Valedictory. With vesterday's issue of the SENTINEL my connection with the paper coused.

During the last three years, with an interval of some six months during the campaigns of 1872, I have been closely connected with the paper in sundry capacities. I leave it now in as prosperous a condition as that in which I found it, and on the most friendly terms with all concerned. I have withdrawn from the SENconducting the "State Agricultura' Jour- Garrest removed. nal," an excellent publication, which I find in a flourishing condition and calculated to do much towards developing the resources of our State. To the prosecution of the aims of this journal I propose to devote what energy and practical knowledge of the business I possess, and I ask my numerous friends throughout the State to assist me in extending its circulation and thereby increasing its usefulness. In taking leave of my associates most pleasurable remembrances; and in months. bidding adieu to its readers I desire to impress upon them the duty of sustaining a paper which has been true and steadfast, at 10 o'clock.

Examination at Raleigh Academy. The examination at this old and well known Academy, now under the management of that veterad and faithful teacher J. M. Lovejoy Esq., and J. M. White Esq., a graduate of Wake Forest and a teacher of experience, began on Monday and closes to-day. Our duties prevented us from attending the first day, but on yesterday we spent some three hours within' the walls of a building where twenty-six and seven years ago the writer was a student. Mr. Lovejoy-clarum et venerabile nomen-was our instructor. The class consisted of George W. Watson, David M. Carter, Edward Graham Haywood, Leonidas C. Jeffreys, Lewis E. Henry, Marshal C. ---The New Assessment.

We learn that the taxes upon unimroved city lots have been increased from two to four hundred per cent, by the city successors the increase varying according to location. Those lots which have been recently rendered accessible by the opening of new streets or the extension of old ones, are in most cases taxed two or three times the former assessment.
