kind of dance in charge—the "quadrille"—and goes for it "thusly." He has tried it to his satisfaction, and probably some of our readers will recognize his description as having the characteristics of truth:

"We both bow to both of us, and then t'other; then the fiddle turned and the thing started. I grabbed for her female hand, and she squeezed mine, we both slung each other, then we changed base clear across the room, jumped up and down over so many times; then my dear dozed a hop and doe, scotched home again (from a foreign shore) then we two forwarded four ladies changed, we X over, turned around twice, chassayed sideways. I backed to place, she ditroed, side couple to the left, side couples turn ladies, ladies turn side couples; head couples turn side couples, all hands turn around, back again. First fellows take opposite gal, sling her round, take your own gal t'other fellows, forward and back, twice both gals two times, sling 'em to opposite fellow, let him do as you, and back again to places, tight gentlemen balance to heavy lady, heavy lady duplicates, promenade, all gals to the centre, fellows ketch hold of each other's hand, pop up and down, each fellow take his gal back to place. Right gent spin right lady, spin left gent, all twist each other, do it again, over, repeat, keep it up; all turn t'other backward, sideways each couple, swing t'other couple, cross over back again to our seats."

A Lesson for Young Men.

Professor Tyndal, who recently visited this country, and whose scientific lectures attracted such large crowds and were so delightfully entertaining and instructive, has returned to England. In New York he made a speech at a banquet given to him. In it he recurred to his own history, to the days of self-denial and struggle through which he passed in fitting himself for the career in which he has since achieved such brilliant success. It is the old, old story, that of voluntary hardship and labor, with an intelligent care for health which might be useful to some of our young men who think they are breaking down under the pressure of continued study. It also shows how severe discipline fitted him for the noble calling to which he devoted himself. He said:

"In 1849, wishing to improve myself in science, I went to the University of Marburg—the same old town in which my great namesake, when even poorer than myself, published his translation of the Bible. I lodged in the plainest manner, in a street which, perhaps, bore an appropriate name while I dwelt upon it. It was called the Ketzerback—the heretic's brook—from a little historic rivulet running through it. I wished to keep myself clean and hardy, so I purchased a cask and had it cut in two by a carpenter.—Half that cask filled with spring water over night, was placed in my small bedroom, and never during the years that I spent there, in winter or in summer, did the clock of the beautiful Elizabethkirch, which was close at hand, finish striking the hour of six in the morning before I was in my tub. For a good portion of the time I rose an hour and a half earlier than this, working by lamp-light at the differential calculus when the world was slumbering around me. And I risked this breach in my pursuits and this expenditure of time and money, not because I had any definite prospect of material profit in view, but because I thought the cultivation of the intellect important—because, moreover, I loved my work, and entertained the sure and certain hope that, armed with knowledge, one can successfully fight one's way through the world."

Steiff Pianos.

The Pianos manufactured by Charles M. Steiff, No. 9 N. Liberty street, Baltimore, Md., are so highly appreciated here, that it is almost superfluous for us to speak a word in their praise. They are superior in every respect, manufactured of the most durable material, selected with special reference to the influences of the Southern climate.

Since the war fifteen hundred of these pianos have been sold to the south, and upwards of two hundred and fifty pianos have been supplied to Southern schools and academies, where they are much used, and receive the best test of their durability. Their New Grand Square Scale, 7 1-3 octaves, have attained the perfection of this branch of manufacture. They have attained the perfection of this branch of manufacture. They have the full iron plate with patent agraffe, and the ingeniously constructed Steiff patent agraffe bar, exclusively used by this firm, which materially contributes to the exquisitely liquid and pure vocal treble, which is eminently their characteristic and advantage over all others. For the higher qualities of beauty, fulness, roundness, continuity and richness of tone in bass, tenor and treble range, that crisp and yet elastic facility of touch and that sympathetic quality which is their crowning grace, they confessedly stand unrivalled.

Independent of their intrinsic merits, there is a perfect neatness and solidity of mechanical construction, constituting one of these pianos an ornament to any private or public apartment.

The large and extensive factories of this firm, at Nos. 84 and 86 Camden street, and Nos. 45 and 47 Perry street, attest the thrift, industry and enterprise of this firm. They are prepared at all times to fill any orders with promptness and dispatch. Their success is illustrated by the fact that they have carried off, against all competitors, over fifty first premiums, at state and other exhibitions.

This house is also the agent for the celebrated Burdett cabinet, parlor and church organ, a splendid instrument, without any harshness or reedy tone, and equal, if not superior to the best manufactured.

Our Beautiful City.

The appearance of the city of Raleigh, even to us who have not been out of it for months, is at present most attractive—its numerous shade trees being nearly in full leaf and its gardens filled with flowers. We met with a gentleman on Saturday just from Canada. When he crossed Niagara river, on his way South, the snow covered the ground to a considerable depth. In passing through the State of New York all was bleak and barren, not a green thing to be seen. In Maryland, on through Virginia, the maple was beginning to show signs of life and occasionally a budding bush could be seen. From Weldon to Raleigh the forests were occasionally dotted with early bloom; but when our traveller arrived in our city and turned into Fayetteville street and looked up that beautiful avenue, he was amazed and bewildered, and could hardly realize the wonderful change in the face of nature. Forty-eight hours ago he was in the midst of deep Canadian snows, now he stood amidst groves and flowers. Stern winter had changed to smiling spring and opening summer, and he imagined himself in another land.

