HOME AFFAIRS.

JOHN SPELMAN, City Editor.

Personal. J. A. Harrell, Esq., editor of the Henderson Tribune honored us with a visit yesterday. He represents his paper as in a flourishing condition. He has our best wishes. Major A. M. Lewis. We call the attention of our readers to the card of this gentleman, one of the best and most reliable lawyers of our city. Many of our readers may be interested in it. See advertising columns.

The Recent Rain Storm.

During the past forty-eight hours we may be said to have had a continuous rain, and for the most part of the heaviest kind. In every direction we learn the rain has extended, on the north as far as Washington City and far to the east, south and west of us. On the line of the North Carolina Railroad the streams are unusually high, and orders have been issued to section masters to repair at once to the bridges and to examine them and prepare signals in cases of doubtful safety, whilst orders have also been issued to conductors to proceed cautiously and carefully with their trains. Towards the west, the rain has been more plentiful than even with us. As we write, Thursday evening, the storm continues with little prospect of its clearing up.

Fishing Party.

Quite a large party left the city on yesterday evening on a fishing excursion to Ad. Lee's mill pond, two miles north-east of Millburn, near the Neuse river. This pond is said to be one of the best stocked ponds in the neighborhood of Raleigh. If we get any of the fish we will chronicle the rare occurrence.

Arrival of Immigrants.

The Raleigh & Gaston train yesterday afternoon brought several English immigrants seeking employment and homes. They are the pioneers of those we announced last week on their way hither. They are represented as respectable, substantial gentlemen; just men and in building up a country. We welcome them and hope they may meet the treatment which should be accorded to them.

At this meeting, the committee appointed by the Board of Directors of the company on Wednesday, at Salisbury, will probably be in attendance.

Mr. Logan's Lecture.

This very gifted lecturer was greeted with a respectable house on the occasion of her first appearance before a Raleigh audience on Thursday night. The weather had been so inclement that doubtless a large number of persons were prevented from attending. She is a charming oratorian, dresses well, has a good appearance, and is beyond question a lady of brilliant gifts. Her lecture was on "Girls," and it was all the papers have represented it—sparkling, witty, caustic, thoughtful. Those who did not have the pleasure of hearing it missed a rare treat. We can not doubt that she will speak in a large and cultured audience to-night if the weather is as favorable. Gentlemen connected with our leading schools were greatly pleased and expressed themselves as anxious that their pupils should hear her. We hope to be able to give her second lecture a more discriminating and satisfactory notice, as we purpose having "a child among them taking notes" on that occasion.

Deliberate Murder.

We learn from a private letter that on Monday last, in Catawba county, William J. Miller was murdered in cold blood by one Adolphus L. Stewart. Both are residents of Catawba. We have no particulars of the murder, except that Stewart struck Miller on the head with a hand-spike and that no immediate cause for the murderous assault is known. The murderer fled on the commission of the act, and had not been captured to last accounts.

Meeting of the Board of Commissioners.

The first regular meeting of the new city commissioners was held at the Mayor's office last night, all the members being present except Mr. Upchurch. On motion of Mr. Battle, it was ordered that where but one nomination was made for office the vote should be taken viva voce.

Pending nominations for officers.

Mr. Battle proposed that no motion should be entertained during the present year to increase the salaries of officers in consequence of the depreciation of city paper. He made this motion, he said, that officers to be elected might know what they had to expect.

Mr. Gorman nominated F. M. Sorrell.

Mr. Gorman nominated F. M. Sorrell for city clerk and collector. There being no further nominations, Mr. Sorrell was unanimously elected.

Mr. Gorman nominated Mr. J. P. Prairie.

Mr. Gorman nominated Mr. J. P. Prairie for city treasurer. No one else being in nomination Mr. Prairie was unanimously elected.

Some three or four others were added to the nomination.

The ballot resulted in every vote being given to Mr. King, a high compliment in his re-election.

Mr. Battle offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the clerk of the Board report at the next meeting the names of those listing purchases of merchandise for the last twelve months and the amount so listed.

Mr. Battle spoke of the necessity of preparing checks in these lists and thought the lists should be published.

Adopted.

Reports from the weighmaster, chief-of-police, &c., were presented and were ordered to be filed.

On motion of Mr. Battle's regular monthly meetings were fixed for the last Wednesday of each month.

Mr. Battle drew attention to the necessity of appointing proper men to assess city property, accompanying his remarks with statements drawn from the assessments in which inequalities were most glaring.

On motion of Mr. Cozman the Board adjourned till Wednesday next.

EDUCATED FORTUNE: About a year ago the SENTINEL, kindly published, at my request, a communication giving the practical workings of "Halloweening" and "Lan-Ar" resolutions. I had never seen criticism upon that article, and surmised that my statements could not be verified by experience, in short that such associations were delusive and "never good to sound up."

Now let me give the first year's operations of the Oak City Building and Loan Association—which have been conducted upon the system suggested, a year ago as reported by the Executive Committee in its annual meeting, held on Tuesday night, the 6th inst., and then ask my subscribing friends if they "will be deceived!"

That committee reported the present value of each share at amount 45-100 dollars ($17.48) which is a profit of 50-100 dollars ($32.48) on twelve dollars paid in, in monthly installments of one dollar. At this rate of progress I think it is very evident that this association at least will be successfully wound up in a few years, and in the meantime, accumulating much good for its members. The other associations in town, are delusive, progressing equally well. T.