A RENOWNED WEIGHING MACHINE.

ST. JOHNSBURY, Vt., April 24

To the Editor of Raleigh Sentinel:

With coal, iron, copper—not to speak of gold—within its limits, coal both bituminous and anthracite, and of the best possible quality for working iron, North Carolina ought, at no remote day, to become noted for manufactures, especially so when to these are added the immense water-power of the State, the cheapness of food and the low cost of living.

We in this Northern town are almost wholly engaged in manufacture; yet, we never feel any jealousy but only satisfaction, when we learn of the starting-up and growth of diversified industries elsewhere. This is not because we are more liberal or benevolent than other people, but because our manufacture is of such a sort as to be benefitted by the enlargement of varied industries wherever it may be.

In this town are the Fairbanks' Scale Works, by far the largest manufactory of weighing machines in the world, and incomparable before any other in the credit and wide diffusion of its products. Of course the scales will need no introduction to your people, as such of them as employ weighing machines, for they are in use in North Carolina by thousands.

From the Creation down to 1830, the world had had nothing available for weighing purposes except the ever balance and the steelyard. These had been in use for immemorial time without any change or improvement. It was the work of half an hour to weigh a load of hay, and the weight, even then could not be vouched for within fifty pounds. Meantime, railroads were coming forward, and steamships, the telegraph also, and other appliances to speed the movement of merchandise. At the same time, commodities, as civilization developed, took a higher range of value and cost. To ascertain their quantity, and to do this promptly, accurately, and with the least possible expenditure of labor, became more and more a matter of urgent necessity.

Just then, Thaddeus Fairbanks, one of world's great inventors, brought out the platform scale. Now mark the change. The Fairbanks "hopper scale," of which 200 are in the Elevators of Chicago alone, weighs out 6,000 bushels of grain per hour. The "live-stock scale," 91 of which are in the principal stock yards of the country, weighs whole droves of cattle, swine or sheep, at once. The "truck scale," of which Pennsylvania has stretched 150 along the courses of her railways, weighs loaded railroad trains on the run. The railroad tonnage of the country involves, first and last, a weighing service of a million pounds per year, at least. Millions upon millions of packages are weighed every day upon Fairbanks' scales, in mills, warehouses, shops, depots, and wherever men buy and sell, and exchange commodities.

In the forty-three years of the manufacture, hundred of thousands of different scales have been produced. The output last year was nearly 30,000 scales. Of these, 6,000 were on foreign standards for use in foreign countries. 2,000 were heavy scales, of a capacity of many tons each. 318 were railroad track scales. 7,000 were grocers' scales. 200 different varieties are made, for every service demanded in the business of the world. The sales are about $2,000,000 per year. These constant weighing-machines are now circulated to every grand division of the globe, and to every commercial island. They have gone further than the missionary or the traveler. Marked on the Arabic standard, they have even penetrated Central Africa on the backs of camels.

The secret of all this success is in two things—superiority of original device and unequaled facilities and skill in manufacture. As regards nicety of finish, I have seen the workmen touching the steel bearings that were to carry the weight of tons, with a fine whetstone, as any file would be too coarse! Every scale is "tested" before it leaves the works, as if it were a chronometer or a piece of astronomical apparatus. "Let nothing imperfect go from here," is the motto of the test-room. As a result, the Fairbanks' scale is THE STANDARD.

Brains and fidelity tell, in the long run, in artisanship as in everything else. When your people get to working iron extensively, let them take care to make it what your tar, pitch and turpentine now are—the best.

NEWS SPLINTERS.

Almost all the towns in Illinois and Missouri have gone democratic in their township elections.

The Memphis Avalanche says this years' cotton planting in the Southern States will be the most extensive since the war.

Of the $300,000 recently obtained through forgery from the Bank of England, all but about $20,000 has been recovered.

DIED.

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT.

CONSTITUTIONAL PECULIARITIES.—The way in which different individuals are affected by the same causes of disease depends upon constitution and temperament. Some persons, for instance, are prone to fevers, some to bilious attacks, and others to nervous affections. In all cases where a peculiar susceptibility to any variety of disease exists, the toning, regulating and purifying operation of TARRANT'S EFFERVESCENT SELTZER APERIENT will be found the surest safeguard against an attack. Individuals of a bilious and constipated habit, or subject to dyspepsia, or whose nerves are easily excited, should frequently resort to this refreshing saline corrective, especially in warm weather. It is no less potent as a preventive than as a remedy. Sold by all druggists.

MURDER WILL OUT

STARTLING DISCLOSURES!!!

On yesterday a countryman rather shabbily dressed, drove a small ox cart down Fayetteville street to the market, where he disposed of his produce, and with the proceeds, bought from

J. P. GULLEY & CO.,

A HANDSOME SPRING SUIT,

in which he made his appearance on the street feeling that he was a well dressed man, and had found the place to buy Clothing and Dry Goods. Let others go and do likewise.
